DIRECTIONS FOR THE USE OF THIS BOOK

There are two indexes — one for persons by the name of Owen, the other for persons by other names. There may be more than one person by the same name. The index number above the name gives the generation to which he belongs. The next number shows the page on which his name appears.

Illustration:

Hezekiah Owen,[5] pp. 51 and 93, is listed under his father's family on p. 51. The number F5-18 before his name shows that he has received fuller treatment, as head of a family, in the fifth generation, family No. 18.

If we start with Hezekiah Owen, 5-18, on p. 93 and wish to look up his parent's family, we consult the number in parenthesis (F4-10).

The Name OWEN

OWEN is a given name occurring in Welsh and Old Irish. Sometimes it is spelled Owain. According to Harrison, the best authority on British names, it is not a Welsh word at all, but a loan-word, borrowed before the year 500 A. D. from the Latin and Greek. It is the same as "eugene" or "eugenius," Greek for "well-born."

In Welsh most family names are patronymics, that is, they indicate that the person named is "the son or descendant" of somebody. Thus John ab Owen, in Welsh, means "John the son of Owen."

In English this relationship is indicated by the use of the possessive form ending in -s. John Owens means "John the son of Owen."

Our ancestor-founder John Owen never spelled his name with the final -s.

FOREWORD

There is, these days, a widespread, strong, sincere and growing interest in the persons and events of our country's past and in sites and places of historic interest. All of which is verily to the good, for we cannot understand the present and so prognosticate and attempt to form the future without a knowledge of the past. This interest in former things and persons has led on to an interest in genealogy, which is also widespread, strong, sincere and growing. Many people are keen to know who their forbears really were, whence they came and when, where they lived, their occupations and manner of life, their character and their later migrations and settlements. Hence, among many such, is our society of the Descendants of John Owen, our first immigrant ancestor. He came from somewhere in Wales and in 1640 settled in Windsor, Connecticut, where he later married Rebecca Wade and became the ancestor of that branch of the Owen Family which has ramified and spread westward through the central sections of our country to the distant shores of the farther ocean.

As to the appearance of John and Rebecca Owen we have no knowledge whatsoever. Of them no pictures of any kind exist. In fact, there is an unfortunate lack of pictures of the members of the Owen family through a long-drawn period of time. But if we may judge and imagine from such few more recent descendants, it is quite likely that John Owen, though robust and strong, was not of lofty stature, and it is highly probable that his eyes were blue. As to his temperament, religion and such like, if we may again judge and imagine from his more recent descendants, it is very likely that he was quiet and reserved, though vehement when roused; more a thinker than a speaker; strong in his convictions; intensely loyal, with a deeply-seated sense of reverence; strictly truthful, devoid of all profanity and swearing and a most pronounced Calvinist in his theology. I can well imagine that John Owen was a reverent and a constant reader of his Bible and that on every Sabbath Day he was present at service in the Church, regardless of the weather, for Bible reading and Church going have always been among the most pronounced tradition in our family, landmarks which our fathers set and which we should not remove. John was doubtless fond of music. Perhaps he sang "The Men of Harlech." Perhaps he played on some instrument. The custom of giving Bible names to children, which long persisted in the family, was doubtless brought from Wales by John.

It is a fact beyond dispute that all along the line, from 1640 right down to this here and now, the Owen family has been sublimely patriotic. They served in the Old French War, they served in 1812 and in 1861, and again they served in the First World War, so-called. And had John Owen been a youth in 1776, no doubt but he would have served, as several of his descendants did, in that forlorn but heroic army whose victory has forever changed the course of history worldwide. I do not believe that any large number of the Owen family were very conspicuously or lastingly successful in the business world; nor did they often hold office in city or state. But a few of them have been able jurists, and there was one Owen, John Jason by name, who in his day and generation was a teacher and a scholar in the classics of a deserved and lasting reputation.

Interest in genealogical research in our family is not new. In 1883 the Rev. Eliphalet prepared a manuscript history of the descendants of his grandfather, Frederick Owen. In 1900 Sylvanus Owen II of Jefferson County, Wisconsin, dictated to his grandson the history of the descendants of his grandfather, Sylvanus Owen I. Neither of these men could trace his line all the way back to John Owen, Founder. Both belonged to the Josiah Owen line.

About 1915 Mrs. Elizabeth Owen Burr of Suffield, Conn., prepared a manuscript history of the Isaac Owen line, which is now in the State Library at Hartford.

In printed form there is the brief sketch in H. R. Stiles' History of Ancient Windsor, Conn. (1894). In 1929 Mr. W. A. Owen published his excellent article, "John Owen of Windsor and Some of His Descendants," in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register. In 1935 Mr. Hans Christian Owen published a brief supplement and in 1937 Mrs. C. J. Huyck published a supplement in the same magazine.

For this present Owen Genealogy we are chiefly indebted to the intelligent and painstaking labors, long drawn out, of Ralph Dornfeld Owen, of Temple University, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and of Elijah Hunter Owen, genealogist, of Detroit, Michigan. And to them, our worthy cousins, we now extend our thanks. We commend the reading and the study of this volume not only to the descendants of John Owen and Rebecca Wade, his wife, but also to all others whose fathers and mothers were pioneers in our beloved country in that long ago, a procedure which may prompt them to go and do likewise with the genealogies of their own clans, and, of course, a copy of this book should be in every Owen home.

THE OWEN FAMILY ASSOCIATION

In the Spring of 1937 a committee was organized to arrange for a reunion of descendants of John and Rebecca (Wade) Owen to be held at the old town of Windsor in the state of Connecticut. The personnel of the committee included Hans C. Owen, New Haven, Conn., Rev. William H. Owen, New York City, George Cheney Owen, Providence, R. I., Mrs. C. J. Huyck, West Brookfield, Mass., Elijah Hunter Owen, Detroit, Mich., Attorney Owen N. Elliott, Cedar Rapids, Ia., Mrs. Cassius C. Cottle, Los Angeles, Calif., and Ralph Dornfeld Owen, Philadelphia.

On Saturday 19 June 1937 at the Parish House of Grace Episcopal Church in Windsor, Conn., fifty Owen kin from eleven states sat down to a luncheon served by the Ladies' Guild of the parish. Hans C. Owen delivered an address on "The Life of John Owen, Founder." In the business meeting a permanent organization was formed, and it decided to publish a comprehensive genealogy. Afterwards the group drove to the cemetery of the First Church and assembled at the grave of the Founder. Master David Williams Conrad, aged seven, a descendant in the tenth generation, placed a bouquet of red roses on the grave.

The second reunion was held on Saturday 18 June 1938 at the Wake Robin Inn, Lakeville, Conn. Thirty-five Owen kin from ten states were present, of whom half stayed over until Sunday. Elijah Hunter Owen spoke on the "Hills of Home" and traced particularly the descendants of Joseph Owen I who had lived in this area, Salisbury, Sharon, and Cornwall. Afterwards some of the group visited the local cemeteries. The group sent greetings to Mrs. Hannah Brewster Randall, Rio Grande, Ohio, aged ninety-eight, oldest known descendant of John and Rebecca (Wade) Owen, and to Julius Owen, Mahnomen, Minn., aged ninety.

The third annual reunion was held on Saturday and Sunday, the 24 and 25 June 1939, at the Elm Tree Inn, Farmington, Conn. The program was dedicated to the descendants of Josiah Owen I. Ralph Dornfeld Owen delivered an address on "The Migrations of the Descendants of Josiah Owen I." Thirty-five Owen kin attended the luncheon and half of them stayed over till Sunday. In the evening an informal program in the parlor of the Inn featured readings by Mary Owen of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Loleta Levet Rowan of San Diego, Calif. On Sunday morning all attended services at the First Church in Windsor and afterwards visited the grave of the Founder.

The fourth annual reunion was held on Saturday and Sunday, the 22 and 23 June 1940 at the Elm Tree Inn, Farmington, Conn. Thirty-five Owen kin, representing seven states, sat down to the luncheon. Attorney Ralf Hillemann Owen, Philadelphia, delivered an address on the topic "The Spirit of the Puritans." Mrs. Mabel Owens Wilcox, Chevy Chase, Md., gave a reading. In the late afternoon one group drove to see historic Torrington, while another visited Simsbury. After dinner all visited in the parlor and enjoyed a cheery log fire. A notable fact was that one-third of the group were young people under thirty years of age.

On Sunday morning thirty Owen folk attended services in a body at the First Church in Windsor and heard our president, the Rev. Dr. William Henry Owen, New York City, conduct the service and preach on the topic "Remove Not the Ancient Landmarks." Afterwards the congregation accompanied the Owen folk to the grave of the Founder. The President offered a prayer, Miss Margaret Huyck read a poem, and Master David Williams Conrad laid flowers on the tomb.

Twenty-five kinsfolk later enjoyed the hospitality of Misses Arria and Esther Owen at a buffet luncheon in their home in Hartford.

Officers of the association have included: President: Hans C. Owen, 1937-38, Mrs. C. J. Huyck, 1938-39, Rev. Dr. William Henry Owen, 1939-41.

Each year there have been four vice presidents. The following persons have served in this capacity: Attorney Owen N. Elliott, Cedar Rapids, Ia., Mrs. Ben Cowan, San Bernardino, Calif., Mrs. Anna Owen Plumb, Torrington, Conn., Mrs. Mabel Owens Wilcox, Chevy Chase, Md., and Attorney Ralf Hillemann Owen, Philadelphia.

Attorney Owen N. Elliott and Rev. Dr. William Henry Owen have joined with the editor in guaranteeing one-half of the cost of publishing this genealogy.

Elijah Hunter Owen has served continuously as genealogist, and Dr. Ralph Dornfeld Owen as secretary-treasurer. An annual report has been published in August and a news letter in February. Communications should be sent to the secretary in care of Temple University, Philadelphia.

CHAPTER ONE

HISTORY OF WINDSOR, CONNECTICUT

In 1630 Massachusetts Bay Colony was established by the Puritans. In that year Winthrop's "Fleet" of eleven ships brought over 700 people. They founded the towns of Boston, Dorchester, and Watertown.

In September 1634 Samuel Hall, Capt. John Oldham, and two others traveled through the wilderness to Connecticut to view the country. In the summer of 1635 a group of 100 men, women, and children, under the leadership of the Rev. John Warham, left Dorchester and after a journey of fourteen days overland founded Windsor on the Connecticut river.[1]

The Connecticut colony was governed by a Court consisting of five magistrates who held their authority from the Massachusetts Bay Court—two from Windsor, two from Hartford, one from Wethersfield. In May 1635 each town elected a committee to help the Court in local matters. In January 1639 the citizens of the three towns met at Hartford and adopted a constitution.

In 1640 the General Court drew up an Oath of Fidelity which everybody who wished to become a freeman, i. e., a citizen and voter in the colony, must take:

"I, ——— ———, being in the Providence of God an inhabitant within the Jurisdiction of Connecticut, do acknowledge myself to be subject to the Government thereof and do swear by the great and dreadful name of the ever-living God to be true and faithful unto the same, and do submit both my person and estate thereunto, according to all the wholesome laws and orders that either are or hereafter shall be there made or established by lawful authority; and that I will neither plot nor practice any evil against the same, nor consent to any that shall do so, but will timely discover the same to the lawful authority established there; and that I will as in duty bound maintain the honor of the same and of the lawful magistrates thereof, promoting the public good thereof while I shall continue an inhabitant there; and whenever I shall give my vote or suffrage or proxy, touching any matter which concerns this Commonwealth, being called thereto, I will give it as in my conscience may conduce to the best good of the same without respect of persons or of favor of any man, So help me God in our Lord Jesus Christ."

Civil matters were regulated very strictly. In 1637 the Court ordered "that no young man shall keep house for himself without the consent of the town, under pain of twenty shillings fine per week." A young man had to get a permit from the town to board with a particular family, and the head of the family was made responsible for the young man's good behavior.

In 1647 the General Court ordered that "any person under twenty-one years of age and every other person who has not already accustomed himself to the use thereof, shall not take any tobacco until he has brought a certificate, under the hand of some who are approved for knowledge and skill in physic, that it is useful for him, and also that he has received a license from the Court therefor. Any man who uses it shall not take it publicly in the street, in the fields or woods, unless he is on a journey of ten miles or more, or is at dinner; he shall take it no oftener than once a day and alone, not in company; under penalty of sixpence for each offence upon conviction by the testimony of one witness that is without just exception before any justice."

In the same year the General Court ordered that "no one shall remain in any common victualling house in the same town where he lives, above half an hour at a time in drinking wine, beer, or waters; also that no one shall drink above three pints at one time; that vendors shall not deliver wine to any one who comes for it, unless he bring a note under the hand of some one who is master of a family and an inhabitant of the town."

Labor and capital got along splendidly in Windsor, for in 1641 the General Court decreed that "able carpenters, plowwrights, masons, joiners, smiths, coopers" should not take more than twenty pence a day; the working day should be nine hours besides time spent in eating and sleeping.

Village officials were the Selectmen (aldermen or supervisors), two constables, two surveyors, a town clerk. The town clerk was more important than the town clerk in the Western states today, because he kept records of births, deaths, and marriages. Minor officials were the chimney-viewer (fire-marshal), fence-viewer, two way-wardens (road-bosses), two bound-goers (surveyors), who had to settle disputes with other towns as to boundary lines, a bailiff, whose duty it was to collect taxes, a lister, whose work was that of the modern assessor, a pound-keeper or pinner, who took care of stray animals and collected board from the owners, and a horse-brander.

In 1639 land prices boomed, but within a few years they fell. It seems that every man who became a church member and citizen got a grant of a homestead in the village but had to buy, if he wanted more land. In 1642 the three towns, Windsor, Wethersfield, and Hartford, together imported their first cargo of "cotton-wool" from the Barbadoes.

In 1648 a new trail, less hilly, was found between Massachusetts Bay and the Connecticut colonies. A great event! like cutting down the time between New York and Chicago in these days.

In 1649 an outlying settlement was formed a few miles upstream from Windsor and named Poquonok.

The first minister of the gospel at Windsor was the Rev. John Warham. In 1639 the Rev. Ephraim Huit, a refugee from Warwickshire, England, came by way of Massachusetts, bringing a number of followers. In 1640 the town began to build a church, but it was not completed for some time. Mr. Huit was both a scholar and a practical man—he was the author of "The Whole Prophecy of Daniel Explained," and at the same time he was a master carpenter.

The period 1650-84 was one of religious disturbances in Windsor. The burning question was what constituted church-membership. The original settlers were Puritans, who theoretically had not left the Church of England and were willing to have the government regulate church matters. Now Anglicans, Presbyterians, and Independents were also coming into the colony. Some insisted that church-membership be contingent upon "conversion," others that it be granted upon "confession of faith." Unfortunately no psychologist had yet appeared to show what a variety of religious experience human nature is capable of having. Another cause of dispute was the election of pastors: all residents were taxed for the support of the church, but only active communicant members were expected to vote for a pastor. The question was submitted to a Church Council which met in Boston several times between 1657 and 1662. In 1664 six Anglicans petitioned the General Court to be relieved from paying church dues unless they could enjoy full church privileges in the Calvinistic churches of Connecticut. The pastor at Windsor at that time, Rev. Mr. Warham, was liberal in the matter, but many of his members were not. In 1667 the Rev. Nathaniel Chauncey was elected pastor. The minority was dissatisfied and got permission from the General Court to organize another church. They hired as their pastor the Rev. Benjamin Woodbridge, who seems to have been a Presbyterian, but the General Court made him subordinate to the other minister, Mr. Chauncey. At first they were to take turns in preaching in the same building. The majority objected to this and so the minority got permission to use the old Town House. In 1673 the majority voted to repair the Meeting House but refused to repair the old Town House. The new Society sent a complaint to the Governor, which was signed by thirty-two men, including John Owen and his oldest son, Josiah Owen. After three years of bickering they agreed to repair both buildings. By 1679 the new Society had become larger than the old society. The Rev. Mr. Chauncey resigned in 1671, and the Rev. Mr. Woodbridge in 1681. After years of rancor and many appeals to civil authority, the two congregations were reunited in 1684 under Rev. Samuel Mathew. Thus was the cause of religious toleration painfully and slowly promoted.

So early as 1637 troubles began with the Indians. So long as white men came only to buy furs, they were welcome, but when they came in great numbers, they seemed to be and they really were a menace to the Red men. In 1637 the Pequot Indians attacked the settlement of Wethersfield. The people of the three towns united and carried on a vigorous campaign against them.

In 1675-76 occurred what was known as King Philip's War. The white settlers made as thorough a campaign of it as Cromwell did in Ireland. Windsor furnished 100 or 125 soldiers all together, chiefly dragoons. No complete list for Connecticut seems to have come down to us.[2] John Owen, being over 50 years of age, probably saw no active service, but his sons Josiah and Nathaniel probably did. In December 1675 Governor Josiah Winslow of Plymouth, commanding 1000 men from Massachusetts and Connecticut, stormed the fort of the Indians and routed them. But in March 1676 the Indians attacked and burned Simsbury. During the next four months the Whites carried on a guerilla campaign and killed 250 Indians. In June they surrounded King Philip and completely defeated his forces, even killing the King himself. According to contemporary records the Whites lost 600 young men's lives and a dozen settlements in the conflict. The Protestants of Ireland raised money for the suffering colonists; the Connecticut people refused to take any of it, and they even raised money themselves. Windsor gave its money to Simsbury.

The bitter struggle for existence, of course, made it impossible for the colonists to see what a tragedy it was for the Indians.

About this time the word "Yankee" came into use in Connecticut. The origin of the term seems to be this: Just as every nationality shows its foolish pride by ridiculing people of other nationalities through giving them nicknames, so the Dutch of New Netherlands referred to the English settler as a "John Cheese," in Dutch, "Jan Kees." The Indians took the term from them. The English mistook it for a plural.[3]

In 1650 the village of Windsor had 116 houses and about 600 inhabitants. By 1677 there had been recorded 1025 births, but there had been deaths, and 25 families had moved away, so that the total number of inhabitants in 1677 was about 1000.

CHAPTER TWO

JOHN OWEN

The birthplace of John Owen, the Founder, has not been discovered. According to Windsor tradition he was born in Wales. The year of his birth has not been definitely determined: according to his tombstone he was born in 1622, but according to a deposition he made some years before his death, he was born in 1624.

According to Henmon, John Owen is first mentioned in New England in the town records of New Haven in 1642.[1] According to our present knowledge we cannot be sure that the man mentioned in New Haven is identical with our John Owen.

Since the early Windsor records were lost, we cannot be sure just when John Owen settled in Windsor. The first definite fact we have is that on 3 October 1650 he married Rebecca Wade of Hartford nearby. The bride was the daughter of Robert and Jemima Wade. Robert was one of 127 original settlers of Hartford in 1639, and his name is inscribed on the Settlers Monument.[2]

At the time of his marriage John Owen joined the Church and became a freeman of the town, a voter. He bought a landgrant, 12 rods x 29 rods (200 ft. x 500 ft.) on the south side of the road leading west from the Palisade and bounded on the east by Hosford's Lane.[3] It is a little west of and parallel with the present railroad track. Here Goodman John Owen and his family lived for twenty years.

We know that John was respected highly in the community. An entry in the records tells us that in 1656, "In town meeting it was consented that Nicholas Wilson should sojourn with John Owen, so he live orderly with him." To make this entry clear, it must be understood that strangers coming to the town, particularly un-attached young men, were looked on with suspicion, and, if they were permitted to remain in the town, could do so only in the home of some person who, by virtue of good character and responsibility, would be surety for him. Special permission must be obtained in each case from the town meeting.

John Owen was sexton of the meeting house in 1666. In 1667, for some reason unknown, Nathaniel Cook was appointed to that office. John felt aggrieved by that appointment, and we find this very interesting entry in the records:

"John Owen shall have part of the pay with Nathaniel, though he did not of the work." His grievance must have been just indeed or else those hard-headed townsmen would never have issued such an order. Besides his many real estate transactions, John, like most of our better colonists, found time to pursue a trade. We find that the town on 15 February 1668, paid "John Owen for clapboarding he did on the meeting house before winter 7s, 4d."

A petition of the year 1663 signed by twelve Windsor men includes the signatures of John Owen and John Osborn, showing that they had land interests at Hammonoscett, a newly-founded settlement later called Killingsorth.[4]

In 1670 John Owen and his family moved onto a piece of land on the Farmington River, opposite to Poquonok. The locality received the name of "Wales" from John Owen's nationality.

During King Philip's War, the Owens must have taken refuge in the village. After the war was over, when Windsor people collected money for Simsbury, the average donation was two shillings; John Owen gave 1 shilling; other contributions ranged from 1 pound to 6 pence.

In 1680, we find him on the east side of the Great River, where with other early settlers of Old Windsor, he petitioned the General Court at Hartford, "To grant that all those lands on the East side Connecticotte River, at present in the township of Windsor, may hence forward be a distinct and particular township." As the signatures of only proprietors and inhabitants were considered on documents of that kind, we know that John Owen not only owned land in East Windsor, but lived there. We find in the records several conveyances of land by John Owen to members of his family and others.

John Owen died 18 February 1698 (Old Style), and Mrs. Rebecca Wade Owen died 3 December, 1711. They had had a numerous family,—eleven children. It is noteworthy that only eight grew up to raise families of their own.

Before his death John disposed of his lands. In 1695 and 1697 he gave certain parcels of land to his sons Obadiah and Isaac.

The records of the Probate Court contain the following statement about the estate of John Owen:

"Inventory taken by Lieutenant Hayden and Benajah Holcomb 5 April 1699 and found to be worth L 29. Exhibited in court, being only personal estate and that given to the widow to be at her disposal, the children consenting."[5]

The inventory included four coats and four pairs of britches, a powdering barrel, books and bottles, pewter platter, dishes, spoons and ladle, brass cast skillet and brass kettle, table cloths and a dozen napkins.

John Owen's grave is located in the southwest corner of the cemetery behind the First Congregational Church at Windsor. An arbor vitae tree has grown over it and shelters the well-preserved tombstone. The latter is cut from red stone, and it is 22 inches wide and 22 inches high. The inscription is quite legible:

CHAPTER III

SECOND GENERATION

2-1 JOSIAH OWEN[2] (John[1]), was born at Windsor 8 Sept. 1651 and died there 11 Sept. 1722. He married (1) 22 Oct. 1674, MARY OSBORN, born 16 April 1655, died 6 August 1689, daughter of John and Ann (Oldage) Osborn of East Windsor; and (2) SARAH ——, who survived him. Four months after his death she comforted herself by marrying 8 January 1723, Nathaniel Holcomb of Simsbury.

In 1673 Josiah and his father signed the petition of the New Society to the General Court.

Josiah Owen moved from Windsor to Simsbury in 1682, where he became one of the proprietors.[1] From 1679 on, numerous grants and conveyances of land to and from him are entered in the Simsbury records. In May 1686 he was propounded for "freeman" and in Oct. 1686 he was so accepted by the General Court.[2] The baptisms in Simsbury of Isaac, Mary, Abigail, Elizabeth, John, and Rachel, children of Josiah Owen of Windsor, are recorded in the church records in 1698 by Rev. D. Woodbridge.[3] About 1697 Josiah Owen returned to Windsor, where he lived until his death, which is recorded there. In his will he names his wife, Sarah; Elizabeth, wife of Samuel Case of Simsbury; Mary, wife of Enoch Phelps of Windsor; Rachel, wife of Samuel Phelps of Windsor; Abigail, wife of Samuel Clark of Simsbury; Josiah Owen, and John Owen.

Children by first wife:

F3-1 i. JOSIAH II[3], b. 6 June 1675 (Windsor records).

ii. ISAAC, b. 4 June 1678 (ib.); d. 3 Dec. 1709. The Simsbury probate records show the appointment, 6 Mar. 1709/10, of John Owen of Windsor as administrator of the estate of his brother Isaac Owen of Windsor, lately died intestate.

iii. MARY, b. 15 Feb. 1679/80 (Stile's Ancient Windsor); m. 13 April 1704 Enoch Phelps, b. 21 Jan. 1675; d. about 1752, son of John and Sarah (Buckland) Phelps and

2-4 JOSEPH OWEN[2] (John[1]) was born 23 Oct. 1660 at Windsor, Conn., and died between 1735 and 1746 at Lebanon, Conn. He married in 1682 or 1683 ESTHER OSBORN, born 9 Aug. 1662, daughter of John and Anne (Oldage) Osborn and a sister of Mary, who married his brother Josiah.[4]

In the session of the General Court of May 1686 he was proposed for "freeman." In the October session he was so accepted and the Court ordered that he be sworn by the commissioner where he lived.[5]

He settled in Simsbury in 1683 and in May of that year he received a grant of 20 acres on Samon Brook, the same as other Samon Brook men. Subsequently he received other grants on Samon Brook and in Manatuck. In 1687 he was one of the forty-nine inhabitants of Simsbury who agreed to call and pay Edward Thompson as minister. For this he and other subscribers received in 1688 grants of land to run from Simsbury east bounds over the mountain, his lot being No. 18.

In 1692 he sold his lands on Samon Brook and returned to Windsor. In 1703 he settled at Lebanon, Conn. In 1708 he sold his lot No. 18 at Simsbury to his brother, Isaac Owen.

In 1735 Joseph Owen of Lebanon, in consideration of good will and the expectation of comforts and support for himself and his wife Esther, conveyed to his son, Joseph

THIRD GENERATION

3-1 JOSIAH OWEN II[3] (Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Josiah and Mary (Osborn) Owen (F2-1), was born the 4th or the 6th June 1675 at Windsor, Conn., and died 15 Aug. 1763 at Hebron, Conn. At the age of ten he removed with his parents to Simsbury. On 31 Dec. 1698 he married MARY HOSFORD, daughter of John and Phillury (Thrall) Hosford. She was one of ten children. She was born in Windsor 12 Aug. 1674 and died 11 July 1753 at Hebron. About the time of her marriage she inherited 100 L. from her father.

Josiah Owen II and Mary had born to them in Simsbury five children: Asahel, Noah, Silas, Amos, and Mary. After the birth of Mary in 1707 and before 1710 they removed to a new settlement, 20 miles S. E. of Hartford, in Tolland County, known as Hebron.

Josiah Owen II remained in Hebron all his life. Four more children were born here: Isaac, Martha, Josiah III, and Anne. On 25 Feb. 1713 Josiah Owen, Sr. of Windsor, for good will etc., gave to his son Josiah of Hebron the west half of lot No. 15 in Simsbury which had been given to him by the inhabitants of Simsbury in 1692. In May 1713 Josiah Owen, Jr. of Hebron sold this land to Samuel Case, Jr. of Windsor.

In October 1722 Josiah Owen II was appointed administrator of the estate of his father. The will included the following bequests to Josiah Owen II:

"50 acres at a place called Turkey Hills, to my son Josiah, now of Hebron,—appraised at 11 L—0—0.

"7 acres in Windsor, near a place called Poquonock, to my son Josiah of Hebron, valued at 22 L."

In his will, dated in 1750 and proved in 1763, Josiah named his wife, his sons Noah, Silas, Amos, Isaac, Josiah, and his daughters Mary and Martha, and the children of his deceased son Asahel (Hebron Town Records).

Children:

3-5 JOSEPH OWEN II[3] (Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Joseph and Esther (Osborn) Owen (F2-4), was born 29 Jan. 1685 at Simsbury, Conn., and died 29 Sept. 1758 at Salisbury, Conn., in his 74th year. (Salisbury records; gravestone in Town Hill Cemetery at Lakeville, in Salisbury). He married (1) MARY .....; and (2) about 1718, RUTH WOODWORTH, widow of Caleb Fitch and daughter of Benjamin and Hannah (Damon) Woodworth.

His father removed to Lebanon about 1703. Joseph, Jr., resided there until about 1745, when he removed to Salisbury.

In 1709 Joseph enlisted in Capt. Collins' company,

Col. William Whiting's regiment, to go on an expedition against Canada. He received a bounty of 2 shillings.

In 1709 Joseph Owen, Jr., bought land in Lebanon. In Feb. 1727 the proprietors laid out to him common rights to land in the village of Lebanon.

In 1739 Joseph Owen, Jr., conveyed land in Lebanon to his oldest son David and in 1740 to his son Jonathan. On 3 May 1742 Joseph Owen and his wife Ruth of Lebanon sold and conveyed to Samuel Wells of Bolton, Mass., four of six shares and one-half of one share of 153 acres of land laid out in the village common of Lebanon.

On 29 Oct. 1745 Joseph Owen of Lebanon sold and conveyed to Thomas Newcomb of Salisbury his farm of about 200 acres, on which he then dwelt at Lebanon. On 2 June 1746 Thomas Newcomb of Salisbury sold and conveyed to Joseph Owen of Lebanon two tracts of land in Salisbury, of 318 and 101 acres, on the dividing line between Salisbury and Sharon, on the southerly side of the Four-Rod Highway. On 10 June 1746 Joseph Owen, late of Lebanon, now of Salisbury, conveyed to his sons David and Jonathan, late of Lebanon, now of Salisbury, 100 acres each in Salisbury. On 18 June 1757 Joseph Owen conveyed to David Owen of Salisbury 300 acres on the south side of the highway from David Owen's dwelling to Canaan and Sharon. On the same date he conveyed nine acres to his grandson James Owen, son of David. (Lebanon and Salisbury records.)

In his will, dated 10 Aug. 1758 and proved in 1758, Joseph Owen mentions his wife (unnamed), his sons David and Jonathan, his daughters Mary Jacobs, Esther Cole, Ann Culver, Rebecca Wright, Ruth Tupper, Mercy Heath, Lydia Tuttle, and Irene Blogget, also a granddaughter, Hannah Heath. FOURTH GENERATION

4-1 ASAHEL OWEN[4] (Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Josiah II and Mary (Hosford) Owen (F3-1), was born 25 March 1699 at Windsor, Conn., and died 7 April 1740 at Sheffield, Mass. He married 9 June 1725 at Bolton, Conn., PATIENCE ROSE of Bolton, who survived him and later married ..... PLANTIN.

The following abstracts of deeds of Hampden County and Berkshire County, Mass., throw light on this family:

On 2 May 1754 Asahel Owen, Jr., of Windsor, Conn., sold to David Jewell of Salisbury, Conn., 25 acres granted to the heirs of Asahel Owen, bounded on the south by the supposed colony line. (Hampden Deeds, Vol. 10, p. 301.)

On 15 May 1754 Abram Owen of Sheffield, Mass., sold to David Jewell, a one-fourth part of 100 acres, west of Sheffield, granted to the heirs of Asahel Owen, bounded on the south by the colony line and adjoining Nathaniel Jewell. (Ibid., Vol. 10, p. 300.)

In 1755 the colony of Massachusetts appointed a committee to dispose of Province land west of Sheffield and Stockbridge, and a tract along the Under mountain road was laid out and sold to Israel Williams, Patience Owen, Samuel Austin, William Drake, Joseph Owen, and John Owen, all of which was subsequently annexed to Sheffield.[1]

On 29 April 1760 Edward Owen of Sheffield (then in Hampshire County, Mass.) sold to Samuel Norton of Salisbury, Conn., 20 acres in Sheffield, adjoining the Colony line and north line of Salisbury, Conn., being the one-fifth part of 100 acres granted to the heirs of Asahel Owen, late of Sheffield, being in partnership with the rest of the heirs of the said Asahel and yet undivided (Berkshire Deeds, Vol. 6, p. 6).

On 8 Jan. 1765 Patience Plantin of Sheffield quitclaimed and sold to Felix Powell of Scatticook, N. Y., land granted to her by the General Court at Boston, viz., 100 acres west of Sheffield, bounded on the south by the Connecticut line (Ibid., Vol. 2, p. 558).

On 3 Apr. 1765 Ezra Fellows of Sheffield, Mass., quit-claimed and sold to Joseph Hanmer of Salisbury, Conn., and Edward Owen of Sheffield, Mass., 100 acres that were granted to Patience Owen, now Patience Plantin, and her heirs by the General Court at Boston, lying west of Sheffield line and bounded on the south by the Connecticut line (Ibid., Vol. 2, p. 591).

On 5 Apr. 1765 Israel Dewey of Great Barrington, Berkshire Co., Mass., quitclaimed and sold to Joseph Hanmer and Edward Owen his interest in a one-fourth part of 100 acres in Sheffield, bounded south by the Connecticut line, which was granted to Patience Owen, now Patience Plantin (Ibid., Vol. 2, p. 591).

Apparently Ezra Fellows and Israel Dewey were sons-in-law of Asahel and Patience Owen.

4-5 ISAAC OWEN[4] (Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Josiah II and Mary (Hosford) Owen (F3-1), was born 28 July 1710 at Hebron, Conn., and died there 30 May 1761. He married, 20 July 1738, REBECCA TILDEN, born 7 March 1716/17, daughter of Isaac and Rebecca (Mann) Tilden.

In his will, dated 27 May 1761, Isaac Owen named his dearly beloved wife Rebecca, and his children, Elijah, Abel, Elizabeth, Jonathan, John, and Isaac. The inventory of his estate was made 13 June 1761, the allotment to the heirs was allowed on 23 Dec. 1762, and the distribution of his estate was made 6 March 1763.

On 4 April 1763 Eliphalet Case, husband of Martha Owen (a sister of Isaac), was made guardian of Jonathan, John, and Isaac Owen, the three minor sons of Isaac Owen. Amos Owen (a brother of Isaac), became bondsman for Eliphalet Case. (Probate Records at the State Library at Hartford, Conn.) On 1 April 1773 Eliphalet Case was acquitted as guardian of the three children and their uncle, Amos Owen, took the bond and care and trust into his own hands.

Children, born at Hebron, Conn.:

4-6 JOSIAH OWEN III[4] (Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Josiah II and Mary (Hosford) Owen (F3-1), was born at Hebron 17 March 1716.

He married (1) on 28 January 1741/42, HANNAH WHITE, daughter of Ebenezer and Hannah (Doggett) White, who was descended from Peregrine White, first native-born New Englander,—born on the Mayflower.[3] She died on the 28 April 1747.

He married (2) ZERVIAH HARTSHORN, daughter of Jonathan and Mary (Birchard) Hartshorn, who was born at Norwich, Conn., 27 Jan. 1720. She was first married 4 Jan. 1742 to Samuel Robbards; they had one child, Zerviah, born 6 Oct. 1743; Samuel died 29 Aug. 1746. On 25 May 1749 she was married to Josiah Owen.[4] They had three children. After Josiah Owen's death, she was married to ..... Byington.

Josiah Owen served in the French and Indian War. At this time the valley of Lake George and Lake Champlain was the natural highway through which the French could attack the English colonies. No other region in America has seen more terrible fighting. The British erected three forts near the head of Lake George,—Fort William Henry, Fort Gage, and Fort George.

On 8 April 1756 Josiah Owen III enlisted as a private in Capt. Noah Grant's company, Col. David Wooster's (7th) Conn. Regiment. The company comprised 75 men. It was sent to Fort William Henry. In July 1757 Montcalm and his Indian allies attacked the fort. The English surrendered. The next day Montcalm's Indian allies massacred 1000 English, men, women, and children. Josiah Owen escaped their fate, for he died at the Fort on 18 Oct. 1756.[5]

The widow Zerviah was appointed administratrix of Josiah Owen III's estate.

4-8 "Judge" John Owen[4] (John,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Lieut. John Owen and Hannah (Marshall) Owen (F3-2), was born in Simsbury 18 March 1712. In March 1745 he was appointed Ensign of the train band of Simsbury. In May 1755 he was appointed Lieutenant. (Public Records.) He was appointed justice of the peace for Hartford County for the years 1755 to 1781. (Public Records of Connecticut Colony, Vol. II, p. 6f; also Vol. XII, p. 6f; and Public Records of State of Connecticut, Vols. I-III.) In May 1766, in January 1767, in October 1767, in 1768, 1769, 1770 and 1771, he represented the town of Simsbury in the General Assembly. (Public Records, Vol. XII, p. 493f.)

Certain people in Canaan, County Litchfield, petitioned the General Assembly in 1767 to divide the township into two ecclesiastical districts. The Assembly appointed an investigating committee consisting of John Owen, Col. John Pitkin of Hartford, and William Wells, Esq. of Glastonbury, "to repair to Canaan to view the circumstances and situation of and to inquire into the present funds and estate of said town and also the expediency of dividing by the line prayed for or otherwise, and generally of every other matter which may be necessary and conducive to the just settlement of a division of said town into two sections, and to report what they shall find, with their opinion thereof, to the assembly at their sessions in New Haven on the second Thursday of October next."

In October 1767 the committee made its unanimous report recommending that it was expedient to divide the town of Canaan into two ecclesiastical societies. (Public Records, Vol. XII, p. 582, p. 631.)

John Owen was appointed by the General Assembly as judge of the Probate Court for the district of Simsbury for the years 1769 to 1781 inclusive. (Public Records, Vol. XIII, p. 172f; also Vol. XIV, Vol. XV; also Public Records of State of Connecticut, Vols. I-III.)

In October 1770 the General Assembly appointed him agent for the Governor and Company of the colony to oversee and take care of and dispose of lands lying in the town of Simsbury, belonging to the Governor and Company, and to report to the General Assembly in Hartford in May 1771.

In May 1771 he made his report, stating that no trespasses had been committed upon the above lands while in his care. He recommended that, as all these lands were unimproved, they be sold. The General Assembly then impowered him in the name of the Governor and Company to sell or dispose of said lands as he saw fit, and to make and execute good and lawful deeds of sale for said lands to such person or persons as should buy or purchase the same. (Public Records, Vol. XIII, p. 370, p. 428.)

He married (1), 11 Jan. 1739, ESTHER HUMPHREYS of Simsbury, daughter of Jonathan and Mercy (Ruggles) Humphreys. She died at the age of 50, on 7 March 1773. He married (2), 17 Nov. 1773, SARAH BANCROFT of East Windsor. He died 6 Feb. 1783. He was known as "John Owen, Esq." He and his family are buried in the cemetery at Simsbury.

Children, born at Simsbury:

F5-14 i. ESTHER, b. 27 Oct. 1739.
F5-15 ii. ROSETTA, b. 25 Aug. 1742.

4-9 DESIRE OWEN-HUMPHREYS[4] (John Owen,[3] Josiah I,[2] John[1]), daughter of Lieut. John and Hannah (Marshall) Owen (F3-2), was born 26 Feb. 1718 at Simsbury, Conn., and died there 26 May 1774. She married 11 Jan. 1739 JONATHAN HUMPHREYS, son of Jonathan and Mercy (Ruggles) Humphreys, who was born 8 June 1715 and died there on 13 Sept. 1794, aged 79. He married (2) in 1778 the widow Lois (Phelps) Viets.

He served in the Revolutionary War as Colonel of the 18th Connecticut Regiment, comprising 21 companies and 1149 men.

Children (surname Humphreys):

i. DESIRE[5], b. 4 Aug. 1740; d. ; m. Giles Pettibone of Norfolk, Conn., b. 6 June 1734; d. 1806. He was representative of town of Norfolk to General Assembly between 1777 and 1801.

Children (surname Pettibone):

1. Giles, b. 1760; d. 1811; m. Louise Peace—Res. Norfolk, Conn.
2. Cephas, b. 1763; m. ; d. in Vermont, no children.
3. Augustus, b. 1766; m. Susan Lawrence—Res. Norfolk, Conn. Judge of Probate; left no children.

ii. JONATHAN, b. 19 Aug. 1743; d. 19 Mar. 1812; m. (1) Eunice Camp, daughter of Deacon Abraham Camp, of Norfolk, Conn. (b. 18 Oct. 1746; d. 29 Oct. 1700. Simsbury Records); m. (2) 31 Oct. 1781 Lydia Griswold Phelps, daughter of Major General Noah Phelps, b. 25 Feb. 1764; d. 26 July 1828.

Jonathan was a merchant in Simsbury, a man of standing and influence. He served in the Revolution, being appointed second lieutenant by the General Assembly in Oct. 1776.

Children by first marriage:

1. Eunice, b. 1773; d. 1865; m. 1799 Titus L. Bissell of Windsor (1766-1839). Seven children.

4-10 NATHANIEL OWEN III[4] (Nathaniel II,[3] Nathaniel,[2] John[1]), son of Nathaniel II and Mary (Griswold) Owen (F3-4), was born about 1735 and died 24 Dec. 1821 at Windsor, "aged 86," being then the last male member of the ancient Congregational church at Poquonock. He married 16 April 1755 MARY PINNEY, daughter of Humphrey and Abigail (Deman) Pinney, who was born 25 Oct. 1732.

Since his son Aaron, who was called to do military duty in the American Revolution, was in poor health, the father took his place and was in the Army at the time of its retreat from Long Island in 1776 (after the battles of Brooklyn Heights and White Plains).

Nathaniel's family is given in the 1790 Census for Windsor, thus: 2—2—3.

Children:

i. AARON[5], b. 21 July 1756. He is listed in the 1790 Census for Windsor thus: 1—0—1—0. Hence he probably had a wife but no children.

ii. ESTHER, b. 12 Nov. 1761; d. unm. 4 Nov. 1852. She lived with her father, and after his death, with her widowed sister Keziah, in the Owen homestead. It was later owned by her nephews, John Jason and Edward Hezekiah.

iii. KEZIAH, b. 15 June 1764; d. ; m. Gideon Tucker, who died before 1821.

Children:

F5-18 iv. HEZEKIAH, b. 1 Sept. 1766.

4-11 ALVAN OWEN[4] (Nathaniel II,[3] Nathaniel,[2] John[1]), son of Nathaniel II and Mary (Griswold) Owen (F3-4), was born 22 Feb. 1737 at Windsor, Conn., and died 26 Dec. 1820 at Guilford, Chenango County, N. Y. He married . In 1790 he was living at Granby, Conn., and his family was given in the U. S. Census as: 2 - 1 - 4 - 0. He probably moved to New York State after his son Alvan, Jr.

H. R. Stiles in Ancient Windsor, Conn., calls him "the ancestor of the Owens of Shelburne (sic!), N. Y.," probably an error for "Sherburne," which is located in Chenango County.

He served in the American Revolution. He was listed in the Windsor Fifth Company, Col. Bradley's Fifth Conn. Regt., 1777-81.[6]

Again was listed as "Alvin Owen, alias David Thrall," of Windsor, as having received family supplies from Windsor.[2]

Again as "Corporal Alvin Owen" in Capt. Wadsworth's Company, Col. Thaddeus Cook's Regiment.

He was placed on the pension rolls, Certificate No. 5036, issued 23 Dec. 1818, at the rate of $8.00 a month, to commence April 20, 1818. His wife survived him, being 82 years old at the date of his death.

The 1834 Census of Rev. Pensioners mistakenly calls him "Oliver"—Letter from Nat. Archives 2/1/41.

Children:

F5-19 i. ALVAN, JR.[5], b. 6 June 1764.
ii. ABNER, living in Butternuts, Otsego Co., N. Y. in 1834.
iii. ROXANY, b. ; m. 1784 Olin Phelps; living at Guilford, Chenango Co., N. Y. in 1834.

4-12 DAVID OWEN[4] (Joseph II,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Joseph II and Mary ..... Owen (F3-5), was born about 1705 in Lebanon, Conn. He married 14 Oct. 1736 at Lebanon, MARGARET TAYLOR. In 1739 his father conveyed land to him at Lebanon. About 1746 they moved with his father's family to Salisbury. On 10 June 1746 his father conveyed to him at Salisbury 100 acres of land.

David served in the French and Indian War in Capt. Canfield's 11th Company, Fourth Regiment, from 21 April 1758 to 11 Nov. 1758. (Conn. Hist. Socy. Coll., Vol. X.)

His wife died at Salisbury, as is proved by the following inscript in Town Hill Cemetery: "Hannah (sic) wife of Mr. David Owen, died 7 July 1759, in the 44th year of her life." (Reading made in 1898; illegible in 1908.)

David married (2) RACHEL MOSS, widow of John Harris, who died 1758. (Barnes Family Annual, 1910, p. 16.) David and Rachel removed to Panton, Addison County, Vt. about 1765. A land transfer dated 15 Feb. 1768 described David Owen as "late of Salisbury, now of Panton, N. H." (sic).

6. Conn. Hist. Socy. Rev. Rolls and Lists, Vols. 8 and 12; National Archives, Pension Files, S43753, also R7840 Records of Surrogate's Court, Chenango County.

The first known land survey made at Panton was made in 1762 by Ebenezer Frisbee of Sharon, Conn., assisted by Isaac Peck and Abraham Jackson. In 1764 the proprietors offered a bounty of 70 pounds to any number of settlers who would take up land and make clearings. This attracted sixteen settlers from Litchfield County, Conn. Among them were relatives of Rachel Moss Owen. (Heminway's Vermont Historical Magazine, July 1860, p. 78.)

From Samuel Swift's History of Middlebury, Vermont (1858, pp. 156, 145, 152, 156, and 166), it appears that David Owen was one of the original proprietors of Middlebury, Addison County, Vermont. In November 1761 he owned Lot No. 29 and Samuel Towsley owned Lot No. 60. David probably never lived there. A temporary settlement was made there in 1773 and among the settlers was his son, James Owen.

Children:

i. LUCY[5], b. 28 Dec. 1737 at Lebanon, d. yg.

ii. ABSALOM (or Abraham), b. 29 March 1740 at Lebanon, served in Col. Hinmon's Regt. in 1758 (Barbour's Index 1/232); he served along with Abner Owen in Capt. Samuel Elmore's company, May to Nov. 1759 in French and Indian War. (Conn. Hist. Socy. Coll., Vol. X, p. 156). Died in H. M. S. July 1759.

F5-20 iii. JAMES, b. 3 March 1741 at Lebanon.

iv. LUCY, b. 6 June 1744 at Lebanon.

v. ANN, b. 14 April 1747 at Salisbury; m. 18 Jan. 1781 to Edward Blair (Sharon records).

vi. THOMAS, b. 28 Feb. 1749 at Salisbury; he served in the Revolution: enlisted in Capt. Satterlee's company, Col. Elmore's regiment, 16 April 1776; again in Capt. Champion's company, Third Regiment, 25 Feb. 1778 for a three-year term but was discharged 4 March 1778. (Record of Conn. Soldiers in Rev., pp. 118, 176.)

vii. REBECCA, b. 30 May 1751 at Salisbury.

viii. DANIEL, b. 20 Aug. 1753.

ix. DAVID, b. 15 Nov. 1756 at Salisbury; he served as a private in the Second Troop of Col. Sheldon's Light Dragoons, 10 Sept. 1777 till 1783. On pay roll in Nov. 1780. (Record of Conn. Soldiers in Revolution, pp. 118, 176.) Note the inscription in Town Hill Cemetery, Salisbury: "Mary wife of David Owen, died 7 July 1795, aged 43" (b. 1752).

4-13 JONATHAN OWEN[4] (Joseph II,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Joseph II and Ruth (Woodward) Owen (F3-5), was born 27 Oct. 1718 at Lebanon, and died before 11 Sept. 1759, when administration of his estate was granted by the Sharon Probate Court to his widow, Patience Owen. He married 1 May 1740 PATIENCE VALLANCE, daughter of William and Joanna Vallance of Lebanon.

Jonathan Owen enlisted in August 1757 in Lt. Col. Whitney's Co. for the relief of Ft. William Henry; he served one week. (Conn. Hist. Socy. Coll., Vol. IX, p. 209.)

His father conveyed land to him in Lebanon in 1740 and in Salisbury in 1746. Other conveyances to and from Jonathan Owen are recorded in Salisbury between 1746 and 1757.

Salisbury land records show that Patience Owen purchased in 1767, from Isaac Bentley, a house and a small piece of land. In June 1777 she sold this to Daniel Bradley. In the deed to Bradley she was described as a resident of Westmoreland Township, Litchfield County, a place in the Wyoming Valley, near the present site of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in that portion of Pennsylvania which was then claimed by Connecticut under its old colonial charter. No further trace of Patience Owen or her family at Westmoreland has been found.

Children:

i. WILLIAM[5], b. 7 April 1741. On 7 Feb. 1760 he chose as his guardian John Gay, Esq. of Sharon, Conn. He served in the French and Indian War from April to Nov. 1759 in Capt. Elmore's company, 2d Regt. (Conn. Hist. Socy. Coll., Vol. IX, p. 278, p. 336.) He served in the Ulster County Militia in the American Revolution. Probably identical with the William Owen who was listed in the U. S. Census of 1790 for New Cornwall, Orange County, N. Y., and the William who died in 1827 in Chenango County.

xii. ELIZABETH, b. 13 May 1761.

4-16 IRENE OWEN-BLODGETT[4] (Joseph II,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), daughter of Joseph II and Ruth (Woodward) Owen (F3-5), was born at Lebanon. She was married at Salisbury 7 Dec. 1750 (Rev. Jonathan Lee, officiating) to ASA BLODGETT.

Their nine children were born at Salisbury between 1751 and 1765. They moved to Cornwall, Addison County, Vt., about 1772. There Asa Blodgett was Town Officer during the Revolution, and town meetings were held in their house. (See History of Cornwall, Vt., History of Middlebury, Vt., and also D. A. R. Lineage Book).

Children (surname Blodgett):

i. SAMUEL[5], b. 26 May 1751.
ii. ARTEMAS, b. 31 Dec. 1752; m. 4 Aug. 1774 Rebecca Turner.

4-19 TIMOTHY OWEN[4] (Moses,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Moses and Hannah (Man) Owen (F3-6), was born 18 April 1731 at Lebanon, New London County, Conn. He married KEZIAH .

The U. S. Census of 1790 lists him as living in Mansfield Township, Tolland County, and having the following family: 3—0—1.

Children, born at Ashford, Windham County, Conn.:

i. KEZIAH[5], b. 23 March 1761; m. 23 Nov. 1786 Gideon Wood.
ii. HULDA, b. 8 April 1763; d. 18 April 1763.
iii. HANNAH, b. 30 Aug. 1765; m. 13 Jan. 1789 Samuel Russ.
iv. AMASA, b. 12 Aug. 1766; m. 1 June 1794 Elizabeth Dana, daughter of Jedidiah Dana of Ashford.

6. Jedidiah, b. 28 May 1805.
7. Marian Eliza.
8. Lucy.
9. Phebe.
10. Sarah, m. Oliver Dorsett.
11. Electa (?), m. Dexter M. Leonard, 1 April 1824 (D 261).
v. ELIJAH, b. 22 Aug. 1768 (Ashford 2/58); m. at Mansfield 24 May 1792 Prudence Hosmer.

4-20 LEONARD OWEN[4] (Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Joshua and Margaret (Woodworth) Owen (F3-7), was born 13 Dec. 1720 at Lebanon, Conn. and died before 1790; buried at Milton, Vt. He married (1) EXPERIENCE , who died 1 May 1756, in her 24th year; (2) at Salisbury, 28 April 1757, MARY STANNARD. He moved to Salisbury about 1750. On 12 Sept. 1750 Yale College leased to Leonard Owen of Salisbury a tract of 728 acres for a long term of years. In 1756 he acquired from his brother, Eliphalet Owen, a one-fourth interest in certain iron works. In 1757 he acquired another one-fourth of the iron woks; in 1758 he acquired 46½ acres called the Iron Works Lot. On 8 Sept. 1758 he sold to John Pell of Sheffield, Mass., his one-half interest in the iron works and land near the iron works. The Salisbury land records also show Leonard Owen of Salisbury as a party to conveyances in 1762, 1773, 1775, and 1781.

So early as 1775 he bought land in Milton Township, Chittenden County, Vt. "Know all men by these presents that I, Richard Downing of Newington, in Rockingham County, and province of New Hampshire, esquire, for and in consideration of the sum of 20 L lawful money of said province, to me in hand paid, before the delivery hereof, by Leonard Owen of Salisbury, in Litchfield County, and colony of Conn., yeoman, the receipt whereof I do hereby acknowledge, have given, granted, bargained, sold, and released, and by these presents do give, grant, bargain, sell, release, convey, and confirm to him the said Leonard Owen and to his heirs, one full share or lot of land in the township of Milton, which was given under the Great Seal of the Province of New Hampshire to the said Richard Downing of the charter patent, which land is now supposed to be in the province of New York, 9 Feb. 1775."

The original grantees of Milton were 65 in number. Each received a lot of about 100 acres in 1763. But none of them moved onto his land. The town was first settled by William Irish, Leonard Owen, Amos Mansfield, Absolam Taylor, and Thomas Dewey in February 1782.[7] "Milton was settled by William Ireland, and Leonard Owen. In 1782 Leonard Owen settled on land several miles south of the site of Checkerbury (part of the township) on the place occupied (in 1885) by Eli Nelson. Leonard Owen is buried in the cemetery at Milton."[8]

The town was organized 25 March 1788. The first town clerk was Enoch Ashley. The first church was the Congregational, organized in 1804. No Owen among its members. Several land transfers are recorded in which Leonard Owen sold land.[9]

Leonard Owen left no will. The date of his death can only be inferred from the latest deed he gave. Since his name is not listed in the U. S. Census of 1790 he probably died before that year.[10]

Children, by first wife, born at Salisbury:

4-21 ELIJAH OWEN[4] (Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Joshua and Margaret (Woodworth) Owen (F3-7), was born at Lebanon, New London County, Conn., 29 Jan. 1721/22. He married (1) at Lebanon, 21 Oct. 1747 PATIENCE WRIGHT, who died 19 March 1756, daughter of Abel and Rebecca Wright of Lebanon, and sister of the Benjamin Wright who married Rachel Owen, daughter of Joseph Owen, Elijah's uncle. He married (2) at Salisbury, Litchfield County, Conn., 10 Nov. 1756, OLIVE BEEMAN, daughter of Friend Beeman, Jr. She died 17 June 1792. He married (3) ABIGAIL ———, who survived him.

The Salisbury land record show him as a party to conveyances and as a resident there in 1757, 1758, 1761, and 1768. In 1771 he removed to Poultney, Rutland County, Vermont. He was living there in 1786, for a land conveyance names him as a resident.

9. Milton Town Records—Land Transfers.
10. There are some fifty gravestones in the Milton cemetery on which the inscriptions are illegible.—Ed.

History of Poultney, Vermont (published 1875), states that Elijah Owen settled there in 1771. On 24 Sept. 1772 John Grant, cousin of Ethen Allen, surveyed 100 acres for Elijah Owen. On 21 May 1773 Ira Allen, Survey General, surveyed three pieces of land, containing 150 acres, for Elijah Owen, adjoining the south line of the town of Poultney. Grand lists of tax assessments for 1781 show that Elijah was living at Poultney, for he paid tax on 35 pounds. He paid tax also in 1782, 1785, 1786, and 1787.

In 1786, in a transfer of land, he is described as a resident of Poultney.

("All records in the Town Clerk's Office were destroyed by fire in 1862, including Vol. 1-17 of land records. The tax lists were not in his office and hence were preserved."—Paul G. Ross, Town Clerk, 3 Dec. 1937.)

He followed his brother Leonard to Milton, Chittenden County, Vermont, a new settlement near the mouth of the La Moille River, which empties into Lake Champlain. Town government was organized 25 March 1788. In April a number of residents signed the oath of fidelity, and Elijah Owen headed the list as No. 1.

On 11 Aug. 1788 he bought land of Nathaniel Smith. His wife, Olive Beeman Owen, died at Milton 19 July 1792. Elijah married a third time (town records). He died intestate in June 1799. His estate came before the Probate Court at Burlington 2 July 1799. (Chittenden County Probate Records, Vol. 1, p. 17.) It was not finally settled until 1810. Then, upon the petition of his son Heman, the court appointed three commissioners to appraise and divide the property among the widow and four children. The commissioners submitted a chart for partitioning the land and the Court approved it. The children who each got a parcel of land probably were: Elisha, b. 5 Oct. 1760; Electa, b. 3 Jan. 1762; Ira, b. about 1774; Heman, born at Poultney about 1779.

The 1790 U. S. Census gives the family of Elijah thus: 4 males over 16: probably Mr. Owen, Elijah, Jr., Ambrose, and Ira; 2 males under 16: probably Heman and one more; 2 females: probably Mrs. Owen and Electa.

The 1800 Census gives the following: Widow Abigail Owen: 2 males under 10 years; 1 male under 16 years; 1 female under 10 years (possibly her children by a former marriage).

Children:

F5-39 i. SARAH[5], b. 18 July 1748.

4-22 JOSHUA OWEN[4] (Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Joshua and Margaret (Woodworth) Owen (F3-7), was born 7 Feb. 1725 at Lebanon, Conn., and died probably in Dutchess County, N. Y. but there is no probate record. He married 1753 or 1754 HANNAH .....

He moved with his brothers to Salisbury. He served from there in French and Indian War, campaign against Crown Point from Sept. to Dec. 1755 in Capt. Samuel Bellows Company, Col. Eliza Goodrich's Second Regiment.

(Conn. Hist. Socy. Collections, Vol. IX, p. 33.) Again he enlisted 28 April 1758 Col. Henmon's Third Regiment, to serve in the campaign at Lake Champlain. He was discharged 8 Nov. 1758.

He is probably the Joshua Owen who was on the tax list in Clinton Township, Dutchess County in 1780 and in the Census of 1790: Family 3—0—6, and in Northeast Township, Dutchess County in 1800: Family: one male over 45, one female over 45, two females under 25. His brother Samuel settled in Amenia Township before 1790.

Children, born at Salisbury:

v. MERIAM, b. 8 Nov. 1763.

N. B.—This Joshua must not be confused with Joshua, b. 1729/30; d. 21 Oct. 1819 at Troy, N. Y. He married at Poughkeepsie, 19 Oct. 1754 Sara Oostrom, on the tax roll 1760-80. Their children include John Oostrom Owen, b. 1759, soldier in Rev.; also Bethia, b. 1760; also Mary (1767-1809), who m. 1795 Jacob Vanderheyden at Troy, N. Y. 4-23 ELIPHALET OWEN[4] (Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Joshua and Margaret (Woodworth) Owen (F3-7), was born 26 June 1727 at Lebanon, Conn. He moved with his parents to Salisbury, Litchfield County, in western Connecticut. He married ca. 1755 EUNICE ..... He served in the French and Indian War in the campaign of 1756 against Crown Point. He was a Private in Capt. Jeffrey's Company from Cornwall, 6 April to 29 Nov. 1756[11]; also served in 1758.

The land records of Salisbury show that in 1755 he acquired a one-fourth interest in iron works, which he sold the following year to his brother Leonard. In 1761 he acquired from Thomas Lamb of North Carolina 376½ acres of land on Tockonnoh Mountain in Salisbury, which on 8 May 1769 he sold to his brother Leonard. A lawsuit versus Lamb, concerning iron lands, was won by Eliphalet and

Leonard in 1767. (Public Records, Conn. Colony, Vol. XII, p. 622; Vol. XIII, p. 145.) He moved away from Salisbury in March 1788.[12]

In 1790 they were living in Coxsackie Township, Albany County, New York. Family: 2—1—1. Thus he had one son at home, probably Martin. About 1794-95 they moved to Pompey, Onondaga County. The Census of 1800 reports him and his wife as living there alone. Their son Gideon owned land in Pompey 1796. Eliphalet may have lived on it. He probably died in Onondaga County.

Children:

F5-43 i. ELIPHALET, JR., b. before 1760 (no record at Salisbury).
ii. IRENE, b. 1 Dec. 1760 (Salisbury V. R.).
iii. (?) ASA—enlisted from Salisbury in Continental line; served from 18 Feb. 1778 till 6 Aug. 1782, in Capt. Kirkland's company, Fourth Regiment. Not listed in Pension Rolls nor in 1790 Census.
iv. DEIDAMIA, b. 3 March 1763, Salisbury V. R.

4-24 JOHN OWEN "the first"[4] (Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Joshua and Margaret (Woodworth) Owen (F3-7), was born before 1740, probably at Lebanon, Conn. (not recorded in Lebanon Town Records), and he died before 1800 at Milton, Vt. To distinguish him from his younger cousin John, son of Aaron Owen, he was called "the first" and the latter was called "the second."

He served in the French and Indian War (see Conn. Hist. Socy. Collections, Vol. X, p. 56, p. 279). He served in 2d company, Lt. Col. Henmon's 3rd Regt. from 15 March to 4 Oct. 1758; also 16 April 1761 to 4 Dec. 1761 in 10th Comp. 2d Regt. He served briefly in the American Revolution. In March 1780 he was a private in Capt. Zebulon Dewey's Comp., drew pay four days at 1.4 shillings per day and for 36 miles of travel at 12 pence per day; total amount 17 shillings 4 pence. He served again in Oct. 1780. (John E. Goodrich: Vt. Rev. Rolls)

12. Salisbury Town Records — information furnished by Town Clerk, 3/29/41.

John married 4 March 1762 at Salisbury, DEBORAH WILLIAMS, probably a daughter of Samuel and Deborah (Throop) Williams, of Lebanon. The date of her death has not been found. (Poultney records are lost. Milton records are incomplete.) He may have married twice.

In 1771 they removed with the family of his brother, Elijah Owen, to Poultney, Rutland Co., Vt. At the first town meeting John was appointed town surveyor; he served under the direction of Ira Allen, Surveyor General of the province. From 1781 to 1787 the Grand Lists of taxable persons contains the names of the two brothers. Thus in 1781 Elijah Owen was taxed at L 35, his son Elijah, Jr., at L 8 and John at L 38. In 1788 John Owen's name alone appears. In 1789 there is no Owen name on the list.

On 4 Oct. 1786 John Owen conveyed land at Poultney to his brother Elijah. Land records at Milton, Vt., refer to John Owen in 1788 as "of Poultney" but in 1789 as "of Milton." Hence he must have removed to Milton, Vt., in 1789.

Children (most of the births recorded at Salisbury, Conn.):

i. ALTHEA, b. 17 Oct. 1762 (Salisbury 1/215).
ii. ASENATH, b. 12 July 1764.
iii. CHLOE, b. 12 Aug. 1766.
F5-48 iv. ELIZABETH, b. 6 Aug. 1768 at Salisbury, Conn.
F5-46 v. (Probably) ISAAC, b. 1770-1774 at Poultney, Vt.

4-25 SAMUEL OWEN[4] (Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Joshua and Margaret (Woodworth) Owen (F3-7), was born 26 May 1742 at Lebanon, Conn. About 1750 he moved with his parents to Salisbury, Litchfield County, Conn. He married in 1762 or 1763 Lois Calkins.

He served for eight months in the campaign of 1756 of the French and Indian War. Again he enlisted in Capt. Samuel Elmore's Seventh Company from Litchfield County, in May 1759. His cousins, Abner and Absalom Owen (sons of Aaron and David Owen respectively), served in the same company. He served again in 1762.

He settled in Amenia, Dutchess County, N. Y. The 1790 Census gives his family thus: 3—1—1—1—0. Three males over sixteen, one under sixteen, one female, one other free person.

The 1800 Census for Amenia gives his family as: Males: 5—0—1—1—1. Females: 2—0—0—1—0. This indicates that his wife was dead and that the family of one of his sons was living with him. No probate record.

4-26 Jemima Owen-Knickerbocker[4] (Joshua Owen,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), daughter of Joshua and Margaret (Woodworth) Owen (F3-7), was born at Lebanon, Conn. 26 July 1719; removed with parents to Salisbury 1750. She was married at Sharon 22 Feb. 1751 to John Knickerbocker, son of Laurens and Maryke (Dyckman) Knickerbocker, b. 1710 in Dutchess County, N. Y.; d. 10 Nov. 1786; buried in Lime Rock cemetery, Salisbury. Will dated 5 June 1785, proved 3 Jan. 1787.

By his first wife, Jacomynte Freer, he had eight children.

Children of Jemima (surname Knickerbocker):

i. Sarah[5], b. 11 March 1752; m. Griffin.

ii. Solomon, b. 12 Oct. 1754; m. 1775 Anna Heath, daughter of Bartholomew and Mehitable (Crippen) Heath. About 1789 they removed to Freehold, Albany County, N. Y. Living there in 1799.

Children:

1. Hannah[6], 1774-1776 Lime Rock Cemetery.
2. David, b. 17 Aug. 1777.

4-27 KEZIAH OWEN-BREWSTER[4] (Joshua Owen,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), daughter of Joshua and Margaret (Woodworth) Owen (F3-7), was born 27 June 1723 at Lebanon, New London County, in eastern Connecticut. She was married at Lebanon 15 June 1744 to CHARLES BREWSTER[6] (Ebenezer,[5] William,[4] Benjamin,[3] Jonathan,[2] William[1]), whose line went back to Elder Brewster of the Mayflower. In 1749 they moved from Lebanon to Salisbury, Litchfield County, western Connecticut. In 1763 they moved to Tinmouth, Rutland County, Vermont.

He was the first town clerk of Tinmouth and the first special judge for Rutlandshire before the county was organized. He was one of the first representatives in the State legislature 1778-79, and member of the convention at Windsor, Vt., that drew up the state constitution July 2-8, 1777.

He and his three sons served in the Revolutionary War. He was at one time commissioner of sequestration for the state. The names of himself and his wife head the list of members of the Congregational Church at Tinmouth, in which he was a deacon. She died 10 April 1790 at Huntington, Chittenden County, Vt. He died in 1790.

4-28 CALEB OWEN, JR.[4] (Caleb,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Caleb and Elizabeth (Brewster) Owen (F3-8), was born at Lebanon, Conn., 20 May 1741 and died in Windham County, Vermont. He married 16 Aug. 1759 at Bozrah, New London County, Conn., PRISCILLA THROOPE, who was born at Lebanon 1 July 1741, daughter of Captain William and Elizabeth (Stansbury) Throope. (New York Gen. and Biog. Record, Vol. 36, p. 134.)

When lots in Hartford, Windsor Co., Vt. were drawn by lottery 17 Nov. 1761 at Windham, Conn., Lot No. 18 South of White River was drawn by Caleb Owen. It contained 58¼ acres. (Tucker's History of Hartford, Vt., p. 60.)

Caleb Owen was a grantee of Grand Isle, Vt., chartered Oct. 27, 1779 under the name of the "Two Heroes" in honor of Gen. Ethan and Col. Ira Allen, and comprised Grand Isle together with North and South Hero.

Caleb Owen's name does not appear on the petition of inhabitants of Cumberland Co., N. Y. dated Dec. 7, 1772 as printed in O'Callaghan's Documentary History of New York 4/816.

On 6 June 1774 Abigail Smith of Lebanon conveyed land to Caleb Owen, late of Lebanon, then of Halifax, Cumberland County, New York, now Vermont. He settled there after 1772.

His name appears in the 1790 Census for Halifax Township, Windham County, Vt. thus: 1—1—4—1 (i. e., one male over 16 yrs.; one male under 16 yrs.; four females; one other person, probably his mother).

4-29 ABNER OWEN[4] (Aaron,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Aaron and Miriam (Wright) Owen (F3-9), was born at Lebanon, Conn., about 1740 (not recorded). He served from Litchfield County in the French and Indian War, in the campaign of 1759, from April 10 to Dec. 10, 1759. He was a Private in the Third Regiment, Capt. Samuel Elmore's, Seventh Company. Isaac Peck of Sharon was second lieutenant. Samuel Owen and Absolam Owen served in the same company.

In 1790 he was living in Litchfield, Litchfield County, Conn. His family consisted of himself, a son over 16, his wife and one daughter.

In 1800 he was living in Salisbury Township, Addison County, Vermont. His family consisted of himself and his wife, both over 45 years of age, and one daughter under 16.

Children:

F5-53 i. ABNER, JR.[5], b. 21 Sept. 1773.

ii. Daughter, b. about 1785.

4-30 JOHN OWEN "the second"[4] (Aaron,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Aaron and Miriam (Wright) Owen (F3-9), was baptized 2 Sept. 1744 at Lebanon, Conn. His cousin, John Owen "the first," son of Joshua, was a few years older. Hence the special designations.[13]

Both families settled in Salisbury, Litchfield County, Conn. before 1750. He served in the French and Indian War. He was in Col. Hinman's Fourth Regiment that marched to Ticonderoga, arriving there just after Col. Ethan Allen had captured it. He served in the Revolutionary War from Salisbury. He enlisted in the spring of 1775 under Capt. Nathaniel Buel, Col. Hinman's Regiment, and served eight months. He was impressed in May 1776 for six months as a private under Captain Roger Moore, Col. Gay's Regiment, fighting against "cowboys" (Tory marauders). In Oct. 1777 he served for four weeks under Capt. Buel, Col. Whitney's Regiment, on the North River.

He made application for a pension in Oct. 1832 and after long negotiations received $53.33 per annum, beginning 1833.

13. In the absence of documentary proof for the parentage of John Owen "the second," the editor accepts strong circumstantial evidence.—R. D. O.

He married (1) 31 May 1768 JOHANNA PHELPS of Windsor, Conn., the Rev. Mr. Russell officiating. (Salisbury V. R. 2/44.) She died about 1786 at Salisbury. She was descended from George Phelps, who came from Tewksbury, Eng., 1630, and was one of the founders of Windsor 1635. Through him she was descended from six Magna Charta Surety Barons and through her mother's family, Kent, from five others.[14]

He married (last) in Aug. 1787 at Salisbury, Conn., LYDIA GILSON, daughter of John Gilson IV and his only wife, Patience Graves, born 30 Jan. 1773 at Sunderland, Mass.

About 1790 they settled at Hudson, Columbia County, New York, and about 1798 in Delaware County, N. Y. About 1806 they moved by ox-cart through the Susquehanna Valley to western Pennsylvania. He was listed on Tax List for Conewango Township, Warren County, Pa., in 1806-08.

In 1809 he bought land in Pomfret Township (near Poland), Chautauqua Co., N. Y. and settled there about 1810.

In 1816 he sold his farm and opened a tavern on the east side of Conewango Creek, near Fentonville, Carroll Township. He also operated Owen's Ferry across the creek. He is said to have been very good natured and an excellent story teller.

He died 24 Feb. 1843 in Carroll Township, Chatauqua Co., N. Y. and was buried in Old Fifth Street Cemetery at Warren, Pa. The inscription on his tombstone is incorrect. He never signed his name "Owens."

The widow continued to live in Carroll Township and to draw a pension till her death 7 Nov. 1851 in Pine Grove Township, Warren Co., Pa. Later their remains were moved to Oakland Cemetery, at Warren, Pa.

She was married 2 March 1758 to CAPT. JOHN BROWN of Wintonburg (now Bloomfield), Conn., a direct descendant of Peter Brown, a Mayflower Pilgrim. John was born 4 Nov. 1728. He was commissioned "Captain" 23 May 1776 by Gov. Jonathan Trumbull, who was first cousin to his wife's mother, Hannah Higley Owen. He died of dysentery while serving in the American Army in New York State 3 Sept. 1776.

Her great-grandson, Heman H. Barbour, in his reminiscences of her wrote: "The responsibilities and labors of bringing up her family and managing farm affairs she met and discharged with rare fortitude, discretion, and patience. The suffering and hardships of the hard winter of 1777-78 were peculiarly severe. For a long time she was obliged to provide water for her cattle by melting snow. Repeatedly during that winter did she go on horseback several miles to a mill, with a bag of grain for grinding. Her faith in God and her naturally energetic, brave indomitable spirit sustained her through all the trials."

FIFTH GENERATION

5-1 ASAHEL OWEN II[5] (Asahel,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Asahel and Patience (Rose) Owen (F4-1), was born 25 July 1726 at Bolton, Tolland County, in eastern Connecticut. The probate records for the Hartford District show that on 2 June 1741, Asahel Owen, a minor, aged 15, son of the late Asahel Owen of Sheffield, Mass., chose Major William Pitkin as his guardian. Asahel enlisted as a private in Capt. Pettibone's Company in 1757 to serve against the French. He served seventeen days.[1]

Asahel married 2 June 1752 DEBORAH DRAKE, both then being of Windsor. She was the daughter of Phineas and Deborah (Moore) Drake. About 1760 they removed to Westfield, Berkshire County, Mass.

Asahel Owen probably lived temporarily in Northeast Township, Dutchess County, N. Y. The U. S. Census of 1790 gives his family as: 2—1—3. Possibly: Asahel, his son Abraham, Mrs. Owen and two unmarried daughters.

The date of Asahel's death is not known. She died 4 Oct. 1818, aged 92, and was buried in the Owen Cemetery near Westfield, Mass.

Children:

F6-1 i. ASAHEL III[6], b. 1752.
F6-2 ii. ABIJAH, b. 1754.

2. According to Caverly's History of Pittsford, Vt., p. 47, Edward Owen married at Sheffield, Mass. Elizabeth Torrey.

He moved from Sheffield, Mass. to Pittsford, Rutland Co., Vt. in 1774 (Caverly's History of Pittsford). The town records of Pittsford show that Edward Owen of Pittsford purchased 55 acres of land adjoining that of Joshua Woodward, part of the second division of the original right of David Oaks, 23 May 1776 (Vol. 1, p. 135). He served in the Revolution from Vermont (Goodrich: Vermont Rev. Rolls).

Children:

i. REBECCA[6], b. at Sheffield, Mass., 30 Mar. 1761.

ii. ABDON, b. at Sheffield, Mass., 25 Nov. 1752; sold and conveyed 14 April 1787 to Josiah Eddy his equal part of 55 acres of land which had been owned by his father, Edward Owen, deceased. Moved to Valley Falls, Renssalaer Co., N. Y. (cf. Caverly's History of Pittsford, Vt., p. 717.)

F6-4 iii. ABRAHAM, b. at Sheffield, Mass., 26 July 1764.

iv. AMASA (Caverly's History of Pittsford, p. 717, states that he m. and moved to Troy, Renssalaer Co., N. Y.). Child: Albert G. Owen,[7] b. 1800; d. 1845 at Renssalaer, Albany Co., N. Y., married 3 Sept. 1842 Caroline Strong, daughter of Anson Strong and his wife Sally (Butler) Strong, b. 27 Dec. 1803; d. 1871 (H. B. Dwight: Hist. of Strong Family, Vol. I, p. 240).

Child of Albert and Caroline:

1. Emily Harriet[8], b. 14 Aug. 1843. Teacher at Rensselaerville. (See New Eng. Reg. Jan. 1929, p. 60.)

5-5 Hannah Owen-Peters[5] (Silas Owen,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), daughter of Silas and Elizabeth (Hunt) Owen (F4-3), was born 29 Dec. 1739 and died 5 Oct. 1765 at Hebron, Conn. She was married 13 Feb. 1760 to Rev. Samuel Peters, b. 1735, son of John and Mary (Marks) Peters; graduated from Yale 1756; went to England to study, was ordained by the Bishop of London; returned to Hebron and became the first rector of St. Peter's Church. During the Revolution he was obliged to flee because he was a Loyalist. He went to England and remained there till 1810; returned to U. S.; died 19 April 1826, N. Y. C., buried in St. Peter's churchyard at Hebron. After the death of Hannah Owen he married (2) 1769 Abigail Gilbert of New Haven; (3) Mary Birdseye.

Children (surname Peters):

i. HANNAH[6], b. 19 Dec. 1760; d. 2 March 1761.

5-6 DAVID OWEN[5] (Amos,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Amos and Eunice (Waters) Owen (F4-4), was born 7 July 1744 at Hebron, Conn., and died 12 Aug. 1812. (Warner's Memo, Hebron Private Records, p. 21, Conn. State Library).

He married 15 Nov. 1765 at Hebron, LOIS POST, daughter of Stephen and Mary (Downer) Post, born 16 Jan. 1744 at Bolton, Conn. (Bolton V. R.), who was living in 1815.

The U. S. Census for 1790 gives his family thus: 2—1—5—0—0 David, one male over 16; Mrs. Owen, and four daughters.

The U. S. Census for 1800 gives it: 4 males under 10; 1 male under 26; one male under 46; and 1 male over 46. Two females under ten; 1 under 26; 2 under 46; and one over 46. His son Talbut was married but was not listed as head of a family. Evidently the two families lived together.

His will was dated 6 July 1812. Value of the estate $4984.72. His wife Lois and grandson Harry T. Owen, executors.

Children:

i. MARY[6], b. 18 July 1765; d. 20 April 1766.

5-7 ELIJAH OWEN[5] (Isaac,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Isaac and Rebecca (Tilden) Owen (F4-5), was born 24 Feb. 1740 at Hebron, Conn., and died after 1790 at Ballston, Albany County, N. Y. He married 21 Oct. 1762 DEBORAH HOLDRIDGE at Hebron.

With his brothers, Abel and Jonathan, and their uncle, Isaac Tilden, he settled at Richmond, Berkshire County, Mass. in 1766. Ten years later they removed to King's District, Albany County, N. Y. But before 1783 he sold his farm (the Cabenear farm) to Joshua Green of the same district. He then moved to Ballston Township, Saratoga County. The 1790 Census gives his family as: 3—2—1.

Children:

i. HANNAH[6], b. 18 June 1763 (Hebron Town Records 2/218).

ii. ELIJAH, b. ca. 1765; m. Mehitable Nash. He is listed in the 1790 Census as living in Ballston Township. Later lived in Onondaga and in Madison County. Child: Augustus Holdridge[7], b. at Lennox, Madison County, N. Y.; m. Nancy Pratt.
Daughter: Nancy Pratt[8], b. ca. 1840; m. 17 Oct. 1862 Dr. Albert William Phillips, who was born 1838 at Marcellus, Onondaga County, N. Y.; she died 25 March 1906 at Derby, Conn.
Children:
Ellen Pauline[9], m. Frank E. Bradley of Montclair, N. J. and Derby, Conn.
Elijah, Jr. lived in Milton, Saratoga County, N. Y.
Others.

N. B. William R. Cutter in Gen. and Family History of Conn., 4 Vols., (N. Y. C., Lewis Hist. Pub. Co., 1911) in Vol. II, p. 1545 has sadly confused the lines of John Owen of Windsor with those of Samuel of Brookfield.

5-8 ABEL OWEN[5] (Isaac,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Isaac and Rebecca (Tilden) Owen (F4-5), was born at Hebron, Conn. 3 April 1743 and died in Cortland County, 6 June 1827, aged 84 years. He married first, possibly at Old Canaan, Berkshire Co., Mass., about 1764, ANNA , who died in April 1797 at Homer, N. Y.; and secondly, about 1805 ELIZABETH ABBOTT of Cortland County, whose next of kin were Nathan and Hulda Abbott.

Abel Owen served in the Revolution as a soldier "in the Line, 2nd Regiment, Col. Phillip Van Cortland, General Stephen Van Renssalaer." (New York in the Revolution, p. 36.)

He was living at New Canaan, Albany County, as early as 1 Oct. 1777, when Isaac Preston of New Canaan sold for L31 to "Jonathan Owen and Abel Owen of the same County, town and provence" a farm. About 1784 Abel Owen sold his share in this lot to his brother Jonathan and went to Stephentown, and settled on 200 acres granted by Gen. Stephen van Renssalaer. He built a house at Grafton which is still in existence and is called the "Mountain Top House" on the Taconic Trail.

On 19 February 1790 Abel Owen of Stephentown bought from Matthew Vischer of Albany for L25, Lot 76, consisting of 600 acres, in the town of Pompey (then in Herkimer County), a part of the "Military Tract," now in Onondaga County. It was on this land that Solomon Owen, son of Abel Owen, settled the next year.

On 2 July 1796 Abel and Anna sold their farm of 218 acres at Stephentown to Lemuel Steward (Rensselaer County, Bk. 2, p. 106).

On 13 May 1791 Jacob Ferris of Poughkeepsie, Dutchess Co., N. Y., sold for L35 to Abel Owen, Lot No. 26 in Town of Homer, 600 acres. About 1793 Abel made a clearing and built a log house on it. About 1795 he settled on it. In 1801 the commissioners affirmed Abel's title.

But in 1800 a Martin Kingsley contested it. There followed a lawsuit "Abel Owen and Roderick Owen vs. Ebenezer Temple and Martin Kingsley." It was tried in 1803 and the Owens won the suit. The papers filed include affidavits and depositions from each of Abel's sons.

On 22 Nov. 1791 John Clarke of Plattsburgh, Clinton Co., N. Y., sold to Abel Owen a part of Lot 43 Lysander, Onondaga Co. (1C-277).

In 1805 and 1807 Abel and his wife transferred parts of Lot 39, Tully to his oldest son David. (Vol. E-475; Vol. F-592.)

The will of Abel Owen, dated 16 February 1827, mentions "my three children by my present wife, that is to say, Anna Owen, Almond Owen, and Hannah Maria Owen," my "four children, Solomon Owen, Roderick Owen, Charlotte Hill, the wife of Ebenezer Hill, and Lucy Demmon, the wife of Jason Demmon, my wife Elizabeth, and Eunice Weld, the daughter of my last wife."

On 15 June 1827 the widow sold 230 acres in Lot 26, called the "Owen farm."

Children by first marriage:

F6-10 i. DAVID, b. 1765.
F6-14 ii. CHARLOTTE, b. 31 Oct. 1767.
F6-11 iii. SOLOMON, b. April 1770.
F6-12 iv. LEWIS STILES, b. 1772.
v. LUCY, b. 1774 at New Lebanon, N. Y.; m. at Grafton, Rensselaer County, N. Y., Jason Demmon, of Grafton. He served in Capt. John Carpenter's company, with service from 6 May 1780 to 6 Feb. 1781, stationed at Springfield, Mass. They lived in Sullivan Twp., Madison Co., N. Y.
F6-13 vi. RODERICK, b. 20 Nov. 1777.

Children by second marriage:

vii. ANNA, m. ca. 1828 to James Nelson.
viii. HANNAH MARIA.
ix. ALMOND.

5-9 JONATHAN OWEN[5] (Isaac,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Isaac and Rebecca (Tilden) Owen (F4-5), was born at Hebron, Conn., 9 July 1754, died at New Lebanon 26 March 1821, aged 65 years. He married ca. 1777 ABIGAIL, probably the daughter of Ezra Strong, Jr. and his wife, Temperance Phelps, and granddaughter of Ezra and Abigail (Caverly) Strong.

Jonathan Owen, a minor, was bound out 18 October 1766 to Ezra Strong. The same year he, together with his brothers Elijah and Abel, and Ezra Strong, John Strong, and Isaac Tilden went to Richmont (now Richmond, Berkshire Co.) in western Massachusetts.

On 1 Oct. 1777 Jonathan Owen and Abel Owen, his brother, both residents of New Canaan, Albany County, bought land there from Isaac Preston. About 1784 Jonathan Owen bought his brother's share in this land.

On 14 May 1791 Abraham Havens of Canaan, Columbia County, sold to Jonathan Owen, of Canaan, for L100, "a certain piece or parcel of Land, lying and being in Canaan, County of Columbia and State of New York, butting and bounding as follows—West of lands of the said Jonathan Owen, southerly by said Owen's land to land of Ebenezer Darling to a White Oak Tree, then Easterly on said Darling's land to the land of Abel Mott then Easterly on said Green's land to the first mentioned Bound to the same, more or less butted and bounded."

Jonathan Owen served for three months in the Revolution as a soldier "in the Levies, stationed at West Point." (New York in the Revolution, p. 81.)

The will of Jonathan Owen, sworn to in Surrogate Court, Kinderhook, Columbia County, names his son Solomon Owen as administrator of estate and mentions children, Solomon, Anson, William, Rebecca, and wife Abigail.

Children:

F6-15 i. ANSON[6], b. ca. 1780.
ii. REBECCA, m. Benjamin Bull.
F6-16 iii. WILLIAM, b. ca. 1785.
F6-17 iv. SOLOMON (or Salmon), b. at New Lebanon ca. 1788.

5-10 JOHN OWEN[5] (Isaac,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Isaac and Rebecca (Tilden) Owen (F4-5), was born 22 Jan. 1758. On 4 Oct. 1773 he chose his brother, Elijah Owen "of King's District in the County of Albany, N. Y." as his guardian. (Probate Records, State Library, Hartford, Conn.)

He probably lived with his brother's family there and moved with him to Ballston. He married before 1790, for he is listed in the 1790 census as living in Albany County.

In the Census of 1800 he was listed as living in Homer Township, Onondaga County, N. Y. Family: (illegible in the record). In Sept. 1805 he bought land in Homer from Abel and Lewis S. Owen.

5-11 ISAAC OWEN[5] (Isaac,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Isaac and Rebecca (Tilden) Owen (F4-5), was born 15 Nov. 1760. On 17 Feb. 1775 Isaac Tilden, his uncle, was appointed guardian and bonded in the sum of L200 English money. Tilden was then of Richmond, Berkshire County, Mass., and Elijah Buell of Colchester, Conn., was his bondsman. (Probate Records, State Library, Hartford, Conn.)

Isaac served in the Revolution as a private in Col. Webb's Regiment from Hebron, July 23 to Dec. 4, 1779.

Possibly the same as the Isaac Owen who is listed in the Census of 1790 for Mohawk Township, Montgomery County, N. Y. (now in Herkimer County), 80 miles west of Albany. Family: 1—2—2.

5-12 SYLVANUS OWEN[5] (Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), only son of Josiah III and Hannah (White) Owen (F4-6), was born 19 Aug. 1746 at Hebron, Conn. His mother died when he was two years of age, and his father died when he was ten. He was raised by his stepmother, Zerviah Hartshorn Owen. He was named after his mother's uncle, Sylvanus White. Through his mother, Hannah White, he was descended from William White, a signer of the Mayflower Compact.

Sylvanus married on 4 May 1768, in the First Church of Coventry, EUNICE ROBERTS. (Coventry lies in Tolland County about ten miles north of Hebron.)[3]

Eunice was born 1 March 1747 at Killingly, Windham County, Conn., daughter of John and Lois (Waters) Roberts. She was an orphan, like Sylvanus, for her mother had died in 1750 and her father in 1762.

Sylvanus and Eunice lived at Hebron for three years or more. Here were born their two older childen—Andrew in 1769, and Lois in 1771. After that time they joined the stream of pioneers who moved into the territory then known as "New Connecticut," now Vermont. They drove their ox-team northward along the shore of the Connecticut River about 150 miles to the junction of the Connecticut and the White Rivers. There they turned to the left and followed the White River for a distance of about thirty miles. Most of the settlers in this region were from Windsor, Connecticut, and so they called the county Windsor County.

Sylvanus served in the War of Independence.[4] In June 1775 he enlisted in Colonel Timothy Bedel's regiment of Rangers and served in Canada, at St. John's. He next enlisted in Captain Charles Nelson's company (47 men in the company), and served at Quebec under Major John Brown, Colonel Ethan Allen and General Benedict Arnold.

4. For Military Record of Sylvanus Owen see Vermont Revolutionary Rolls, pp. 259, 639, 640, 658, 662, 663, 798, 832, 834.

In August 1776 he enlisted in Captain Joe Hatch's company, in Colonel Bedel's regiment. In September 1776 they were at Crown Point (Essex County, New York, on Lake Champlain, five miles north of Fort Ticonderoga, which Colonel Ethan Allen had captured in May 1775).

On 16 Aug. 1777 he participated in the battle at Bennington, Vt.[5]

In Feb. 1778 he enlisted as corporal—Capt. Joseph Taylor's Company of Rangers—for an expedition into Canada.

In October 1780 Sylvanus served once more under Captain Timothy Bush and Colonel Peter Olcott, Royalton, Vermont. Royalton is about ten miles from Bethel, Vermont, both on the White River.

Whether he settled on his Bethel-Gilead land in 1772 is doubtful. There were very few people at Bethel even in 1779. In 1780 a fort was built there. When the Indians from Canada made their raid in 1780, the people took refuge in the fort. Since he enlisted from Fairlee, Windsor County, he may have lived there for some years. But there is no land record.

Mrs. Eunice Owen died in 1795; he survived her nearly twenty years. They lie buried in a neglected, little graveyard, three miles north of the village of Bethel.[6] It lies down on the southeast slope of a hill, a few rods from the northbound road. In 1912 the tombstones had sunk badly and the inscriptions were not very legible.

6. Official Records describe the burial plot as "old part, R. 5, L. 10."

The Bethel Town-records make frequent mention of Sylvanus Owen.

"April 19, 1790, Sylvanus Owen bought of Laban Gates a parcel of five acres on which the five-penny state tax had not been paid for 1789. He paid six shillings, one penny plus costs." Vol. I, p. 189.

Sylvanus Owen sold land to Richard Adams. The deed begins thus: "To all People to whom these presents shall come Greeting, know ye that I, Sylvanus Owen, of Bethel, in the county of Windsor and State of Vermont, Yeoman, for the consideration of Five pounds lawful money received to my full satisfaction of Richard Adams of Bethel aforesaid, and by these presents do give, grant, bargain, sell, and confirm to said Richard Adams his heirs and assigns forever . . ."

The Town records at Bethel show some interesting transactions in which Sylvanus Owen and his sons, Andrew and Lodrick, participate.

Bethel Town Records, Vol. III, p. 166:

On February 22, 1799 Andrew Owen gave to his father a mortgage on a certain piece of land in Bethel—one-half of lot number seven in the 2d range west of the 3d branch, a part of the original right of Samuel Webster. It was given as security for a loan of $100 payable in ten years with interest. The mortgage was officially acknowledged March 3, 1806.

On March 4, 1809, Sylvanus Owen transferred the loan to Lodrick Owen through the following mortgage:

"Know all men by these Presents that I, Sylvanus Owen of Bethel, in the county of Windsor and the State of Vermont do for and in consideration of the sum of five hundred dollars paid to my full satisfaction by Lodrick Owen of Woodstock in the County and State aforesaid, have and hereby do freely give, grant, sell, and confirm unto said Lodrick Owen, his heirs and assigns forever, a certain piece of land in Bethel aforesaid, described as follows—one-half of lot number seven in the 2d range west of the 3d branch and is a part of the original right of Samuel Webster . . ."

"To secure a loan of $100.00 payable in ten years with interest, March 4, 1809." SYLVANUS OWEN (seal)

Payment of the mortgage received by Joseph Buffom for Lodrick Owen November 28, 1822.

On the third Wednesday in August 1815, Washington Granger sold the aforesaid piece of land as administrator of the estate of Sylvanus Owen, deceased, to Timothy Fisher for $180.00.

Fisher was Sylvanus Owen's son-in-law. He also bought the Owen homestead, and his descendants owned it in 1910.

5-13 FREDERICK OWEN[5] (Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Josiah III and Zerviah (Hartshorn) Owen (F4-6), was born 16 Feb. 1752 at Norwich, New London County, Conn. His father died when Frederick was four years old. He married (1) at Windham, Windham County, in eastern Connecticut, MARGARET "Peggy" HIBBARD,[7] 10 Sept. 1778. Ceremony by Samuel Gray, J. P. (Windham 2/224). She was born at Windham 10 Sept. 1758, and she died at Middlebury, N. Y., 5 Sept. 1828. He married (2) the widow CURTIS, who also died before him. He died at Middlebury, Wyoming County, in western New York, 9 April 1837.

Frederick Owen served in the Revolutionary War. He enlisted as a private in the Eighth Connecticut Regiment—Col. Jedidiah Huntington's—which was raised by order of the Assembly in July 1775. It was recruited mainly from New London, Hartford, and Windham Counties. It was stationed on Long Island Sound till 14 Sept. 1775. Then, on requisition from General Washington, it was ordered to the Boston camps, and it took its post at Roxbury, Mass., in Gen. Spencer's Brigade. It remained there till the end of its service in December 1775. It was then adopted as a Continental Regiment and reorganized under Col. Huntington as the 17th Cont. Infantry Regt.[8]

Frederick Owen was a private in the Second Company under Capt. John Douglass. He enlisted on 18 July 1775 and was discharged on 10 Dec. 1775. On 1 Jan. 1777 the name was changed once more to 1st Conn. Regt. Col. Huntington was promoted to Brigadier General in the Cont. Army. He probably re-enlisted in the same regiment under its new name.

According to family tradition he participated in the Battle of Bunker Hill. This is impossible. The battle took place on 16 June 1775, before either George Washington or Frederick Owen had arrived near Boston.

By an act of the Assembly passed in 1818 the state of Connecticut granted pensions to its Revolutionary veterans. See "List of Pensioners Living in New York,"[9] which includes Frederick Owen.

5-13 BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF FREDERICK OWEN

By ELIPHALET OWEN

Written in 1883

The first in the Owen line who was personally known to any now living was Frederick Owen, born in Tolland (Norwich), Connecticut in 1752 (16 Feb. 1752). He was left an orphan at an early age, his father having died during the French and Indian War, but whether in connection with it is not known. His mother married afterwards a man by the name of Byington; and he had a sister who married a man by the name of Harkins, and who moved to some western state. Soon after his father's death Frederick went to live with an uncle. As a boy he was keen, active, and sprightly. He was quick to learn; he seems to have been precocious and had a talent and taste for literature, and especially for poetry, which, with ingenious riddles, he composed in after-life for the amusement of students and children. His uncle's mode of punishment for any offence was to shut him in a room with nothing but a Bible to occupy the time of his confinement. He began to read incidents in the book, and, becoming interested, he read it through before the age of eight.

Physically he grew up slim and tall, about six feet high, with rather small features and straight nose. Perceptive faculties well developed, giving the forehead a rather receding appearance to the top of the head, which was high. The eyes rather small and well set back under the brow, together with the hair, were of a butternut brown color. His motions were quick, and he was a very spry walker through his life, with a peculiar spring to his step.

At the age of fourteen he was apprenticed to learn the tanner's and currier's trade, to which was added the shoemaker's trade, which he pursued in after-life.

About the beginning of the Revolutionary War he married PEGGY HIBBARD (10 Sept. 1778) in the town of Windham, Conn., and for ten or a dozen years they had their home there. He enlisted in the Army at the beginning of the War and served until its close. He was taken prisoner and put on a prison-ship. Of three hundred prisoners only seven escaped death; he had the fever (typhus?) but got over it.

Between 1788 and 1790 he moved with his family to Orwell, Addison County, in western Vermont.

In 1810 he moved to Middlebury, Genesee County, western New York, and lived with his eldest son, Eliphalet. In his early married life he united with the Baptist Church, as did his wife. But during the Morgan[10] excitement, being a Free Mason, he withdrew himself from the First Baptist Church of Middlebury, as did the pastor and several other members who belonged to the order.

He made a comfortable living at his trade, and also received a pension from the Government in his later years (1818) ($96.00 a year—Ed.). He outlived his wife by about ten years, and married a second time, a widow CURTISS, who also died before him.

5-18 Hezekiah Owen[5] (Nathaniel,[4] Nathaniel,[3] Nathaniel,[2] John[1]), son of Nathaniel and Mary (Pinney) Owen (F4-10), was born at Windsor, Conn., 1 Sept. 1766 and died at Brooklyn, N. Y., 16 July 1854, buried at Ogdens-burg, N. Y. He married 21 Sept. 1785 ELIZABETH THRALL, daughter of John and Rebecca (Davis) Thrall, who was born 1767 at Windsor, Conn., and died 9 Jan. 1836, at Kingsborough, N. Y.

They removed from Windsor to Colebrook, Litchfield County, Conn., in 1790. In 1803 they moved to Kingsborough, N. Y.

According to family tradition he served in the War of 1812-15. But his record cannot be found in the archives of the War Department in Washington.

After his wife's death in 1836, he went to live with his sons in New York City and Brooklyn.

5-19 ALVAN OWEN, JR.[5] (Alvan,[4] Nathaniel,[3] Nathaniel,[2] John[1]), son of Alvan and (F4-11), was born 8 June 1764 at Windsor, Conn., and died 1859 Hornby, Steuben County, N. Y. He married .....

According to his own statements made in an application for a pension under the Act of 1832, he served in the American Revolution. In the fall of 1780 he took his father's place in Capt. Keeler's Company, Col. Butler's Conn. Regt., for four months. In the fall of 1781 he enlisted for six months and served in Capt. Chapman's Company, Col. Heman Swift's Conn. Regiment. The pension was refused.

During the Revolution he lived at home in Simsbury. Later he removed to Marbletown Twp., Ulster County, N. Y., where the U. S. Census of 1790 gives his family as: 1 - 0 - 3 - 0. Later he moved to Butternuts, Otsego County, and still later to Guilford, Chenango County. His father probably followed him thither.

5-20 JAMES OWEN[5] (David,[4] Joseph II,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of David and Margaret (Taylor) Owen (F4-12), was born at Lebanon, Conn., March 1742 and died at Salisbury 1 Dec. 1826. He married 17 May 1764 in his grandfather's house at Salisbury, JOHANNA TOWSLEY, probably daughter of Samuel. He served in the French and Indian War as a private in Capt. Elmore's 10th Company, 2nd Reg't in 1761, and in 1762.[11]

In 1773 he and others settled at Middlebury, but at the time of the retreat of the American Army from the disastrous expedition into Canada 1776, the settlers fled to Salisbury and remained there for the rest of the War.

In 1783 the settlers returned to Middlebury, but as James Owen had sold to Hyde in 1781 it is not likely that he accompanied them to Middlebury.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

He and his three brothers, Solomon, Jonathan, Jr., and Eleazer, served together in the Second Regiment of Ulster Militia, under Col. James McCloughry, during the American Revolution.

The U. S. Census of 1790 gives him as residing in Mamakating Township, Ulster County, N. Y. His family consisted of himself, his wife, two sons, under 16; three daughters.

Oliver and his brother Solomon left Ulster County soon after 1790 and settled in the Military Tract, which was then included in Herkimer County. On 8 Jan. 1794 they were among 135 men living in the Town of Mexico who signed a petition to the legislature to set off their township (the eastern half of the Military Tract) as a separate county. In March 1794 the legislature complied with their request and set up Onondaga County.

The county records of Onondaga County, N. Y., show that on 12 Nov. 1794 Peter Townsend of Goshen, Orange County, N. Y., sold to Oliver Owen Lot No. 92 in Manlius, Onondaga County. In 1795 Oliver erected a sawmill in Jamesville, five miles from Manlius.[12]

The U. S. Census of 1800 lists Oliver as living in Manlius Township. His family consisted of himself and his wife (over 45 years of age), one son under 10, one son under 16, one son under 26, one daughter under 10, and three daughters under 16.

On 2 June 1802 Nathaniel Owen, his son, became administrator of his estate. In 1806 Nathaniel and his uncle, Solomon, joined with other heirs of Jonathan Owen (Oliver's father) in selling to Adonijah Morum fifteen acres of land at Sharon, Conn., and the deed was acknowledged by Nathaniel and Solomon before a justice of the peace in Onondaga County in 1809.

5-23 AMASA[5] OWEN (Jonathan,[4] Joseph,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Jonathan and Patience (Vallance) Owen (F4-13), was born at Salisbury 10 Feb. 1753, died on a farm near Neville, Clermont Co., Ohio, in 1817, and was buried on the one acre of the farm set apart as a burial ground and reserved for that purpose when the farm was sold by his heirs in 1822. He married SARAH OSBORN, born at Salem, Westchester Co., N. Y., 13 June 1763 and baptized there 17 July 1763, second child of John and Eunice Osborn. Sarah (Osborn) Owen married secondly, 3 Jan. 1819, Solomon Dill of Clermont County, who died in 1820. After the marriage of her son Joseph Owen, who went to a farm nearby on Bear Creek, she made her home with him. Her name appeared on the tax rolls of Clermont County until 1846, which was probably the date of her death. She was buried by the side of her first husband, in the burying ground on the farm which had been their home.

Amasa Owen was left fatherless at the age of six, and his mother, Patience Owen, was appointed guardian for him and her other younger children. Later she moved to the Wyoming Valley (vide supra, p. 56). In 1770, when nearly seventeen years of age, he chose for his guardian Elijah Foster of Sharon.

The published records of New York in the Revolution show that Jonathan Owen, Oliver Owen, Amasa Owen, Eleazer Owen, and Solomon Owen served in the Ulster County Militia, in the Second Regiment, under Col. James McCloughry, Maj. Moses Phillips, and Capt. Benjamin Vail and Capt. Abraham Cuddeback, and that Amasa Owen served also in the levies of New York under Col. Frederick Wassenfels. The published records of Connecticut in the Revolution do not appear to show that these brothers served from their native State. The information given above about Oliver Owen and Solomon Owen shows that they, who settled in Onondaga County, N. Y., about 1793, were the sons of Jonathan Owen of Salisbury, deceased, and that they came to Onondaga County from Mamakating Township, Ulster Co., N. Y., whence they had served in the Revolution. It therefore seems reasonable to assume that Jonathan, Amasa, and Eleazer Owen, who served in the same regiment, were their brothers. The records of the War Department, in the Adjutant General's office in Washington, show that Amasa Owen's service in the Second Regiment of the Ulster County Militia was during 1778 and 1779. The original manuscript roll (vol. 1, p. 139), in the State files at Albany, N. Y., shows his service in the levies of New York in 1781 under Lieutenant Colonel Wassenfels, Capt. Henry Brewster, Lieut. Charles Stewart, and Lieut. George Harsen.

Amasa Owen is not listed in the U. S. Census for 1790, in New York State, because he was serving in the U. S. Army at the time. In the Old Records Division of the Adjutant General's office, in Washington, was found the payroll of Paymaster Daniel Britt, for troops of the United States in the Western Department from 1 Jan. to 31 Dec. 1790. The roll of the First Regiment, under Lieut. Col. Josiah Harmar, contained the names of 674 privates, in 12 companies. In Capt. Erkurius Beatty's company one of the 55 names enrolled was that of Amasa Owen, which was on the roll for the full twelve months, indicating that he had apparently enlisted prior to the first of the year and continued in the service after the close of the year. On the cover was written: "This Regiment of Infantry was in the Expedition against The Miami Indians in Sept. and Oct. 1790" (at Fort Washington). Much has been written as to the early settlements at Fort Harmar (Marietta), Fort Washington (Cincinnati), and along the Ohio Valley about this time, and of the forces under General Harmar who were engaged in defense of the settlers against the hostile Indians; but little has been found as to the personal history of those who filled the ranks. It seems, however, that this Amasa Owen is the one referred to above and in the following lines.

Amasa Owen was an early settler in Clermont County, Ohio (about thirty miles east of Cincinnati), where he was an elector in 1803 in Washington Township, in the first election of which the poll books were preserved. In 1806 he bought from John Obannon 101 acres of land near Neville, on what was then called Bear Creek, but is now known as Maple Creek, a little below and on the same side as McKendrie church, now the Longworth farm, being a part of Survey No. 834 for 700 acres, originally made to Alexander Parker 26 Dec. 1787.

In his will, proved in Aug. 1817, Amasa Owen names his wife Sarah, his sons Elijah, Daniel, Amasa, John, Jacob, and Joseph, and his daughters Delilah Gregg, Sarah Crosiar, and Eunice Owen.

Children:

i. SOLOMON[6], b. 26 Nov. 1783; perhaps d. young, as he is not mentioned in his father's will.

F6-35 ii. ELIJAH, b. 17 March 1785.

iii. DELILAH, b. 3 Oct. 1787; m. ——— GREGG.

iv. POLLY, b. 3 Nov. 1789; perhaps d. young, as she is not mentioned in her father's will.

v. DANIEL, b. 10 Jan. 1791; living in La Salle County, Ill., in 1850; m. POLLY ———, who joined with him in 1822 in conveying inherited land in Clermont County, Ohio. He is apparently the Daniel Owen who appears in the United States Census of 1840 as head of a family in La Salle County, Ill., consisting of himself, aged 50 to 60, a male, aged 15 to 20, and two females, aged respectively 30 to 40 and 10 to 15. The Census of 1850 gives in La Salle County Amasa Owen, a native of Indiana, aged 30, and head of a family that included a wife, three children, and Daniel Owen, a native of Ohio, aged 61. In the United States Censuses of 1860, 1870, and 1880 this Amasa Owen and family who were in La Salle County, Ill., in 1850 are found in Brown County, Kans., but without the elder man, Daniel Owen. A grandson of Eunice (Owen) Holland (F6-40), named Isaac Myers, who knew Amasa Owen of Brown County, Kans., states that he was of the family of Owens of Clermont County, Ohio. It is evident, therefore, from the data here assembled, that he was the son of Daniel Owen.

Child:

1. Amasa,[7] b. in Indiana about 1820; living in Brown County, Kans., in 1880; m. Maria ———, b. in Indiana about 1826. Children: Daniel,[8] b. in Illinois in 1845, Eunice, b. in Illinois in 1849, Benjamin, b. in Illinois in 1855, George, b. in Kansas in 1858, Isaac, b. in Kansas in 1861, Alfred, b. in Kansas in 1863.

F6-36 vi. AMASA, b. 26 Mar. 1793.

vii. JOHN, b. 3 Sept. 1795; probably the John Owen who m. in Clermont County, Ohio, 31 Dec. 1817 (Joseph Larkin, J. P., officiating), ANN JAMES (Clermont County records). His wife "Nance" joined him in 1822 in conveying inherited land in Clermont County.

5-24 ELEAZER OWEN[5] (Jonathan,[4] Joseph,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Jonathan and Patience (Vallance) Owen (F4-13), was born 16 April 1755 at Salisbury, Conn., and died 19 July 1779 killed in the Battle of Minisink, Orange County, N. Y. He married ABIGAIL ..... She was married (2) 2 Feb. 1784 at Goshen Presbyterian Church to Abiel Fry (1739-1806).

Eleazer Owen served in the Second Regiment, Ulster County Militia, under Lt. Col. James McClaughry. In July 1779 a party of 90 Indians and Tories under Brant attacked and burned a village in western Ulster County. A band of 75 militia men under Col. Benjamin Tustin pursued and engaged them. But the Americans were ambushed and badly defeated; forty-five of them were killed, including Col. Tustin and Eleazer Owen.

On 3 Dec. 1785 Letters of Administration were granted to "Abel Fry, shopkeeper, of Orange County, husband of the late widow of Eleazer Owen of Wallkill precinct, for the estate of the said Eleazer Owen, who died intestate."

According to the 1790 Census, Abiel Fry was living in Minisink Twp. Family: Abiel, 4 males under 16, four females. According to the 1800 Census, Abiel Fray was living in Chemung Twp., Tioga County. Family, males: 1-1- - -1; females: 3-1-0-1-1.

?. John S. Gustin: Ancestry of John S. Guston and his wife Susan McComb (Boston, 1900), makes the mistake of asserting that the Eleazer Owen killed in the Battle of Minisink was Eleazer Owen, who was born at Brookhaven, L. I., in 1697. (What could an 82 year old man do in an egagement against Indians!)

W. A. Owen in his article in NEHGR, Vol. 83, p. 56, mistakenly surmises that the Eleazer Owen at Minisink was the father of Rev. Anning Owen (1751-1814). The latter was the son of Timothy Owen of Goshen.

5-25 SOLOMON[5] (Jonathan,[4] Joseph II,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Jonathan and Patience (Vallance) Owen (F4-13), was born 14 April 1757 at Salisbury (recorded at Sharon) and died before 1820 in Cortland County, New York. With several of his brothers he served in the Revolution in the New York militia in Col. James McCloughry's regiment of Ulster County Second regiment. He was a resident of Mamakating Township, Ulster Co., in 1790. He married HANNAH, possibly a daughter of Jonathan Lockwood, Sr. The 1790 U. S. Census indicates his family: 3 males under 16 years of age; 5 females.

He removed to Pompey, Onondaga County, with his brother Oliver, before 1794. He and his brother Amasa together received Lot 95 as their levies in that part of Pompey which on 9 March 1798 became Fabius.

Onondaga County Land Records state: "Fabius, Solomon Owen of Fabius sold 8 May 1805 to Joseph Schemmerhorn, formerly of Schenectady, N. Y., part of Lot 95, beginning at the S. E. corner of Lot 5 in the subdivision of Lot 95 made by Humphrey Howland."

The Land Records of Sharon, Conn., and those of Onondaga County state that in 1806 Solomon Owen and Nathaniel Owen, son of Oliver Owen, deceased, heirs of Jonathan Owen, sold to Adonijah Moreum, their interest in 15 acres in Sharon, owned by the late Jonathan Owen and not sold by the order of the Court of Probate by which his estate was settled. The deed was acknowledged before a justice of the peace in Onondaga County in 1809.

"1812 Solomon Owen, gentleman, of Truxton, and Hannah, his wife, to Jonathan Lockwood, 10 Aug. 1812, convey part of undivided fifty acres of the levies on Lot 95, Fabius, deed from James Vincent and Amasa Owen to Solomon Owen." (Truxton is 10 miles south of Fabius, now in Cortland Co.)

N. B.—W. A. Owen in N. E. H. G. R., Vol. 83, p. 57, has confused this Solomon Owen with Solomon Owen, son of Abel, b. 1779. (See F6-11.)

In 1807 he bought 100 acres in Lot 88 from James Lockwood.

Children (probably):

i. AMASA, b. before 1790; joined with Solomon in 1808 in buying 50 acres in Lot 78, Truxton, for $450.

ii. SAMUEL, b. before 1790; m. 1815 Betsy ———, who in 1818 joined with him in selling part of Lot 95, Truxton.

5-28 Timothy Owen[5] (Eleazer,[4] Moses,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Eleazer and Jerusha (Russ) Owen (F4-18), was born 10 November 1756 at Ashford, Conn.; died at Hanover, N. H., 24 August 1837, aged 80. He married at Hanover 11 Sept. 1784 Lydia Perry, who was born at Scituate, Mass. 10 Jan. 1766 and died at Hanover 26 August 1816. She was descended from a good family which included Richard Warren of the Mayflower, Nathaniel Morton, Col. Richard Warren of the Mayflower, and Elder Wm. Brewster through his son Jonathan.

Timothy went to Hanover in the company of the Rev. Eleazer Wheelock, founder of Dartmouth College. In 1777 we find him in Enfield, N. H. as one of the first landowners there. While there he joined Col. Jonathan Chase's Regiment which "went and reinforced the Northern Continental Army at Ticonderoga by Major Folsom's orders." He was a member of Capt. Hende's company, and fought in the Battle of Hubbardstown.

In 1784 he moved to Hanover and purchased a large farm in Hanover Center. He took an early and active interest in town affairs. He is mentioned frequently as contributing to various charities and in town meetings. In 1806 he was appointed on the School Committee and retained that office for many years. He was also Surveyor of Highways in 1810.

The house Timothy carved out of the wilderness is still standing on the beautiful hill near Hanover with a magnificent view down the Connecticut Valley.

Timothy Owen is buried in Hanover Center Cemetery, where his grave is decorated every year with the veteran's flag for his service during the Revolution.

His grave stone is inscribed simply:

TIMOTHY OWEN
Died August 24, 1837
Aged 80.

That of his wife who is buried by his side reads:

In memory of
LYDIA OWEN
Wife of Timothy Owen
Who died August 20, 1816
Aged 49 years

A soul prepared needs no delays
The summons comes; The saint obeys.

5-29 DANIEL OWEN[5] (Eleazer,[4] Moses,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Eleazer and Jerusha (Russ) Owen (F4-18), was born 15 Jan. 1759 at Ashford, Conn. and died 22 May 1826 aged 67, at Spafford, N. Y. He married 25 Nov. 1779 at Westford, Conn. LYDIA RICE, born 1759, and died 28 April 1852 at Cortland, N. Y. They settled at Spafford, in 1801.

Revolutionary War pension claim W-18478 shows that Daniel Owen enlisted in Ashford, Conn. in Capt. Wm. Hull's Co.—Col. Chas. Webb's Connecticut Regiment, Application 14 April 1818 at Onondaga, Onondaga Co., N. Y. In 1820 living at Spafford. Pension allowed. He was placed on Roll 10 June 1819. His widow, Lydia, was allowed pension on her application executed 19 July 1837 at Scott, Cortland County. Refers to daughter and granddaughter, not named, son Timothy, son Jonathan R. The soldier's brother, Eleazer Owen of Belchertown, Mass. in 1820 stated that he served in same company.

Daniel Owen's will was probated 21 Aug. 1826 at Skaneateles. His son Daniel D. Owen was appointed administrator (BB-94).

5-32 LEONARD OWEN, JR.[5] (Leonard,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Leonard and Experience Owen (F4-20), was born 20 April 1756 at Salisbury, Litchfield County, Conn. and died at Wilmington, Essex County, N. Y. He married KEZIAH ———.

He and his brother Thaddeus were early settlers of Wilmington, N. Y. about 1800. Other early settlers included Isaac Peck, from Addison County, Vt. Leonard Owen built the first mill in Wilmington.

Children (born at Salisbury):

F6-53 i. CHARLES[6], b. 28 June 1775 (Salisbury Ass'n, Vol. II) or 7 June 1775 (Family Records); married Katy Peck, daughter of Isaac Peck.

5-33 THADDEUS[5] (Leonard,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Leonard and Mary (Stannard) Owen (F4-20), was born at Salisbury, Conn. 27 Jan. 1763. He married ABIGAIL ———, probably at Milton, Vt. Thaddeus owned property in Milton. Oath of allegiance.

He and his brother Leonard Owen, Jr. were early settlers at Wilmington, Essex Co., N. Y. about 1799. See U. S. Census for 1800.

He served in the Revolution in the Connecticut and the Continental Line. He never applied for a pension. His widow applied but her claim was rejected.

New York Records say of him "served in the line; unidentified."

5-34 ABEL OWEN[5] (Leonard,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Leonard and Mary (Stannard) Owen (F4-20), was born at Salisbury, Conn., 26 Feb. 1772; moved with his parents to Milton, Vt.

He married after 1790 MARGARET ALLEN and settled in South Burlington Township, Chittenden County, Vt. She died 1867 at home of her son Abel L. Owen. Here he built in 1806 a stone house from stone quarried on his farm. It is still occupied in 1940, although not by any Owen folk. He made his will in 1845 mentioning his wife and each of his children. It was filed 7 April 1850 by his executor Abel L. Owen. The latter was to get 129 acres of land and to pay to each of his four brothers the sum of $600, namely Orlando, Almon, Myron, and Luther. Orlando also got twelve acres of land. His deceased daughter, Miranda Owen Burnham, left a son Abel C. Burnham.

The testator explained that he had given Miranda her share during her lifetime.[1]

Children:

F6-54 i. ORLANDO[6], b. 11 Oct. 1800.
F6-55 ii. ALMON, b. 25 Oct. 1802.
iii. MYRON.
iv. LUTHER.
v. MIRANDA; m. Burnham.

5-35 ELIJAH OWEN, JR.[5] (Elijah,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Elijah and Olive (Bemon) Owen (F4-21), was born at Salisbury, Conn. 27 April 1759. He removed with his parents to Poultney and Milton, Vermont.

He married 5 Aug. 1790 RACHEL LOGGIN of Milton, probably the daughter of Samuel Loggin. "Know all men whom it may concern: that Elijah Owen, Junior, was married to Rachel Loggin, per me, on the fifth day of August in the year 1790. Aaron Matthew, Justice of Peace—Milton, Vt. Nov. 28, 1793." She died at the age of twenty-two on 10 March 1794. He died 4 Oct. 1798. In the Milton, Vt. cemetery there is a record of an infant son of Elijah and Rachel.

Children:

i. HEMAN[6], b. 7 March 1791 (?).
ii. ELECTA, b. 6 July 1792.

Auth.: Mrs. Helen E. Healy, Mesa, Ariz.

5-36 ELISHA OWEN[5] (Elijah,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Elijah and Olive (Bemon) Owen (F4-21), was born 5 Oct. 1760 at Salisbury, Conn.[2] He removed with his parents to Poultney and Milton, Vt.

The whim of his parents to call one son Elijah and the next one Elisha caused some confusion. Town clerks and census enumerators were not careful to distinguish between them. Thus Elisha is described as Elijah Jr. in the First U. S. Census. He was married, while his brother was not.

Elisha served in the Revolution. In March 1780 and Oct. 1780 he served as a private in Capt. Zebulon Dewey's Company in a total of 17 days and 36 miles of travel. In

1. Chittenden County, Vt. Probate Records, Vol. 32, p. 253.
2. Barbour's Index, Salisbury, 1/88.

Oct. 1781 he served in Col. Thomas Lee's regiment, Capt. Israel Hurlburt's Company, for the defence of the frontiers of the state of Vermont in a total of 15 days and 50 miles of travel. Rate of pay 1 shilling 4 pence per day and 4 pence per day for travel. In 1840 his name appears in a List of Pensioners, and his age is given as 80 years.

Elisha married twice: (1) before 1790 ————. According to the 1790 Census he had the following family: 1-1-1. Thus he had a wife and a young son.

He married (2) on 9 Jan. 1801 his cousin ABIGAIL OWEN, daughter of Leonard Owen. Ceremony performed at Milton, Vt. by Gideon Hoxsie, Justice and Town Clerk. Elisha was 41 at the time. She was born 26 May 1768 and hence was 33. She died 31 Jan. 1846 (according to the cemetery inscription). But the inscription makes her seven years younger!

Elisha died intestate 18 May 1854. Benjamin Fairchild submitted the following petition to the Probate Court at Burlington, Vt.:

"Elisha Owen died 18 May 1854, leaving no widow but four children, viz. 1. Matilda, 2. Hannah, both of whom reside in Milton; and two others who when last heard from resided in some of the western states, viz. Lewis C. Owen and the other I think is named Elijah, and I further testify that the said Elisha Owens, deceased, was at the time of his death a pensioner of the United States under the act of June 7, 1832, inscribed on the Vermont Roll at the rate of $26.66 per annum."

BENJAMIN FAIRCHILD

Sworn to, Sept. 23, 1854

Wm. Weston, Justice of the Peace

The Chittenden County Probate Court appointed Mr. Fairchild administrator and instructed him to file an inventory (but in 1937 the compiler could not find any inventory in the Probate Court office).

5-38 IRA OWEN[5] (Elijah,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Elijah and Olive (Bemon) Owen (F4-21), was born about 1774 at Poultney, Rutland County, Vermont. (Poultney records were lost in a fire.) He was probably named after his father's friend Ira Allen, Surveyor General of the province. In May 1773 Ira Allen surveyed three pieces of land for Elijah Owen.

He removed with his parents to Milton, Chittenden County, Vt., in 1787-88. He married 1 Jan. 1806 at Milton, BETSY CASTLE, daughter of Daniel and Lydia (Pitcher) Castle. Probably a sister of Mehitable, the first wife of Ira's brother Julius Augustus. Betsy was born about 1779.

Since there is no record of his estate in the Probate Office at Burlington, it is probable that they moved into New York state about 1810.

Children:

i. IRA, JR.[6], b. 26 Oct. 1806; d. 10 July 1812 (Milton cemetery).
ii. HERMAN (Heman?), b. ———; d. before 1879.

5-39 SARAH OWEN-ALLEN[5] (Elijah Owen,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), daughter of Elijah and Patience (Wright) Owen (F4-21), was born 18 July 1748 at Salisbury, Conn. She was married 17 March 1768 at Salisbury to HEBER ALLEN, son of Joseph and Mary Allen. He was descended from Samuel Allen, who died at Windsor, Conn. in 1648.

He was born at Cornwall, Conn. 11 Oct. 1743. He and his brothers Ethan and Ira owned an iron smelting furnace at Salisbury. In 1773 he bought out the share of his brother Ethan. About the same time he settled in Poultney, Rutland County, Vermont. He became the first Town Clerk and served until his death.

He served in the Revolution with the title of Major.

He died at Poultney 10 April 1782. His wife then kept house for his brother Ira at Highpoint, Franklin County, Vermont. In 1800 Ira Allen was living at Moncton, Addison County, Vermont.

5-40 PHEBE OWEN-ASHLEY[5] (Elijah Owen,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), daughter of Elijah and Patience (Wright) Owen (F4-21), was born 1 March 1753 at Salisbury, Conn. and died 1798 at Milton, Vt. She removed with her parents to Poultney, Rutland County, Vermont in 1771. She was married there 21 Oct. 1773 to ENOCH ASHLEY, who was born 25 Nov. 1750 at Rochester, Plymouth County, Mass., son of Thomas and Mary Gifford (Bodfish) Ashley. His brother Elisha Ashley settled in Milton, Vt. and kept an inn.

Along with the Owens he served in the Revolution from Poultney in 1780 and 1781. (See Vermont Rolls, pp. 160, 236, 477, 592.) His name appears on the Tax Rolls at Poultney for the years 1781-87.

In 1788 they and the family of his father-in-law removed to Milton, Chittenden County, Vermont. Enoch became the first Town Clerk and served until 1796. His wife died about 1798 and he went to New York state soon after that, while his children stayed at Milton.

5-41 ANNA OWEN-CASWELL[5] (Elijah Owen,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), daughter of Elijah and Olive (Beman) Owen (F4-21), was born at Salisbury, Litchfield County, Conn. 27 Aug. 1765. She removed with her parents successively to Poultney, Vt. and to Milton, Vt. She was married in 1787 or 1788 at Milton to SOLOMON CASWELL, son of Nathan and Polly, who had moved from Middlebury, Conn. to Milton. They were the fourth family to settle in Milton. Solomon was born in Conn. 5 Dec. 1763 and died at Milton 16 Feb. 1845.[3]

Solomon was first married to Betsy Meeker, daughter of Daniel Meeker of Milton. She lived only a year after her marriage.

Children of Solomon and Ann (Owen) Caswell:

i. HANNAH, b. 6 Sept. 1788; d. Sept. 1834; m. Daniel Loomis; removed to Joliet, Illinois.

ii. NATHAN, b. 19 June 1790.

iii. POLLY, b. 30 May 1792; d. 27 Sept. 1818; m. to A. Austin.

iv. ELCY, b. 3 March 1794; married E. Austin, brother of the above.

v. SOLOMON, JR., b. 26 Feb. 1796; d. 12 Feb. 1892.

vi. LETTY, b. 13 June 1798; d. 27 May 1883; m. John Parker.

Solomon Caswell, Sr. married a third time: HANNAH BOWEN; they had one child:

vii. HORACE, b. ———; m. Lucy Stearns Rogers; their grand-daughter, Mary Hope Caswell of New York City, has furnished this information (1938). Address: 128½ East 54 St.

5-42 JOSHUA OWEN[5] (Joshua,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Joshua and Hannah ( ) Owen (F4-22), was born 15 Oct. 1760 at Salisbury, Conn. and died 29 Oct. 1829 at West Monroe (now Oswego County), N. Y., buried in Owen-Phillips-Lord plot, an abandoned cemetery on the side of the road between Wentworth's Farm and Oneida Lake. (See Vol. 31, Church, Cemeteries, and Town, p. 343,

3. W. S. Ramm: History of Chittenden County, Vt.

D A R Mss in State Library, Albany, N. Y.) He married probably after 1790 ELIZABETH ———.

In 1796 Joshua Owen and his cousin Gideon Owen and two Carpenters owned adjoining tracts of land in Pompey, Onondaga County, N. Y. Joshua owned portions of Lots 83 and 68. In 1809 he sold 15 acres, part of Lot 68 to Elihu Barber for $120.00.

According to the U. S. Census of 1800 Joshua was classified as under 45 years of age. His age is written in above the blank as 39. His family consisted of himself and his wife.

In 1817 Joshua and Elizabeth Owen sold land, part of Lot 68, Pompey, to Isaac Carpenter and wife Hannah, taking a mortgage. In 1823 they defaulted and Joshua foreclosed. Joshua and Elizabeth were described as residents of Township of Constantia, Oswego County. In May 1823 he sold part of Lot 83 in Pompey to his son Abraham.

Children:

i. ABRAHAM, b. 25 Oct. 1800; d. 5 Oct. 1850; m. Jane, b. 11 June 1800. On 13 June 1824 the State of New York confirmed to him a grant of all of subdivision 3 of Lot 83 Pompey, containing 103 acres. Signed by Joseph C. Yates, governor. (Onondaga Deed Bk. 68, p. 314.)

ii. ISAAC, husband of Susan (but Isaac may have been son of Abraham. See cemetery inscriptions).

5-43 ELIPHALET OWEN, JR.[5] (Eliphalet,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Eliphalet and Eunice Owen (F4-23), born probably at Lebanon, Conn. before parents moved to Salisbury, hence before 1760. He married ——— 1780.

Eliphalet, Jr. served in the Revolution. He enlisted 5/19/1777 for the term of the War, and was discharged 1 March 1782. He served in Capt. Kirkland's Company, Col. Meggs' sixth Regiment, and during 1781 in the fourth Regiment as a Private.

He received supplies from Salisbury 1777-79, also town bounties 1777-79. In 1780 he was listed as being married and he received family supplies.

Either he or his father was living in Coxsackie Township, Albany County, N. Y. in 1790. His family is given thus: 2-1-3-0: himself and one male over 16; 1 son under 16; his wife and two daughters.

He secured a grant of land in the military tract in Onondaga County, N. Y. and was living there in 1800. His family was given as consisting of himself (over 45) and his wife (over 45).

5-44 GIDEON OWEN[5] (Eliphalet,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Eliphalet and Eunice ( ) Owen (F4-23), was born 23 June 1765 at Salisbury, Conn. (Salisbury 1/55, V. R.) and died 17 March 1834 in Madison County, N. Y. He married 11 March 1785 at Pittstown, N. Y. (Rev. Samuel Halstead officiating) NANCY ———, b. 1766. (She had a sister, Phebe Griswold.)

By 1790 his parents had moved to Caxsackie Township, Albany County, and Gideon had moved to Pittstown, Albany County (now in Rensselaer County). Gideon's family consisted of himself, his wife, and a son.

About 1794 or '95 Gideon moved to Pompey in the Military Tract (now in Onondaga County, N. Y.). He was probably accompanied by his parents and his youngest brother Martin. In 1796 Gideon Owen and wife Nancy sold 109 acres, part of Lot 83 in Pompey, to Jeremiah Carpenter of Pittstown, Rensselaer County.

By 1800 Gideon had moved across the line into Sullivan Township, Chenango County (now in Madison County). Years later, in 1819, the government confirmed to him a grant of 229 acres, part of Lot 76 in Sullivan Township. In 1804 Gideon and Nancy sold to Giles Barber of Fabius a parcel of land in Fabius, part of Lot 50 (probably lying close to the County line). The indenture describes Gideon as a resident of Sullivan Township.

Smith's "Our County and its People; Madison County, N. Y." (pub. 1899), p. 47 states: "Gideon Owen was the pioneer on the point of the (Oneida) Lake, 1½ miles east of Bridgeport, in Sullivan County, called Owen's Point."

Gideon served in the Revolution from April 1782 till May 1783 in Capt. Stoddard's Company, Col. Canfield's Connecticut Regt. He was stationed at "Stanwich," Conn., doing garrison duty and engaging in scouting parties against Tories and refugees. His name is included in the Pensioners' List of Connecticut Soldiers in the Revolution, known as Draper's Index, p. 21. He made application for a pension in 1818 but did not get it till 1831, to take effect 4 March 1831. He died three years later. His widow Nancy continued to get it.

Children:

i. WILLIAM, b. ca. 1786; d. unm. 17 April 1836.

ii. MARTIN, b. 1787; m. Diantha ——— (no probate record); living in Sullivan Twp., Madison Co., 1844.

iii. "POLLY" b. 1790; m. William S. Owen of Constantia.

iv. SYNTHIA, m. Philip Roach; living in Sullivan Twp. 1844.

v. SALLY, b. 1796; m. Martin Phillips; living in Sullivan Twp. 1855. Daughter Sally, b. 1843.

vi. ISAAC, b. ca. 1798; m. Rhoda ———. In 1835 gave quit-claim deed on their interest in his father's estate to Martin Phillips. By 1844 had moved to Wisconsin.

5-45 MARTIN OWEN[5] (Eliphalet,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Eliphalet and Eunice ( ) Owen (F4-23), was born in 1776 at Salisbury, Conn.,[4] and died 3 June 1859 in Town of Williamstown, near Mayville, Wisconsin. He married 1801 THANKFUL KING, born 1777 and died 1864.

By 1790 he had moved with his parents to Coxsackie Township, Albany (now Green) County, N. Y. Witness the 1790 Census. About 1794 or '95 the family moved to Pompey in the Military Tract (now in Onondaga County) along with his older brother Gideon Owen and possibly with other families, some from western Massachusetts.

In 1800 he must have been living in Sullivan Township, Chenango (now Madison) County. On 1 Feb. 1804 Daniel Ross and wife Charlotte sold for $100 a tract of 50 acres, part of Lot 26 in Hannibal Township, Onondaga County, to Martin Owen. The deed was witnessed by Joshua and Elizabeth Owen. Joshua was probably his first cousin. Martin's residence is given as Sullivan Township, Chenango County (now in Madison County).

In 1805 the State Council of Appointments named

4. In the absence of documentary proof for the parentage of Martin Owen, the editor accepts strong circumstantial evidence. — R. D. O.

Samuel Foster "captain" and Martin Owen "lieutenant of the militia in Chanango County."

According to Churchill's "Landmarks of Oswego County, N. Y. (p. 826): "The first settlers in West Monroe were Martin Owen and four others. Martin came from Fabius, Onondaga County in 1806 and located on what is now the Julius Beardsley farm, where he remained until 1847 when he moved to Wisconsin." Another history of Oswego County states that he conducted a hotel at West Monroe for some years. This agrees with the family tradition that he drilled his company in the square in front of his hotel (Mrs. Leona Powers Chapman).

The towns Fabius and Tully were once all included in Pompey (now La Fayette).

Martin served in the War of 1812 as captain of a company designated as Captain Martin Owen's Company, Major Jonathan Parkhurst's Battalion, New York Militia. His service commenced 8 Oct. 1814 and he was discharged 4 Nov. 1814 at Henderson Harbor. He was paid to 16 Nov. 1814. His place of residence is shown as Constantia, Oneida County, N. Y.[5]

In 1841 his grown children moved to Wisconsin. In 1847 Martin and family moved to Mayville, Dodge County, Wisconsin and settled in Williamstown Township.

Martin Owen applied 5 Feb. 1851 for bounty land which was due on account of his service in the War of 1812. He was then a resident of Williamstown, Dodge County, Wis. On this application he received warrant No. 33077 for forty acres of land under the Act of 28 Sept. 1850. He applied 30 March 1855 for an additional grant. He received warrant No. 29401 for 120 acres under the Act of 3 March 1855. He sold the rights for $50 each.[6]

Martin Owen died in 1859 and was buried in Graceland Cemetery, Mayville, Wisconsin. The tombstone was in place in 1920 (seen by Ralph Dornfeld Owen) but in August 1932 it had been removed to permit the widening of the street adjacent to the cemetery.

Mrs. Thankful (King) Owen was born in 1777 in Rhode Island. After having been blind for several years, she died at Mayville, Wis., on 30 Sept. 1864, aged 87.

On 5 Feb. 1864 the youngest son Thomas petitioned the Probate Court of Dodge County, at Juneau, Wis., to be made administrator of his father's estate. He listed the following heirs: Solomon, Alvah, Arod, Eunice (Mrs. William Robbinns), Martin, and Thomas.

Children:

F6-67 i. SOLOMON[6], b. 2 March 1802.

ii. HENRY, ; m. Susan Hubbard. Children: Susan[7] and Jane, who married brothers named Vesper. Susan's son Frank Vesper[8] lives in Los Angeles (1935).

iii. MARTIN.

5-46 ISAAC OWEN[5] (probably John,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of John and Deborah (Williams) Owen (F4-24). He is not listed in the U. S. Census for 1790, but the Census of 1800 lists him thus:

Males: 2 under 26; one over 26.

Females: two under 16; one under 26; one over 26.

This probably means that he was the head of his father's family and that his father had died before 1800.

ISAAC, b. 1774 (over 26 years old).

LUTHER, b. 1782 (under 26 years).

LUCY and LOUISA, twins, b. 1785 (under 16).

His wife ANNA (under 26).

Their mother (over 26).

He was married before Oct. 1801 to ANNA ———.

Child:

i. LAURA[6], b. 27 Oct. 1801.

5-47 ETHAN OWEN[5] (probably John,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of John and Deborah (Williams) Owen (F4-24), born at Poultney between 1775 and 1780.

He married at Milton, Vt., 22 January 1801 HANNAH

SEELEY, probably daughter of Benjamin Seeley of Shelburne Township.

The U. S. Census of 1800 lists him as head of a household thus: one male over 16; one female. It is probable that he had a sister keeping house for him at that time.

5-48 ELIZABETH OWEN-HILL[5] (John Owen I,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), daughter of John and Deborah (Williams) Owen (F4-24), was born 6 Aug. 1768 at Salisbury, Conn. Moved with her parents to Poultney, Vt. There she was married 16 April 1788 to BENJAMIN HILL. In 1795 her father at Milton deeded land to them at Poultney. For a few years they lived in Granville, Washington County, N. Y., just across the Vermont line. Here were born their two oldest children, Chloe and Clarissa.

After 1795 they followed her father, John Owen, to Milton, Vt. Eight children were born at Milton.

Benjamin Hill was born 12 March 1765, probably in Connecticut, and probably the son of William. He died 14 Nov. 1823 at Milton and was buried in the "Plain" Cemetery. He was a farmer. Elizabeth, the widow, later married Andrew Ellis. She died at Colchester, near Milton, 5 Jan. 1848, and was buried in the Congregational cemetery at Colchester.

Children by first marriage (surname Hill):

i. CHLOE[6], b. 31 Oct. 1789 at Granville, N. Y.; m. Ebenezer Chadwick, Milton, Vt.

F6-70 ii. CLARISSA, b. 2 Oct. 1791 at Granville, N. Y.; m. Ethan Austin, Milton, Vt.

F6-71 iii. ELIZABETH, b. 25 Jan. 1794 at Milton, Vt.

5-49 SAMUEL OWEN, JR.[5] (Samuel,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Samuel and Lois (Calkins) Owen (F4-25), was born 8 July 1767 at Salisbury, Conn., and died 11 Dec. 1814 at Amenia, Dutchess County, N. Y. Apparently an epidemic struck the community, for his grown children, Harriet and Henry, died at the same time. They are buried in Spencer's Corners Burying Ground near Amenia. He married about 1790 ANNA (VOSBURGH?). After his death, his wife and his son Calvin refused to serve as his administrators, and so the Court appointed Alexander Neely.[7]

Children:

i. CALVIN[6], b. 1791; d. 20 March 1821; m. 15 Feb. 1815 at Amenia, N. Y. Nancy Allerton, daughter of David and Janet (Montgomery) Allerton, who had moved from Canterbury, Conn. to Amenia in 1786. Nancy was born 10 Oct. 1790 and died in Madison County, N. Y. in 1842. They lived in Madison County but he was buried at Amenia. She married (2) Martin of Greene County.

ii. HENRY (twin?), b. 1792; d. 16 Dec. 1814. Letters of Adm. issued to Anna Owen, 3 March 1819.

Y. and died 19 Dec. 1866 in South Valley, Cattaraugus County, N. Y. She was married 27 July 1815 to Ephraim Morrison, son of James and Margaret (Rice) Morrison, born 17 Jan. 1784 in the valley of the Juniata River, Central Penna. He moved with his parents to Warren County. He was listed there as a taxpayer in 1816. In 1820 they crossed the state line and became some of the early settlers of South Valley Township in southwest New York. He took a tract of 156 acres of lumberland and cleared 26 acres. They lived for ten years on Saw Mill Run. In 1843 they tried their fortune in the West. While their three older sons remained behind, the rest of the family loaded their bare necessities on a lumber raft, and floated down to Pittsburgh. From here they drove a covered wagon and a span of black horses to Des Moines. After raising one crop of wheat, the entire family was stricken with yellow fever. All recovered except the father. He died 11 Aug. 1845.

The widow was obliged to abandon the farm, as land was too cheap to sell it. She drove the same team back home to Penna. with a load of wheat and a little furniture.

Arriving in South Valley they moved in to the home of her son Hiram Morrison.

They lived at Westfield and Southwick. He was prominent in local affairs: in March 1785 he served as surveyor; in April 1791 he was elected selectman and served till 1805.

In Sept. 1805 he represented the Baptists on a Committee to "propose some way by which the Baptists and Presbyterians can be reconciled relative to the use of the Meeting House." The committee recommended that each denomination occupy it for three months at a time alternately. This was adopted and kept in force till 1824, when the Baptists were able to erect their own building.

In 1812 he served as representative from Southwick to the General Court.

ii. JOHN, b. 9 May 1800 at Torrington, Conn. He removed with his parents to Ohio in 1805. As a young man he returned to Connecticut and studied under the Rev. Moses Halleck, to prepare for college. He gave up the idea of entering college and returned to Ohio. He learned the tanner's trade. He married (1) 21 June 1820, Diantha Lush of Portage County, Ohio. She died 10 Aug. 1832. He married (2) 11 July 1833 Mary Anne Day of Northern New York, who was then only seventeen years old.

When the Kansas-Nebraska Bill was passed by Congress in 1854, virtually inviting open war between the Slavery men and the Anti-Slavery men, the Abolitionists of Massachusetts and Connecticut organized an Emigrant Aid Society. Among the Anti-Slavery people who rushed to Kansas, John Brown soon became a leader. A few years later, 16 Oct. 1859, he made his ill-fated attempt to start an uprising of the slaves by capturing the U. S. Arsenal at Harper's Ferry. He was captured, convicted of treason, and on 2 Dec. 1859 was hanged. The Abolitionists throughout the North observed the day as one of mourning. His execution contributed to hastening the Civil War.

In accordance with his request, his remains were taken to his home at North Elba (now Lake Placid), N. Y., and buried at the foot of a great rock. Today the State of New York has made the farm into a State Park. The Masons of Northern New York annually celebrate his birthday. In 1939 Dr. Ralph Dornfeld Owen, the editor of this book, was the speaker.

6-4 ABRAHAM OWEN[6] (Edward,[5] Asahel,[4] Josiah,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Edward and Elizabeth (Joy) Owen (F5-2), was born 26 July 1764 at Sheffield, Mass., died 14 Feb. 1813 at Pittsford, Vt. He married at Pittsford in August 1786 MRS. NELLIE BOGUE, widow of William Bogue, whose son, William Bogue, Jr., was born 12 Nov. 1783 at Cambridge, N. Y. She survived Abraham.

On 7 June 1787, Abraham bought of Rufus Montague fifty-five acres of partly cleared land in Pittsford, Vt., on which he built a log house. The roof of his house was covered with elm bark and the floor made of split bass wood logs, laid with the flat surface up and then dressed as evenly as possible. Later he built another log house in which he lived two years, then purchased more land and there built a house in which he lived seven years. Later he bought the Mosher farm and built in 1811 the house in which he died two years later. These purchases adjoined, and after building his last house, he moved the house built third and used it as a horse barn. The first two being of logs stood for many years before being torn down.[1]

6-6 JOEL OWEN[6] (Dr. Joel,[5] Noah,[4] Josiah,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Joel and Anne (Buell) Owen (F5-3), was born 13 April 1771 at Hebron, Conn. (Hebron V. R. 2-219), and died 1821 at New Lyme Township, Ohio. He married 1794 in Tolland County, Conn., MOLLY .

The first settlers of New Lyme Township, Ashtabula County, Ohio, 1803. The township was organized as "Lebanon" 1 April 1813. The name was changed to "New Lyme" in 1825. Joel Owen was the first Treasurer.

In 1803 Joel received a grant of 1000 acres and in the fall of that year began the journey to his far western home, with a wagon drawn by oxen. Owing to the inclemency of the season, bad roads, etc., he left his family, which at that time consisted of a wife and two children, at Amsterdam, N. Y., and came on to this township.

During the winter he erected the first house in New Lyme, a small log structure with the regulation "puncheon" floor, and rived shingle roof. He returned in the spring for the family. Came up the Mohawk and along Lake Ontario to Buffalo in an open boat, thence to Ashtabula, to Austinburg and Morgan to their cabin, where they arrived Aug. 13, 1804 and nine months from the time of "breaking camp" in Connecticut.

For nearly seven years they lived seven miles from the next neighbor.

6-11 SOLOMON OWEN[6] (Abel,[5] Isaac,[4] Josiah,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Abel and Anna ( ) Owen (F5-8), of Pompey, Lafayette, and Palermo, brickmason, born at Old Canaan, Berkshire County, Mass., 7 April 1770, died at Palermo, Oswego County, N. Y., 26 Aug. 1855, aged 85 years. He married first, at Pompey, in 1793, LOIS ROUND, died 15 Dec. 1824, daughter of Comfort and Silent Round; and secondly, at La Fayette 26 May 1825 LUCY ALLEN, who was born 1790 and died 1877.

Solomon Owen went to Pompey in 1792 with James Sherman, a Rev. soldier, of Berkshire County, Mass., and later of Stephentown. In 1792 he and his brothers built a log house on Lot No. 26, Homer, which his father Abel had bought in May 1791.

On 23 May 1793 Cornelius Glenn sold to Joseph Annin Lot 75, Pompey, 600 acres. On 15 October 1797 Joseph Annin, esquire, of the village and county of Cayuga, sold to Solomon Owen, farmer, of the town of Pompey, county of Onondaga, for $300 a parcel of land, 120 acres being part of Lot No. 75 in the township of Pompey. On 26 October 1799 Joseph Annin appeared before Judge Elishu Lewis and the judge allowed the deed to be recorded.

Solomon and Lois Owen of County Onondaga, N. Y., bought from Benjamin Hungerford of the same county, for $186, part of Lot No. 75 in Town of Pompey, containing 66 acres. Signed and sealed in the presence of Joseph Butler 16 Sept. 1799. On 17 Aug. 1806 Solomon and Lois Owen appeared before Asa Danforth, judge of Onondaga County, and acknowledged the transaction. Hence Judge Danforth ordered it recorded.

On 24 September 1801 Solomon and Lois Owen of Pompey for $340 sold part of Lot No. 76 to Luther Wright of Pompey. On the same day Solomon Owen acknowledged the deed before Judge Elijah Miller and the latter ordered the deed recorded.

Solomon owned a brickyard on his farm between his home and the home of Ebenezer Hill, and made high-grade bricks for building purposes. Two Colonial-style houses built of these hand-made bricks about 1810 for Solomon Owen and Ebenezer Hill by John Woodruff, Sr., contractor, still stand on Lots 75 and 76, which is now in the town of Lafayette. The Hill home is owned by Florence R. Hill and Robert Hill, great-grandchildren of Ebenezer Hill, and the Cherry Valley turnpike crosses its beautiful meadow not far from the house.

Solomon Owen and his family lived at the home (which was in that part of Pompey which became Lafayette in 1825) until 1836, when he sold the brick house and 225 acres of land to Calvin Cole, and with his family and married children went to Palermo. The old farm at Lafayette was in 1935 the home of George Palmer.

6-12 LEWIS STILES OWEN[6] (Abel,[5] Isaac,[4] Josiah,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Abel Owen and his first wife (F5-8), was born 2 May 1772 probably in King's District, N. Y., and died 30 Jan. 1849 at Homer, Cortland Co., N. Y.; buried in Glenwood Cemetery. He married 3 Aug. 1798 at the First Presbyterian Church of Troy, N. Y., MARY BELL, who was born 3 Aug. 1774 in New York City and died 26 Sept. 1858 at Homer. He completed the course in Williams Academy at Petersburg, N. Y., and then studied medicine at Albany.

Abel Owen deeded land to his son, Dr. Lewis S. Owen, who, according to Goodman's History of Cortland County, built upon it the first frame house in Homer Village. This does not necessarily mean that the house as it now stands was entirely built in 1808, the back part is the very oldest part as that is a "framed building," whereas the brick front suggests a period somewhere between 1812 and 1820.

Dr. Lewis Owen remained the owner of the house until his death in 1849 when it passed to Dr. Robert Carter Owen. From that time it has experienced a variety of ownerships and was recently purchased by G. Fred Beaudry who restored the house in keeping with its former fine dignity (1935).

An interesting story is told of Dr. Lewis S. Owen when in the early days of Homer he traversed the rough roadways of the forest-covered country in pursuit of his professional duties.

One day he was called to a patient in a log-cabin quite remote from his home. His wife, who enjoyed sharing his adventures, begged to go with him. "All right," he said, "You will have to take the baby and pillion with me on the horse." The journey was made but on the return trip the forest trees hedged them about with deep shadows. Mrs. Owen thought she heard a little child crying behind them and turned her head to look. Dr. Owen whipped up his horse. "Don't look behind you," he shouted, "look straight ahead and when we get to our house, jump and run for the door as fast as you can and shut the door behind you."

It was a huge, whining panther which had followed them to the very threshold of their home.

Dr. Lewis Owen was president of the board of trustees of Homer Academy.

In 1797 the state legislature of New York passed a law authorizing the chancelor or the chief justice of the probate court to license physicians and surgeons upon evidence of two years' study (by apprenticeship). On 4

April 1806 the legislature enacted a law incorporating county medical societies for the purpose of regulating the practice of physic and surgery.

In pursuance of this act in August 1808 the Cortland County Medical Society was formed at the home of Enos Stimson in the village of Homer. The following officers were elected: Dr. Lewis Stiles Owen, president; Dr. John Miller, vice president; Dr. James Searl, secretary; Dr. Robert Taggard, treasurer.

In 1810 this society issued the fist license to practice to Dr. Levi Boies of Cortland. In 1816 Miles Goodyear of Cortland earned the M. D. degree at Yale Medical College and thus was the first member of the society who earned a degree from a college. From time to time the society adopted a schedule of fees. His son, Robert Carter, was executor of his will in 1849.

6-13 RODERICK OWEN[6] (Abel,[5] Isaac,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Abel and Anna Owen (F5-8), was born at New Lebanon 20 Nov. 1777; died at Homer 5 Sept. 1849; married 9 Nov. 1779 LAVINIA DAVISON of Grafton, daughter of Asa Davison, a soldier in the French and Indian War and in the Revolution.

In June 1792 Roderick helped his brothers Solomon and Lewis build a log house for their father Abel Owen on Lot 26 in Town of Homer, Onondaga County, N. Y.

In 1798 he and his wife were living with his father's family on Lot 26, for his mother had died in 1797. They had then 120 acres of improved land on the 600 acre lot.

Roderick Owen built his home on a part of Lot 26, Homer, which his father had given him in 1799. The Census of 1800 shows that the family of Roderick Owen consisted of himself, his wife, and one son under 16.

On 17 Dec. 1849 the widow filed a petition to administer Roderick's estate, in which she named all the heirs. The court appointed her son-in-law, Daniel Dennison, administrator.

Owen (F5-9), was born about 1790 at Canaan, Columbia County, N. Y. He married 19 March 1814 CHLOE HATCH of King's District (now Lebanon Springs) in Columbia County, N. Y. It lies 25 miles S. E. of Albany. Chloe was the daughter of Bogardus Hatch and his wife Deborah (Gray) Hatch. She was born 14 April 1793 and she died 16 June 1870.

William went to western New York and settled in Erie County, N. Y. For years he taught school.

William probably is the William Owen who served in the War of 1812 as a private in Capt. James Munger's Company, 129th (Farnham) New York Militia, stationed at Sackett's Harbor. His service began 9 Sept. 1814 and ended 13 Nov. 1814.

After his father's death, 26 March 1821, William gave his brother Salmon a quit-claim deed, presumably to help settle the estate, dated 13 August 1823. William died about 1850. (No probate record in Buffalo—report of Surrogate's Office 1 May 1940.)

But certain lands in Onondaga County, Lot No. 10, ... Township, under the land bounty rights, presumably granted to Jonathan for service in the American Revolution, passed to William. After William's death his widow and his son Edward Franklin Owen sold it in 1854. (Research by Mrs. C. J. Huyck)

Children, born in Erie County, N. Y.:

i. EMELINE, b. ; d. in New York State; m. Samuel Wright of Elton, N. Y.

F7-25 ii. JOHN, b. 1816.

v. ANSON, b. 1824; d. 1904; m. Susan ; lived at North Ridgeville, Ohio (1939). Daughter: Mrs. Theodore Butler, Ridgeville, Ohio.

vi. (?) CHARLOTTE, ; m. 9 Dec. 1845 Stephen Arnold, Buffalo, N. Y. (Foley: Early Settlers of New York, Vol. II, p. 127.)

N. B. In the New Eng. Register for July, 1937, the children of William R. Owen have been confused with those of his brother Salmon. Correct list obtained from Ms. by Henry Judah Rowley, 15 Enfield St., Jamaica Plains, Boston, Mass., dated Sept., 1905. He was a cousin of William Owen.

6-17 SALMON (Solomon) OWEN[6] (Jonathan,[5] Isaac,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Jonathan and Abigail (Strong) Owen (F5-9), was born in 1788 at Lebanon Springs, Columbia County, N. Y. He and his brother, William R. Owen, went to western New York as young men. William settled in Erie County, but Salmon returned and settled on the home place. He married 13 Nov. 1814 ALMIRA HATCH, daughter of Bogardus (1762-1856) and Deborah (Gray) Hatch (1767-1841).[4] Almira was born in 1798 and died in 1832. Salmon died at Lebanon Springs in 1861. (No record of an estate in the Surrogate's office—1 May 1940.)

Children, born at Lebanon Springs:

F7-27 i. SILAS G.[7], b. 19 March 1821.

6-18 ANDREW OWEN[6] (Sylvanus,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah I,[2] John[1]), son of Sylvanus and Eunice (Roberts) Owen (F5-12), was born at Hebron, Conn., 22 April 1769 and died at Bethel, Vt., 17 July 1845. As a child he moved with his parents to Windsor County, Vermont. He is mentioned in Bethel, Vt., Town Records. A deed dated 28 April 1788 certifies that Seth Chase sold to Andrew Owen "of Bethel" Lot 14 in Second Range, West of the Branch. (Book I of Town Records of Land Titles, p. 55.) This is probably the farm upon which he lived all his life and which later passed to his son, David.

It is rather strange that he bought this land before he was twenty-one years of age. One wonders whether he was not buying for his father.

He married 12 Jan. 1797 SARAH (Newman) WALDEN, a widow, who was born 1 Jan. 1775 and died 4 Nov. 1845. The writer has seen several Family Records based upon Andrew's Family Bible.

6-19 LODRICK OWEN[6] (Sylvanus,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Sylvanus and Eunice (Roberts) Owen (F5-12), was born 25 Dec. 1780 at Fairlee, Windsor County, Vermont, and died 26 Oct. 1859 at Colden, Erie County, N. Y. He married 13 Feb. 1813 at Bethel, Vt., HANNAH HALE BATCHELLER, youngest daughter of Capt. Benjamin and Hannah (Burnap) Batcheller. She was born 7 July 1793 at Bethel, whither her parents had recently moved from Brookfield, Mass. She died 8 March 1844 at Colden, N. Y. Lodrick married (2) ANNA GOULD.

In 1809 Lodrick was working in Woodstock, Vt., for in a real estate transfer recorded in Bethel Town Records he is called "Lodrick Owen, yeoman, of town of Woodstock, Windsor County, Vt." He never bought any land at Woodstock. In 1810 he went to western New York and took land about twenty-five miles southeast of Buffalo, in Colden Township, Erie County, in the Cazanovia Valley. He selected 160 acres on the high ground east of the valley and overlooking it, rolling back east in all but a level stretch, a location that reminds one of his father's homestead in Vermont.

"Richard Buffom made the first settlement and built a mill in Colden Township in 1810. Others who came in 1810 were Lodrick Owen, Thomas Pope, and Josiah Brown. The first marriage in the town was that of James Sweet and Charlotte Buffom." (French's Gazetteer of New York State, 1860, p. 289.)

He and his bride traveled to his homestead in Erie County by ox-team. Their route probably was down the Connecticut River through Massachusetts, then west through Albany, then on through Geneva and Batavia to Buffalo.

Lodrick served in the War of 1812. During the year 1814 there was a lively campaign in the area around Niagara Falls. The Americans invaded Canada and tried to win the lower Ontario area. On 5 July 1814 American forces won the Battle of Chippewa in Ontario. They took the British fortress of Erie of Lake Erie and fortified it more strongly.

On 27 July 1814 General Porter, whose home was near Niagara Falls, commander of the New York Militia, issued an appeal for 4000 more volunteers. The next day Lodrick Owen answered the call. He entered the service on 27 July as a member of Capt. Benjamin Clough's Company, 48th Regiment (Warren's), New York Militia.

On 29 July General Drummon, the British Commander, moved his troops forward to surround Fort Erie. Two weeks were consumed by almost daily skirmishes. On 7 August the British brought up their batteries so that they began to bombard the fort, and the American batteries returned the fire.

The battle was so undecisive that both sides prepared for further fighting. The British retired a short distance and dug in.

On 17 September General Brown, the American commander, took advantage of a foggy day to make an attack on the British. The New York militia men formed one wing and did active fighting.

On 21 September the British withdrew to Chippewa. The Americans continued to hold Fort Erie. But General Brown, disappointed in his hope of getting a large force with which to prosecute the campaign, decided to give it up. On 5 November he destroyed Fort Erie and withdrew his troops to the American side.[5]

Lodrick Owen's term of service ended 25 September 1814.

In later years he used to tell his children the story of at least one narrow escape: His company was crossing a body of water in boats. The enemy began firing. One of Lodrick's companions declared that Owen's seat was safer than his. Lodrick got up and exchanged with him. A few minutes later the other man was struck and killed.

Children, born at Colden:

F7-38 i. LOUISA[7], b. 18 April 1814.

F7-34 ii. WILLIAM PITT, b. 16 Dec. 1816.

iii. LAURA, b. 26 Feb. 1818; d. 31 Dec. 1905 at Boston, N. Y. She was married (1) to Alonzo Chase; (2) to John Sims, a widower with two children, John, who died young, and Anna.

After Benjamin Owen's death his widow and some of the children spent some time with Laura and John Sims. The widow always remembered the kindness of John Sims.

After her husband's death, Laura lived in Boston, Erie County, N. Y., near her brother Asa. Her niece, Mrs. Laura Owen Lavin, took care of her. Her mind was clear to the end and she took great interest in all her nephews and nieces.

6-23 "DEACON" ELIPHALET OWEN[6] (Frederick,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Frederick and Margaret (Hibbard) Owen (F5-13), was born 9 May 1784 at Windham, Conn., and died 25 Oct. 1856 at Middlebury, Wyoming County, N. Y. He married (1) 25 Aug. 1808 ABIGAIL HEATH of Genesee, N. Y.; (2) 1825 CLARISSA HAYDEN.

When he was twenty-one years of age he set out for what was then the West. He purchased 100 acres of land in Wyoming County, western New York. While putting up his house he slept in a section of a hollow tree with one end closed and the open end pointing toward the fire, to keep away wild beasts. When the house was completed he went to get his bride.

Abigail Heath was born 15 Aug. 1790. Her father was Stephen Heath, who was born in Massachusetts, and in 1804 moved to Genesee, N. Y. Her mother was Anna Milliman, born in Mass., 30 Nov. 1760, daughter of Bryant Milliman, who was born in Ireland 13 Jan. 1740 and his wife Elizabeth Whitford, born 17 Dec. 1735.

Abigail had comely features and fair complexion, was well educated and had literary tastes and talents, and a love for music. She had uncommon courage and nerve. Though she possessed tender womanly feelings in an eminent degree, still when occasion required, she was resolute and daring.

An instance of this used to be related, that on a day when the neighbors were gathered to assist in the slaughter of hogs, one large hog, who was crazed by the dogs, broke away and charged upon the men and dogs with such fury that he cleared the yard of them. Just then the youthful wife, who had been to the brook for a pail of water, came into the yard. The maddened animal turned upon her. She set down her pail and seizing a gambrel[6] that lay near by, met him with such a well-directed blow as to lay him on his side, ready for slaughter.

Eliphalet was a soldier in the War of 1812. He served as a private in Capt. Jarius Crittenden's Company, Col. Worthy L. Churchill's Regiment of New York Militia. He enlisted on 29 Aug. 1814 and was discharged 29 Sept. 1814. He received a bounty land-warrant for 170 acres of land. He took part in the Battle of 17 Sept. 1814 when the Americans recaptured Fort Erie.

Eliphalet was the founder of the First Baptist Church of Middlebury and remained a deacon until his death. The first baptisms in the congregation were performed on his property. He was also one of the first trustees of Middlebury Academy, the first educational institution of its kind chartered west of the Genesee river.

Eliphalet was deeply religious. Before cutting the first tree on his farm, he knelt at its base and committed himself and his interests to God in prayer.

He was a firm believer in the observance of the Sabbath. He always went to church. He always took a large wagon, so as to provide a way for those who had no conveyance. In later years, when he went in his carriage, he sent his hired man with a wagon to take others that were not provided for.

Eliphalet believed in cultivating religion in his own family. He held family worship daily, and all connected with his family were obliged to be present. The result was that the thirty persons under his roof, embracing his family and his employees, all professed religion.

Abigail Heath, his first wife, died 7 Jan. 1825, committing her family to God.

6. Gambrel, "a stick or iron shaped like a horse's hind leg, used by butchers to suspend slaughtered animals."

Eliphalet married (2) 1825 CLARISSA HAYDEN, who was born 6 Aug. 1784 and died 8 Dec. 1858, daughter of Levi and Margaret (Strong) Hayden. Both the Hayden and Strong families came from Windsor, Conn.

He had nine children by his first marriage and one by his second.

6-36 AMASA OWEN II[6] (Amasa,[5] Jonathan,[4] Joseph,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Amasa and Sarah (Osborn) Owen (F5-23), born 26 Mar. 1793, died at Stepstone, Pendleton County, Ky., 16 Dec. 1869 and was buried in Linden Grove Cemetery, Covington, Ky. He married first, in Clermont County, Ohio, 26 Nov. 1812 SALLY BUTLER, who was living in 1822, when she joined with her husband in conveying land in Clermont County; and later at Covington, Ky., 28 July 1832 JANE (Bodwell) DEARY, widow, who died 30

Nov. 1874 and was buried at Flag Spring, Campbell Co., Ky., near Stepstone, daughter of Joshua Bodwell.

In the United States Census of 1820 Amasa Owen appears as head of a family in Washington Township, Clermont County, Ohio, with a wife aged 26 to 45, and one male and four female children under 10 years of age. His name is found on the tax lists of Clermont County in 1826 and 1827; and soon afterwards he probably settled in Covington, Ky., where for many years he was superintendent of the ferries between Cincinnati and Covington, which were owned and operated by Platt Kennedy. In a Covington directory of 1840 and in the United States Census of 1850 he is recorded as a native of Kentucky (sic). In 1853 he moved, with his family, to Foster's Landing on the Ohio River, in Bracken County, Ky.; and a year or two later he settled on a farm a few miles below, at Stepstone, Ky., on the Ohio River.

Children by first wife, born in Clermont County, Ohio:

i. WASHINGTON[7]. When a young man he migrated to the Territory of Nebraska, and took up a land claim there. His half brother, Orvil Ives Owen, who went with him, soon returned to Kentucky. It is believed that Washington Owen went from Nebraska to the Territory of Washington, and thereafter nothing more was heard from him by his family.

She was a descendant of Deacon John Doane of Plymouth and of Elder William Brewster of the Mayflower.

Ira took his bride to Montpelier where he practiced his profession of Civil Engineer. When the British made their attack on Plattsburg in Sept. 1814, he joined Capt. Timothy Hubbard's Co. of Montpelier Volunteers as a corporal and sailed across Lake Champlain to join General Macomb.

Many bridges in Northern Vermont were built under his direction. He became interested early in the Railroad Movement and on the 22nd of February 1830 was elected a director of the Vermont Railway Association.

He was a prominent member of the Masonic Order. During the time of the Masonic riots due to the Morgan scandals, Ira was one of the committee which disbanded the Aurora Lodge of Montpelier in 1834.

His short life was one of great activity and he had set the foundation for great wealth. His railroad activities were sound and honest and much that he had sown was reaped by others.

He is buried with his wife in the Elm Street Cemetery in Montpelier. His grave is marked by a marker showing his services in the War of 1812.

6-63 MEHITABLE OWEN-WOODS[6] (Julius Augustus Owen,[5] Elijah,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), daughter of Julius Augustus and Mehitable (Castle) Owen (F5-37), was born at Milton, Vt., 28 Sept. 1811, named after her mother, who died at her birth. She died in September 1891 at Fairfield, Jefferson County, Iowa. She married (1) HOWARD COOPER, probably at Bombay, Franklin County, N. Y., divorced; (2) GEORGE M. FOX 27 June 1839 at Harvard, Illinois, who died in 1844; (3) PARRISH ELLIS in 1847, who died in 1850. She married (4) JOEL WOODS in 1857. They lived together a year. Then she bought him a prospector's outfit and he left for the gold fields of Colorado. He was accidently killed near Fort Whipple, Arizona, and was buried there. No children.

In January 1934 the Fairfield, Iowa, paper carried a complete account of "Major" Hettie Ellis Woods' services in the Civil War.

In October 1861 the U. S. Army Sanitary Commission issued an appeal to the "Loyal Women of America," asking them to help take care of the sick and wounded by providing, in a systematic way, the articles most needed for their comfort. Accordingly the women of Fairfield organized a "Woman's Aid Society." On 1 May 1862 Mrs. Woods took charge of a shipment of food and clothing which she took to the hospital at Keokuk, Ia. In January 1863 she took 5,000 pounds of supplies to the hospitals at St. Louis. In March 1862 she took 5,000 pounds, which she distributed among the Third Iowa Cavalry regiment at Pilot Knob, Mo., the Fourth Iowa Cavalry regiment at Helena, Ark., and the 30th Iowa Infantry at Vicksburg. Late in November she started out with 7300 pounds. After a month's journey she reached the Second Iowa Infantry at Pulaski, Tenn. She pushed on till she found the 30th Iowa Infantry regiment at Woodsville, Ala.

She made two trips early in 1864 to Little Rock, Ark., and Nashville, Tenn. In Sept. 1864 the commander of the 19th Iowa Infantry appealed for "vegetables and canned fruits to fight scurvy." She started in November and found the Iowa regiment at Fort Gaines, Ala., after three weeks' travel. During the year 1864 the Fairfield Society paid out $1130.00 in cash, of which $840.00 went toward Mrs. Woods' traveling expenses. In Sept. 1865 the society was disbanded, leaving a proud record of devotion and accomplishment.

"Mrs. Woods was one of the few women in the United States who bore a military title, and for several years she was the recipient of a pension."

6-67 SOLOMON OWEN[6] (Martin,[5] Eliphalet,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Captain Martin and Thankful (King) Owen (F5-45), was born 2 March 1802 either in Fabius, Onondaga Co., or Sullivan Township, Madison Co., N. Y. He removed with his parents in 1806 to West Monroe, Oswego County, N. Y. Here he married about 1826 HANNAH NICKERSON, who was born 23 July 1797 at Greenfield, Mass., on the Connecticut river. She was the daughter of Enoch and Jedidiah (Baker) Nickerson.

In 1810 a company of Cape Cod fishermen came to West Monroe to engage in salmon fishing upon Lake Oneida, and later they turned to farming. Among them were Enoch Nickerson and family. Enoch was living in Harwich, Barnstable County, Mass. (Cape Cod), in 1790. Next he lived for a few years 1796-1800 at Greenfield, Mass. In 1810 he settled at West Monroe, N. Y. (Dennis, Mass., Records)

In 1847 Solomon and his family, accompanied by his parents and their family, removed to Mayville, Wis. Solomon preached regularly in the school house between Mayville and Horicon. He was very generous. Occasionally he endorsed a note for a friend and later, when the latter defaulted, found himself embarrassed. A few years later Solomon and family removed to Thrall, Wright County, Iowa, which is 80 miles north of Des Moines. He died of sunstroke or heart failure while working in the field. The horses came home without him and he was found dead. He died at Thrall in Oct. 1887; she died there in 1889, both probably buried at Goldfield, Ia.

LETTER FROM ABIJAH CHAUNCEY OWEN (who Died at Sacramento City, California, 12 April 1853, Aged 29 Years) TO FRANCIS S. EGLESTON (Born 21 October 1821, Died 3 November 1909)

January 16th 51
Among the Mountains
CALAVERAS CO.
CALIFORNIA

Cousin Francis

I received your line by express last week, and was very glad to hear from you and to hear that your prospects were much better than many others. You wrote you wished me to tell you, when I were going home and you would go with me if convenient. I should like to go with you very much. But do not know when I shall leave this Country. It will depend upon circumstances. My circumstances are different from yours and most others, I hope. You did not write wheather you had received any letters from home since you have been in this Country or not. I have not heard from home since I wrote you before. The miners are not doing much in this vacinity. They are waiting for water and the prospect is not very favorable provided we had water. I think I may go in to the garden business but have not decided for certainty yet. The Indians have been very troublesome in this vacinaty and have stolen nearly all the Horses and Mules about here. The 29th of Dec. there was ninety-five of us met to go and fight the Indians at the Stanis Lous River 30 miles from here, we went to Me Kennas diggins the first day and lay by until the next night at dark, and then marched until one O'Clock A M so as not to be discovered by the scamps, the next morning we marched within two or three miles of the Rancheree and camped at night we made several large fires and most of us had lain down for the night when the Indians pored in a volley of balls—shot and arrows, one ball passed over me and hit the man who lay by my side in the shoulder we returned the fire (it was very dark) aiming at the flash of their guns as near as possible, and then retreated back from the fire some behind rocks others behind chaperell bushes and trees, where we stayed until 12 O'Clock when some of the men said they had as live be shot as freeze to death so they began to string along back to the fire, and stretch themselves out again before the fire in a short time they were nearly all back except those that stod on guard, some were in a drows others were shivering with the cold, the ground was frosen very hard and some had no coats nor blankets you can imagin the situation we were in when the Rascals pored in the second volly of balls shot and arrows and then gave the war hoope and rushed down upon us we returned the fire and then retreated to our old hiding places and watched for daylight, when daylight came no Indians were to be seen and most of the company were out of provisions and it was thought best for us to return and get more recruits and provisions, all of our camp were in favor of going on to attact the Rancherree without provisions which would take two days before we should get where we could get grub, no lives were lost but several were slightly wounded Jan. 5th there was another party started of 185 and atacked the ranch and killed some six or eight and the rest escaped or varmosed the ranch. Old Casonce an Indian Chief (who is friendly to the whites) has raised a party of warriers to give the Stanislous Indians fits. He has not returned yet and I dont know how he will come out.

This is the way I spent New Years a little different from the watch meetings in the old Bay State. There has been a cave discovered ten miles from here which is a head of the mamoth cave in beauty and grandeur but not quite so large. I cannot give you much of a description of this cave now, there are some ten or 15 apartments some as white as chalk all of cristalised rock, this cave is some 12 or 15 hundred feet long and suposed to be two hundred feet deep or below the cirfice.

Remember me to Col L B Walkley and D Lamberton. Write me as soon as you receive this and let me know how you get along and what the news is in Westfield and when you are going home.

From Your Cincere Friend A C Owen

7-4 AMASA OWEN[7] (Abraham,[6] Edward,[5] Asahel,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Abraham and Nellie (Bogue) Owen (F6-4), was born at Pittsford, Vt., 17 April 1792; living in the West about 1872; m. in New Brunswick, in 1818, MARY MCKEEL. He served in the War of 1812, the records of the War Department showing that Amasa Owen, carpenter, aged 20, b. at Pittsford, Vt., enlisted for five years, 8

July 1812, as a private in the Eleventh United States Infantry, and left the Army at Williamsburg 11 Nov. 1813. The facts are that, as a member of Captain Hawley's company, Colonel Clark's regiment, he was at Sackett's Harbor at the time of the British attack, 29 May 1813, and in the Battle of Williamsburg, 11 Nov. 1813, he was wounded in the thigh by a musket ball and was taken prisoner by the enemy. He was taken to Prescott, where his wound was dressed and he remained a short time in the hospital. Then he was taken to Montreal, and thence to Quebec and Halifax, and was confined in a prison on Melville Island. He escaped from prison, lived for some time in New Brunswick, where he married, and came back to Pittsford, with his family, in 1824. He remained there, however, but a short time, and about 1872 was living in the West. (Cf. Caverly's History of the Town of Pittsford, Vt., Rutland, 1872, p. 366.)

to his brother Frederick Mandred at Nanticoke, Pa.

Dear Brother:

You see I have commenced with the cart before the horse, but I'll get my team righted before I get through if I don't have to stop too often to mend my pen. I am well, Malinda and Charley and Johny are also well, and knowing the blessing of health and having fraternal regards for you and yours, we hope you are all well also. How this may be we know not, for we have not heard from you but once since you were married, by letter. I had a letter from Lovina (probably their sister Lovina Owen Denison) last fall and the friends were all well in Oran and Homer, at that time; yet Lovina and mother were coming out here, then, but I have not seen them yet so I suppose they have put it off till next fall. I think I shall go there myself before that time, I was in Oran, Bridgeport, and Homer a year ago last summer, and should have been glad to have gone down to see you but I could not leave home long enough to go then. Pleasant to see you and your wife and children, and if my life is spared, I hope still to see you. Come and see me and bring along your wife and children. I have not much to write, as news. But you will like to know how I am getting along, I suppose. I am poor though I have a house and two half acre lots joining together. The last year I bought the second half acre and built a barn on it last summer. I paid about $100.00 half acre. I should be glad to sell the whole for $600.00 and go to Michigan or Bally Hack. I have a good horse and cow, killed two hogs last fall; one weighed 325 and the other 347 lbs. and a pig that weighed 119 lbs; we made about 75 lbs. of sausages, and I put about 3 ton of hay in my barn, so you see I and the cattle stand a faint chance of getting through the winter. I have not written this in a spirit of boasting, only I suppose you would like to know how I live and behave, which is very natural.

I have called it mine, but I lied like a sinner. I have nothing, nay, not a cent of my own, it all belongs to God, and I have the stewardship of it the few short days it may remain in my hands. Thus I have written on this side (of the paper) as my mind seems to run. But on the other side I shall write on the subject that lies very near my heart, being a true Washingtonian, alias a reformed drunkard.

That bliting curse, that fiend of Hell, that mildew of damnation, that has fallen on the happiness, domestic and civil, and I may say, spiritual—for it has dragged its millions, we know, down to Hell—

I hope has been stamped out of its disguise and we now as a nation and people, see intemperance in all its deformity.—The Baltimore reformed drunkards have done more toward banishing drunkards from our land than all the clergy in the United States. They have told us the tales of our misery.

We have a member of the Washingtonians in the church of which I have been an unworthy member for the last two years. Go to him with a glass of the beer of madness or the cider of ruin, or the stronger drinks that sting of ruin, odium, delirium tremens, and death, and get that man to drink a drop if you can. 40 apples make a peck if they are large enough, 40 drinks make a mad man. It takes just as many strokes to fell an oak as it does drinks to kill a man.

There is a fountain of death in every glass. If I had not a friend in the world, I will be my own friend. I will respect myself. If I had no soul to save, I still would not be a drunkard, No, My God—I should not dare to look toward the heavens, the smile of innocence would be a dagger in my heart, demons would lurk in every tankard, become so transformed, I should be awfully afraid of myself. My God, strip me of every earthly enjoyment, friend connections, health, wealth, reputation, let me die in a poor-house, afflict me with any disease but delirium tremens, let my flesh waste off my bones, but don't let me die a drunkard, O my God, don't let me die a drunkard.

The Pledge, O that is the talisman that has saved me from a drunkard's grave and given me health, friends, reputation, honor, business skill and all I have, I am, and religion too. I hope I know that if I am faithful to God and my pledge—I shall one day walk the Golden Streets of Paradise of God, sing the song of the redeemed, shout Victory over death, Hell and the grave, and the inebriating cup. O God make me faithful to keep me till the day of Thy coming, then gather me with my poor old father, my mother, my dear brothers and sisters, their husbands, wives, and bring them all, let not one go down to a drunkard's grave, and from thence to Hell.

Perhaps you think me enthusiastic. Well, I am but my enthusiasm is in the right vein and I will continue it and not give you the appearance only, for how do I know but you are a Methodist yourself as well as myself. If you believe that our Mother's prayers and tears and anxiety avail before God, you too would be converted long ago. You know now a parent's anxiety. Dear brother Mandred, let not your mother's prayers be in vain. If you have not already repented of your sins before God, be converted—believe in Jesus Christ, sign the pledge, join the temperance society. If there is none in your place, make one yourself, put your name at the top and get all your friends and neighbors to join with you. Do all you can; you are bound to do that. No more will your children call you anything but just blessed. Then shall your path be strewn with flowers, everywhere smiles around you, over you, beneath your feet. God bless you, Mandred. I pray for you and all your family every single day. Pray for me, and if time shall never bring us together, O may we meet all in one place, when eternity shall gather us, and that place be heaven. So ever will pray

Your affectionate brother,

ALANSON OWEN.

Write to me soon and write long, our love to your wife and children. It is now ½ past 10 P. M. adieu.

DR. ALANSON OWEN (b. 1803; d. 1880), Pembroke, N. Y., letter May 13, 1879 to FREDERICK MANDRED OWEN at Cortland.

Dear brother:

If you knew what a job it is to write with a bad eye or rather with two bad eyes, you would not wonder that I wrote so seldom. My health is not first rate. I am about used up for the present. I hope to be better by and by. If I don't improve, it is all just as well. I have had my day, so I won't grumble. I take things as they come.

I want to get three or four letters in exchange for this one, anyhow, "Amen."

Affectionately yours,

ALANSON OWEN

ALMOND OWEN, 125 Bayview St., Milwaukee, January 4, 1882. Letter to FREDERICK MANDRED OWEN.

Dear Brother and Family:

Last summer I made a journey to Dakota. I visited my oldest son John Augustus, who lives at De Smet, the county seat of Kingsbury County. After practising law in Chicago fourteen years he is now at De Smet, farming and practising law. In Chicago he did some services for the Chicago and Northwestern R. R. with which they were so well pleased that, when they got control of the charters of the Winona and St. Peters R. R. and the Central Dakota R. R., they posted him as to their routes and the plans of their depots. Of this information he took advantage and went and secured a section of land near De Smet, which already valuable, will soon be much more so. There are five other lawyers in the place now, but he does as much business as all the others together.

I secured a timber claim about ten miles from De Smet, and since my return home bought another, five miles from there. A timber claim of ¼ section—160 acres—we pay for by working for ourselves—we have to break up and plant ten acres in trees.

Dakota is a beautiful country with a rich soil and a healthy climate. The principal drawback is the lack of timber and the "blizzards." In the winter in consequence of the dryness of the air and high winds, the snow flies so that one cannot see his way for two rods, and one must have a string from the house to the barn for a guide, to prevent getting lost. Such storms, however, do not last long and are only occasional. Dakota will soon be a rich agricultural state and is settling very fast.

On my return homeward, I stopped and visited brother Edson at Pleasant Grove near Stewardsville, in Olmstead County, Minn.

Best regards to all your children.

Your old brother,

ALMOND.

EDSON OWEN letter to his brother FREDERICK MANDRED, Cortland, N. Y.

Pleasant Grove, Minn.
May 11, 1879

Dear Brother Mandred:

I received your letter of the fifth and was glad to hear from you. I wrote to you a long time ago and got no answer. I made up my mind that you were all dead. . . . I shall be 72 in June. I cannot work on the farm much—my son John works it. But I cut all my wood, I work the garden, milk and churn, do house work in general, keep up the fences, and am at something most of the time.

We are having pretty hard times because our crops failed last season.

Two years ago I went to see my daughter in Illinois. I drove a three year old colt 600 miles. I was gone five weeks. I am afraid of cars (Railroads). I never rode 10 rods on one yet.

We have (on our 80-acre farm) seven horses, two cows, four yearlings, twelve hogs, some hens, rats and mice until we can't rest.

I have not written so long now that I tremble so that I cannot read it after it is written. Now if you can't read it, send it back and I will study it out for you.

Give my love to all and reserve some for yourself. Write soon and give me all the news.

Your brother,
EDSON OWEN.

Y. He married at Buena Vista, Clinton County, Iowa, 29 Oct. 1853, MARCENA KNIGHT, daughter of William and Roxanna (Alger) Knight. She was born 28 Aug. 1835. He died 6 Jan. 1899 and was buried at Calamus, Clinton Co., Iowa. She died 1 April 1895.

At the age of twenty he went West. He had money enough to pay most of his journey. But when he got to the Mississippi River at Fulton, Ill., he didn't have money enough left to pay the toll. So he pawned his shoes for the toll money.

For some years he taught school. Later he took up government land and farmed. But he was by disposition not fitted for farming. In 1871 he moved off his farm in Olivet Township, Clinton County, and settled in Calamus. There was no lawyer in the town at the time. He soon became justice of the peace and notary, and for the rest of his life he was known as "Squire" Owen.

History of Clinton County, Iowa, says of him: "Squire Owen is a man of large ability, eminently fitted for public service. He serves the town from a sense of duty and for the good of the people. He is a man in whose hands the affairs of the public are managed with honesty and liberality, — a man who labors for the best good of each man personally and who strives to fill with honor the position to which he has been appointed. He has won his way by hard labor and strong effort up to the point where he now stands."

He acquired extensive holdings of land. He maintained a very liberal standard of living. His home was the first in the community to have a piano and a brussels carpet.

Letter of WILLIAM PITT OWEN to his younger brother, SYLVANUS.

Watertown, March 23, 1841

Dear and respected Brother:

Having received a letter from you I put myself to write. My health is very good at present and I hope these ill composed lines will find you and the rest of the folks enjoying the same. I have neglected writing some—some on one account and some on another. I received a letter from Louisa but have never answered it. I feel ashamed to mention it; but you must give my respects to her and tell her not to think hard. As for my coming to Colden I know not when it will be. I am like a piece of floodwood in the edge of the ocean—the more the water dashes it about, the farther it gets from shore. But I should like to see you all and mean to yet, if it be the Lord's will. I have had rather bad luck this winter. The saw-mill in which I worked here burned to ashes. I shall not be able to collect anything very soon. I did intend to go to Colden this fall. But however we all are liable to misfortunes, and I suppose you don't care to hear my ill-luck; if you do care, I don't care to tell them. I merely write to tell you that I am still alive, not expecting that you are reading about my nonsense. Read a few lines to know that I am alive, and excuse them as being not just as you please . . .

I have not heard from Buffum since last winter: I have not seen any of my old acquaintances since I have been on Rock River. Times are as hard as ever. We get our money one day, the next it won't go at all. (Paper money issued by wild-cat banks)

You must begin to think some of leaving Colden or settling there. By this time I think you must be twenty-one years old. (Sylvanus was born 5 June 1820) I should like to know what your opinion was concerning roots and herbs. (Joke)

Yours in haste, respected Brother,

WILLIAM

P. S. Tell father that I am as mean and saucy as ever, that I have got a clean shirt and a shilling in money, and calculate to be independent as long as I can raise that.

The letter was not put into an envelope but was written on one side and addressed on the other, and sealed.

SYLVANUS OWEN
Colden, Erie County, N. Y.

Watertown:
24 March:

7-35 SYLVANUS OWEN[7] (Lodrick,[6] Sylvanus,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Lodrick and Hannah (Batcheller) Owen (F6-19), was born 5 June 1820 in the town of Colden, Erie County, New York, about twenty-five miles southeast of Buffalo. After leaving school he worked out under his parent's control until he was twenty-one. Then he undertook to work the fifty-acre farm of his uncle and aunt, Sylvester and Lottie Buffom, who had no children, with the understanding that he was to inherit it. But after two years of work under this agreement, he gave it up and decided to follow his brother William to Wisconsin.

Late in the summer of 1843 he went to Buffalo, intending to take passage in a sailboat to Milwaukee, but he found that it was too late to go all the way; so he went to Detroit by boat and visited his cousins. He engaged to teach a rural school for a term of three months at $12.00 a month and board around. Outside of school hours he helped to do the chores on the farm. The term ended, he had to wait for his money, and he hired out at cutting cordwood. Finally he set out for Wisconsin on foot, by way of Chicago. He not infrequently made forty miles a day. He reached Wisconsin in March 1844 and joined his brother William near Watertown.

He dreamed that his mother died. Several months later, a letter from home stated that she had died on the eighth of March.

The southeastern portion of Wisconsin was heavily wooded. The pioneers had to cut down the wood in order to make plow-land, but they found no market for the wood.

They did what seems very extravagant to us a hundred years later. They burned it, and made potash from the ashes; that was an article for which there was a market. In those days a traveler could count the number of homesteads or find a white man by noting, not the mail-boxes, but the smoke from the potash-fires. Sylvanus helped William make potash.

Next Sylvanus hired out to a certain Hargrave, who was building the first dam across the Rock River at what is now Pipersville, six miles southeast of Watertown. When Hargrave could not, or would not, pay the wages as agreed upon, Sylvanus quit.

Later Sylvanus made a trip up north, to the neighborhood of Wausau. He and his future brother-in-law, John McAfferty, spent several winters logging at the Big Bull Falls. Lumbering was a hard, rough life, full of temptation to drink, gamble and brawl. Sylvanus never smoked, drank, or played cards.

When the Mexican War broke out, his brother Asa back in New York went into the Army, but Sylvanus did not look on the war with favor, for he considered it a war of conquest in the interest of the South.

In the early 50's he taught school in the town of Ixonia, east of Watertown. He used to relate an interesting anecdote about teaching among the Norwegians. He asked a boy his name and learned that it was Ole Peterson. He learned also that there was a girl named Olga Petersdoechter. Later, when he discovered that Olga was Ole's sister, he told her, "Your name ought to be Olga Peterson." She retorted, "I ban no boy." Then it dawned on him that the Norwegian method of giving family names differed from the English.

For several terms he was elected township superintendent of schools. In the course of his supervision, he visited the school of a vivacious young lady named Melissa McAfferty. A rapid courtship ensued and on 7 December 1854 he and MELISSA ROSALIE MCAFFERTY were married. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Willard. The bride wore a white dress at the marriage ceremony. On the trip from Ixonia to Watertown and back she wore a figured brown silk. She was attended by her sister Elmira.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen lived in a log cabin on the southwest shore of Lake La Belle. For several winters he continued to teach. 1855-56, he taught on Sugar Island, Lebanon, Dodge County, eight miles northwest of his home. He used to visit at the home of Ernst Dornfeld, father of Sophia, his future daughter-in-law. He became thoroughly acquainted with the Germans and learned to speak a little German and to read it.

In 1848 he joined the Free Soil party; in 1856 he voted for Fremont; in 1860, for Lincoln. On 6 June 1861 he enlisted as a volunteer in Company K, third Wisconsin Infantry, a three-year regiment, Colonel Charles S. Hamilton, Captain William Hawley.

The regiment was "assigned to the Army of the Potomas, which McClellan held inactive so long." They were encamped in Maryland "among hostile people who poisoned the drinking water and sold the soldiers poisoned fruit," (as he believed, but we do not). He suffered a sunstroke and was put in the hospital. Before the nurses approved, he rejoined his regiment. Stricken again, he lay in the hospital at Frederick, Maryland. After having partly recovered his health, he was "invalided" and sent home with an honorable discharge. He joined his family at Oconomowoc in the summer of 1862, after serving in the army a year but being in no engagement. In the autumn of 1863 he moved his family back on the farm. New Year's Day of 1864 was long remembered as "the cold New Year's."

In the fall of 1868, he made a trip back to New York state. His wife made him a suit especially for this trip.

In 1876 he received the grant of a pension of $6.00 a month; in 1880, it was increased slightly.

He was a great reader. He took a lively interest in the education of his children, and later of his grandchildren. Every evening he would drill the former in reading and spelling, until they were perfect in them. When his eyesight was getting poor, he enjoyed having his grandchildren read to him—sometimes he enjoyed it more than they did. One time his oldest grandson said to him, "I wish I had time so that I could read through all the novels in the world." He replied, "Then you would be worse off than if you read none at all. No one can improve his mind by feeding it only on fiction. Read some history, some things about political affairs, and read the lives of some great men."

He knew a good deal about his family history, his grandfather Owen's name, Sylvanus, his living in Vermont, his father's and mother's going from Vermont to New York. He remembered the family names of his grandmother and great-grandmother by the middle names of his brothers, Asa Burnap and John Wyman. He used to say, "My mother, Hannah Batcheller, was the daughter of Benjamin Batcheller, carpenter and joiner. He took part in the Revolution as captain of a company of Massachusetts. Her mother was either a Burnap or a Wyman."

There can have been little correspondence between Lodrick Owen and the family back in Vermont. However, relatives moved out to New York as well as Lodrick, the Goulds and the Buffoms. Again, when Sylvanus Goodrich rode out West and back as a circuit rider, he stopped and told about his trip. Hiram Owen, on his way to Michigan in 1836, stopped, and so did his sisters, Amanda, and her husband, Coleman, and Alice in 1839. Possibly Betsy did also. On his way to Wisconsin Sylvanus visited his cousins in Michigan.

Sylvanus Owen belonged to the Masonic order. He joined the Blue Lodge at Oconomowoc, Wis., as a Master Mason, 25 Jan. 1857. On 14 Oct. 1871, Oconomowoc Chapter, Number 42, Royal Arch Masons was organized. He was elected on 26 Feb. 1872, and made a companion of the Royal Arch 29 April 1872. For his mark he chose his initials, S. O.

Before he left home, he joined the Free-Will Baptist Church. One time he had been swimming with a group of young men and had come near being drowned. It gave him such a shock that it led to his conversion. He told his grandson of attending camp-meetings where there was much exhorting of which he did not approve. He told about two or three varieties of Baptists that existed in New York state at the time. In Wisconsin he never united with a church. During the last few years of his life he thought a great deal about religion.

"God moves in a mysterious way
His wonders to perform;
He plants His footsteps on the sea
And rides upon the storm."

He quoted this stanza so often that his grandson long believed it to have been his own composition. It is from Cowper. Sylvanus Owen applied it to modern inventions such as electricity and telegraphy.

Physically he was spare and wiry, had brown eyes, and black hair. He became bald quite young.

Some of his characteristics were: a keen intellect, a quick grasp of situations, a realistic rather than a sentimental view of things, generosity to a fault, ability to make himself at home among any people at any time, zeal for performing his duty as a citizen.

In June 1903, he had a fainting spell similar to a stroke. He died 25 June 1903. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Joliffe of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Oconomowoc and the Masonic Lodge.

Melissa Rosalie McAfferty was born 5 Sept. 1835 at Belleville, Ontario, daughter of William Bruce and Amy (Caverly) McAfferty.

When she was two years old the family moved to the states, and lived for a short time near Oswego, N. Y. Next they lived for some years near Ashtabula, Ohio. Here Melissa attended the East Kingsville Academy. In 1849 they moved to Wisconsin, settling northwest of Oconomowoc in Jefferson County.

Physically she was a large woman, with chestnut hair and grey eyes. Throughout her life she had keen intellectual and artistic interests. Her brother, John, was professor of modern languages and elocution in the old Racine, Wis., College.

7-37 ASA BURNAP OWEN[7] (Lodrick,[6] Sylvanus,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Lodrick and Hannah (Batcheller) Owen (F6-19), was born on January 20, 1831, and named after his uncle, Asa Burnap Batcheller. His son, Charles G., gives his middle name as "Burnett." He attended district school until he was sixteen years of age, then he enlisted in the Regular Army. He was sent as a recruit to General Scott's army in Mexico about the time of Santa Anna's surrender. Afterwards he saw three years' service on the plains, when the soldiers acted as scouts and as guides to immigrants. Many times the writer listened to his thrilling experiences in hunting buffalo and other wild animals, and how he camped with Kit Carson, the famous guide.

He was furloughed home on sick-leave, and realizing the need of more schooling, he attended select school, and also had the benefit of private tutors. His total military service lasted five years. He received a grant of Veterans' Land in Wisconsin.

In 1860 he married ANNA SIMS, the step-daughter of his sister, Laura Owen Sims. She was the daughter of John Sims, who was born at Tollard Royal, Hertfordshire, England, and his wife Phoebe (Green) Sims. The latter died in 1852 and he married (2) LAURA OWEN.

Soon after the outbreak of the Civil War, Asa enlisted in the 42nd New York Volunteers and served eighteen months until he was wounded and sent home for disability.

He lived on a farm near Boston, New York. In 1884 he visited his Wisconsin and Michigan relatives. In June 1911 the author visited him. He was a small spare man, quite active for his age, interested in everything. He died 9 July 1913. He was survived by his wife and only child, Charles G. Owen. Mrs. Ann Sims Owen died 1922.

7-44 ELIPHALET OWEN, JR.[7] (Eliphalet,[6] Frederick,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Eliphalet and Abigail (Heath) Owen (F6-23), was born on his father's birthday, 9 May 1818, at Middlebury, N. Y. He died in Havana, now Montour Falls, Schuyler County, N. Y., 26 March 1889. He married 17 Oct. 1842 at Warsaw, N. Y. MARTHA A. SPAULDING, daughter of Rev. Timothy and Sylvia (Cheney) Spaulding, born 15 March 1824 at Fairlee, Vt., and died 16 March 1887 at Havana, N. Y.

He was converted in childhood and he early felt drawn to the Christian ministry, but he could not prepare himself for it at the time. On 3 Dec. 1863, while he was a member of the church in Elgin, Illinois, he was licensed to preach, and taking the Bible as his textbook, he studied earnestly to prepare himself for the work to which he was called.

After several years of editorial work on the Elgin Gazette, he became in May 1863, Superintendent of Freedmen at Alexandria, Va. The General Baptist Association also commissioned him to do what missionary work he could among the freedmen. During these years he aided in establishing schools and churches, while at the same time serving the government in various departments of the Freedmen's Bureau.

Induced by Dr. Turney (who had opened a school for colored people at Washington, D. C.), he gathered and instructed a class numbering about thirty of those who were preachers, deacons, and leaders in various colored churches, and his work among them continued until 1867.

He was afterwards pastor of Baptist churches at Hannibal, Bartlett, Shushan, Portageville, and Bennington, in the state of New York. In all these places he was greatly beloved.

In 1879, he ceased active work as a pastor. He preached occasionally as a supply. His interest in the church never ceased. He was always content to do the work nearest his hand, and this he did with his whole heart.

NOTES GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL

Rev. Eliphalet Owen (1883)

In regard to the Owen family and connection, it seems to have been, as with most others, that in the changing and often straitened conditions of settling this country, and in the anxiety to become established in homes of their own, they have neglected to preserve a knowledge of the branches of their families and relatives, so that but few can give a definite account of more than a generation or two back even in their own family name. And this seems to be particularly the case with the branch of the Owen family to which we belong. In order, therefore, that there may be some starting point for the present generation, or those to come in this line, I have thought, since being laid aside from active service, to collect what information I can, in regard to their origin and history in this country. This is all that can be expected now, as we find no definite facts which have been preserved and handed down, in the knowledge of any now living. All accounts agree so far as we have ever learned, that our ancestors who settled in this country came from Wales, which the name would indicate; but at what date, or in connection with what circumstances, I have not been able to learn. Tradition has it, as I have heard from various sources in my youth, that three of the Owen family left Wales and came to the eastern part of this country; at what time is not known, but probably in the seventeenth century; and that before they became settled, they separated in different directions, and no further acquaintance was kept up.

The original purpose which I had in view, in collecting information in relation to the Owen Family, contemplated nothing farther than what I could get of father's ancestry, and his own biography, with what I could add of his brothers and sisters, who are all dead. Without some such record, the knowledge of them would be likely to pass from the memory of the living, and be unknown to their descendants who have not known them personally. But as some knowledge of their connections, as well as children and grandchildren, has come to my notice, I have thought it might be of interest to make note of that also. That I have given some branches a more extended notice than others is owing to the fact that the former sent me more information. I have been over four years corresponding and waiting to get all I could before copying into this book. Yet, as I can work but slowly, I felt anxious of late to close up the work, lest something should prevent, and it be left incomplete. I have, as might be expected, given more space to my father's and grandfather's history and those who have passed away, hoping that the generations of the living may yet make history that shall honor God and themselves. While collecting facts in regard to others, I have brought to mind recollections of various matters in my own life and experience, which I have taken the liberty to record in this connection, though, in the absence of memoranda, giving but an incomplete view of some of the chief experiences and activities of a too unprofitable life.

7-50 ALONZO FRANCIS OWEN[7] (Zenas,[6] Frederick,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Zenas and Sally (Bisbey) Owen (F6-25), was born 19 March 1821 (according to Rev. Eliphalet Owen's Ms.) or 19 March 1817 (according to his daughter's records) at Middlebury, N. Y., and died at the siege of Vicksburg in Aug. 1863. He moved with his parents to western Pennsylvania. He married at Springboro, Crawford County, Pa., CORNELIA SEELEY (Seelye?), daughter of Eben.

During the great revival, he professed to be converted although he was quite young. When he was questioned in regard to his experience of change, he replied that before his conversion he had "felt like a chicken in the egg"; now he felt that he "was hatched." (Rev. Eliphalet Owen.)

They lived at Conneautville, Pa., later moved to Erie, Pa., and about 1859 to Elgin, Iowa. He made coaches and wagons. He enlisted in Bank's Division and served under Gen. Grant at the siege of Vicksburg. He died, and was buried in an unknown grave.

7-52 WILLIAM HENRY OWEN[7] (Edward Hezekiah,[6] Hezekiah,[5] Nathaniel III,[4] Nathaniel II,[3] Nathaniel,[2] John[1]), son of Edward H. and Jane A. (Livingston) Owen (F6-30), was born 27 April 1841 in New York City and died 7 March 1921 at Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

He married 17 Jan. 1865 MARY LAVINIA BROOKS of New York City, daughter of Edward Sands and Adeline Matilda Creemer (Leveridge) Brooks. She died 11 July 1901 at Woodstock, Vt.

He was educated in private schools in New York City and in a boarding school at Bloomfield, N. J.

During the Civil War he served in the Old Seventh Regiment of New York, 1860-65, and he also served as Asst. Paymaster in the U. S. Navy 1861-64.

After the Civil War he engaged in the mercantile business until the late '70's. From that time on he led an increasingly quiet and reclusive life. He was, however, an expert fisherman and lawn tennis player. On athletic and yachting matters he kept himself unusually well informed. He was an intelligent and omnivorous reader of newspapers and magazines. He was a delightful story-teller, with a quiet sense of humor. His anecdotes of old times were of real value. In theology he was a pronounced Calvinist and in manners and morals he was very conservative. He was seldom roused, but when roused, all the old New England spirit blazed in him. He was intensely patriotic.

He was a Republican in politics, a Presbyterian in religion.

He died in the Rectory of Trinity Church, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., of which his son, William H. Owen, was the rector.

7-61 William Henry Bradford Owen[7] (Ira,[6] Timothy,[5] Eleazer,[4] Moses,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Ira and Harriet (Doane) Owen (F6-44), was born at Montpelier. Vt., 2 Nov. 1819, died at Rutland, 15 Aug. 1890. He married 7 July 1847 Mary Elizabeth Hodges, daughter of Major George Tisdale and Emily (Bliss) Hodges, Rev. John A. Hicks, D. D., officiating.

William came to Rutland early and was associated with Major Hodges, who was a friend of his father's. Major Hodges was the most prominent man in Vermont at the time. He was president of the Rutland bank, and of the Rutland and Bennington R. R. and representative to the U. S. Congress. William took over his merchandising interests in Rutland.

He was very popular and always liked to surround himself with his relatives and friends. On holidays such as Thanksgiving and Christmas, as many as forty or fifty persons sat down to dinners in the large home. He did not care for political office although many times he was approached and asked to run for important posts. The only office he held, and that he held for many years, was trustee of the public funds of the County of Rutland.

He was warden and vestryman of the Episcopal Church and during the Civil War, was a wool factor for the government. He was unable to pass the physical examination for the army due to weak lungs, although he lived for thirty years after the army doctors found him wanting.

He was generous to a fault and many a home was cheered by his benefactions.

MEMOIRS OF JULIUS OWEN OF MAHMOMEN, MINN. 1935.

In the year 1860, I came with my father from Harvard, McHenry County, Illinois, to Geneva, Freeborn County, Minnesota. I was twelve years old at this time, and Minnesota was a new state, having been admitted to the Union in 1858. My father bought 160 acres of wild land, and a small log cabin was the only building we had to move into. It certainly was frontier life, and we had no school nearer than two miles from our place.

My father worked very hard; our land had to be cleared before it could be broken and it was very hard land to clear as most of the trees were oak. The Civil War began in 1861, and my father enlisted in 1862, in Company E, 10th Regiment Volunteers. The entire company was made up of Freeborn County men and their captain and first lieutenant were men from Geneva.

They were first stationed at Fort Snelling. While they were at this place their captain, James Robinson, was accidentally shot. The remains were brought home for burial and it was the first military funeral we had ever seen. The body was carried in a large government wagon with a team of six mules. To drive them, the driver rode the left-hand wheel mule and had one line on the left-hand leader; the swing, or middle team had no lines on them.

First Lieutenant John Heath was then made their captain and the Company was moved to LeSeuer, and then to Mankato to guard the Indians who had been taken prisoners at New Ulm and Birch Coulie massacres. The Sioux Indians broke out in 1862 against the white people and after the terrible massacre, thirty-eight of the Sioux leaders were tried by the government. These were given a fair trial and were found guilty and sentenced to be hanged.

My own mother, Pantha Johnson, died before we left Illinois and my father, having married again, my stepmother and I were the only ones left at home to attend to the work on the farm. There was scarcely any machinery in the country, and the grain had to be cut with the old-fashioned cradle, and then raked and bound by hand. Our hay was all cut with a scythe and put up by hand; it was all hard work.

We had a team of horses, and when the soldiers would get furlough to come home from the war, I would meet them at Mankato and then take them back again and this is how I happened to be in Mankato when the Indians were hanged. The scaffold was made in the shape of a square with a platform to be raised and lowered on the outside of it. A large pole stood upright in the center of the square, a pulley at the top, with a large cable running through it which was brought down to connect with guy ropes all around the platform so that the platform, when raised, could be held up in that position by fastening the large cable rope at the bottom of the large center pole.

At the time of the execution, the platform was raised and fastened, the Indians were brought out, accompanied by a Catholic priest, and by means of a step-ladder ascended the platform. Some of them were singing, some were smoking cigars, and they all walked up the steps and around the platform to their places. Ropes were then put around their necks, and caps were drawn down over their faces. Their elbows were tied behind their backs and their wrists were tied in front of them. When everything was ready, a man whose family had all been killed by the Indians stood ready with an axe in his hand. At three beats of the drum he cut the big cable and all of the Indians dropped at once.

7-78 MARTIN OWEN[7] (Elijah,[6] Julius Augustus,[5] Elijah,[4] Joshua,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of Elijah and Sallie (Simar) Owen (F-6-60), was born 28 Sept. 1862 at Geneva, Freeborn County, Minn. He died 3 Jan. 1905 at West Union, Iowa. He married 29 May 1890 in Blue Earth, Minn., MARY AMANDA HARRIS, who was born at Luana, Clayton County, Iowa, 11 July 1871, daughter of James Henry and Sarah Maria (Lane) Harris.

They lived on a farm near Elmore, Minn. for six years. In the winter of 1896 they removed to West Union, Iowa, by sled, in order to care for his aged father. They bought a farm covered with virgin forest four miles north of West Union. He sawed lumber from his own forest to use in erecting his house, barn, silo, and other farm buildings. He died before his time from an attack of gall stones in 1905. His widow married (2) Charles Volkwine.

He married CYRENA FORD, who was born 1 March 1831 in Virginia and died 3 March 1902. On 12 June 1838 they arrived in Iowa, settling in Washington County, near the mouth of the English River. There he built a sawmill in company with a Mr. Haskenn and for two years was connected with its operation. He helped build the first frame building in Iowa City and in 1841 was one of a committee appointed to explore the Iowa, Cedar, and Des Moines rivers down to the Indian Agency. After this he engaged in trapping and hunting for some time, but in 1849 joined the rush of gold seekers and went to California. He left Iowa City for the newly discovered El Dorado on 31 March 1849. He followed mining for two years there and then engaged in lumbering, with which he was connected until 1855. In that year he returned to Iowa City and in 1856 he settled in Iowa County upon the farm, later owned by his son Frank.

Merrill Albee Owen comments on conditions of life in 1850 and 1910: "Before the railroads were built the people of Vermont raised their own grain and made their own flour. They ate very little white bread but a great deal of brown bread, made of Indian meal and rye meal, baked in brick ovens, better bread than can be had now. People did not know what it meant to buy canned fruit and vegetables. They raised their own; they canned the vegetables and dried the fruits. They made maple sugar in such quantities that they did not need to buy much white cane sugar.

Butter and cheese were made chiefly for home consumption for they could not be shipped any great distance except in winter. The butcher's business was very small, for most people killed and cured their own meat, enough to last them well into the following summer.

In the winter time large loads of dressed beef, mutton and pork were sent to Boston, usually drawn by four-horse teams. Droves of live stock also were frequently driven all the way to Boston, 150 miles or more.

People raised many sheep. Wool was not perishable and it could be easily shipped. It was worth twice what it is worth today (1910). For many years the women of the family spun and wove most of the cloth, and they sewed most of the clothes which the men wore and almost all they wore themselves—'homespun.'

Much is said about the high cost of living. I believe that today a man is getting as much more for his day's work as he is paying more for what he consumes. So allow me to say that the cry of high cost of living is due to extravagance in every conceivable way, and there is no hope for it."

8-34 NORMAN WHITMAN OWEN[8] (Silas W.,[7] Andrew,[6] Sylvanus,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Silas W. and Roxanna (Albee) Owen (F7-28), was born 21 June 1829 at Bethel and died at Marion, Iowa, 1 June 1880. He married (1) 20 Oct. 1852, ELLEN GRANGER, daughter of Samuel T. Granger and niece of Norman's uncle, John Granger. She was born at Bethel 8 June 1833

and she died at Marion, Iowa, 4 Sept. 1864. Prior to her marriage she taught school. For several years they lived in Bethel and here their two oldest children were born—Ellen Adell and Martha Ann. Two sons were born in Iowa —Luther Preston and Carlton Norman.

At the age of fourteen, his father being dead, he went to live with one Luther Preston, who gave him opportunities to obtain a liberal education and faithful religious instruction. Under one Dr. Burbank he commenced the study of medicine. On attaining his majority he married Miss Ellen Granger; with their two oldest children they removed West and settled in Marion in January 1856.

His wife died in September 1864, leaving a family of four children. He married (2) NANCY E. THURSTON, April 1876. Soon after settling in Marion he resumed his medical studies, and in the winters of 1861 and 1862 he attended Rush Medical College in Chicago. Upon his return he began practicing in Marion and he continued to do so until ill health prevented his riding.

He was one of the most successful practitioners of the county or state. At different times he filled the offices of alderman and school director. He was one of the first trustees of the town of Marion, and he rendered efficient aid in prosecuting various schemes of public interest.

No difference what came, people always knew just where to find Dr. Owen. Few men had a clearer conception of what was right, and he was always ready,—ready with his counsel, ready with a resolute purpose, ready to do and dare whatever was for the best interests of the community.

For many years he was the senior member of the firm of Owen and Chamberlain, wholesale and retail druggists of Marion. The firm always had a large local trade. Its wholesale trade has extended throughout Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri, through the proprietary medicines which bear the name of the firm. (These remedies, the formulas for which were Dr. Owen's, were the foundation of the "Chamberlain Remedies.")

Doctor Owen was a prominent Mason, being a member of the Blue Lodge, the Chapter, and the Commandery.

Owen,*[7] Andrew,[6] Sylvanus,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), daughter of Silas W. and Roxanna (Albee) Owen (F7-28), was born 4 July 1836 at Bethel, Vt., and died 5 June 1922 at Galesburg, Ill. She was married 1 May 1853 at Bethel, as his second wife, to DAVID MOODY MORSE (1825-1881) of Bethel.

When Elvira was seven years old she and her brother Norman were sent by their widowed mother to live in the family of one Luther Preston. Thus they saw little of their brothers and sisters. After her marriage she and her husband removed to Galesburg, Ill. After the death of her daughter, she made her home with her granddaughter, Mrs. Tuttle.

GEORGE B. OWEN

REMINISCENCES OF HIS GRANDDAUGHTER, BELLE OWEN PRINGLE (1938)

I must have been at least ten years old before I ever saw Grandfather. To a small, shy, nervous child he was an imposing personage. He had a fine, erect way of carrying himself and usually carried a good cane. He wore expensive clothes and, on occasion, a top hat. He was a fine looking, elderly gentleman when I first made his acquaintance—rotund, white-haired, alert, and active. A walk and cigar every morning before breakfast, and an early breakfast, then letters, reading, a trip into town or a visit. Sometimes he indulged in a nap afternoons but not regularly. An early supper, the usual cigar, and a brisk walk before retiring kept him in fine physical condition.

He had a brilliant mind and a good business head. During the years he resided in Marion, Iowa, he was fire chief and for some years mayor. He was a 32 degree Mason and could give any lecture required, on short notice. He was a member of a team which installed a number of the earliest Shrines in Iowa, including the one at Sioux Falls, S. D.

He was not a church member, nor was he ardently religious. He took great delight in plaguing Grandma about her missionary societies.

For a number of years he was custodian of the Judge Lothian estate, and he had extensive holdings of his own. I heard him scold about having to pay taxes in six states. I remember his showing me maps and pointing out his holdings. He kept strict account of all his trusts and financial matters. He kept a carbon of every bit of correspondence and also a daily diary.

When I married (1910) he was displeased because we went out to Tripp County, in southern South Dakota, and homesteaded. Only after the birth of his first great-grandchild did he forgive me. Grandma was a faithful correspondent and would often send me a gift which she put down, in her memorandum book, to "missions." Her health became so delicate after 1910 that they closed the house at Des Moines and spent the winters in Florida or California. For a number of years they visited us every summer on the farm in Bridgewater, McCook County, S. D. Granddad would see to the building and financing of a new barn, or new fences, or the setting out of a small orchard. Grandma would bustle about in our incommodious kitchen and make Southern dishes to delight us all.

Grandpa was a past master of sarcasm and a wonderful narrator. He never lacked for the right story to point his lecture.

About 1913 he began to have serious eye trouble, developing cataracts on both eyes. A delicate operation performed in Philadelphia brought him no relief, so that he was blind for the rest of his life. He would not reconcile himself to his fate and was quite trying to care for during his last days.

On 27 Sept. 1883 he married SOPHIA M. DORNFELD, daughter of Ernst G. and Sophia (Schulze) Dornfeld of Lebanon, Dodge County, Wis. Her grandfather, Christian Dornfeld, was one of the leaders of a group of "Old Lutherans" who left Prussia in 1843 and founded Lebanon.

REMINISCENCES OF SYLVESTER ALBERT OWEN

He was born in a log house on the southwest shore of Lac La Belle, near Oconomowoc. While his father was at the front, Mrs. Owen and her two children lived in Oconomowoc. He remembers his father returning from the Army in the summer of 1862. He remembers his first visit to Milwaukee, when the family made the thirty-five-mile trip by horse and carriage in the fall of 1863. Albert was then five years old.

In September 1864 his aunt, Ella McAfferty, began to teach in the German-English Academy in Milwaukee. Her parents went with her and kept house for her. Albert was taken along to spend the year.

He remembers the day when news came by telegraph that General Robert E. Lee had surrendered, 9 April 1865. The houses were all gaily decorated with red, white, and blue bunting. Everybody was happy because the end of the war had come at last. Six days later the news came that President Abraham Lincoln had been shot and killed. Again the houses were draped, but with black.

In the summer of 1865 he returned to his parents. They moved onto a new place, a forty-acre farm about two miles northwest of their former home. The house and stables were built on the south slope of a large hill, a very pleasant location with beautiful trees. The land had more variety than utility—there was cranberry and blueberry marsh on it, and some hill land. Just beyond the line lie some of the "pots and kettles" of the glacial moraine.

Their neighbors consisted of English—the Hatches and Hastings; Welsh—the Griffiths and Roberts. Further to the east were some Mohawk Valley Dutch—the Martins, Strones, and Fulmers; to the north there were Norwegians—the Gulicksons and Gundersons; still further north there were Germans. Gradually the English and Welsh sold out and were replaced by Germans—Seeger, Kleist, Rohloff, and Gauerke. Their Welsh neighbors could not understand why the Owen family could not speak Welsh, since they had a Welsh name.

The school being just across the road, many of the teachers boarded with the Owen family. All the teachers together exerted less influence upon the schooling of the Owen children than did their parents. The father had been township superintendent of schools and the mother had been a teacher. The children had to bring home their books every evening. After chores had been done, either father or mother would hear them do their reading and spelling and numbers. There was no word-calling and no misspelling. Mother had Gray's "How Plants Grow," and the children early learned Botany in a practical way.

Some of the books Albert used were: Thompson's Arithmetic, Robinson's Advanced Arithmetic, Sander's Readers, Clark's English Grammar, Cornell's Geography, Goodrich's United States History, which was written in a rather difficult style, and Barne's History, which was written in a more readable manner.

Albert was ambitious to go to college. However, there were few schools in which to prepare for college. The public high school was unknown in that area at the time. The public high school at Watertown was not established until 1881. Northwestern College at Watertown had an academy or preparatory department. It served the entire community—Protestant and Catholic, Yankee, Irish, and German. Albert attended the country school right at home every winter until he was twenty years of age. With the help of teacher and father he worked through advanced arithmetic, algebra, and geometry. In 1878 he took the county teachers examinations. Supt. Collins signed his first certificate. He taught his first school in the Ladwig district between Ixonia and Pipersville, six months at $22.00 a month.

In the fall of 1880 he took the Sugar Island school in Lebanon, six miles north of home. His father had taught it in the fifties. The pay was $30.00 a month for six months; there were forty pupils. The members of the Board were: William Franke, clerk, Ludwig Schoenicke, director, Ernst G. Dornfeld, treasurer. He boarded with the German Lutheran minister, Schultz, a genial, broad-minded man. They exchanged lessons, English for German. They spent most of their evenings together in the pastor's study, smoking, studying, and arguing.

In September 1881 Albert entered the Normal department of Northwestern College at Watertown. Among his associates there were J. H. Ott, later a professor in the college, and Charles Skinner, later a practicing attorney in Watertown. The Rev. Paul Brockmann of Waukesha, Wis., in 1915 told the writer, "I well remember your father. He was tall and slender, but strong. He always acted as the friend and protector of us younger boys."

Albert always enjoyed disagreeing with the professor of English, Snider, a Canadian, who wished his students to speak "the Queen's English." He remembered with gratitude the friendship of two professors, the brothers Charles and Albert Easterday. They were of Pennsylvania Dutch ancestry. He graduated in 1882, completing two years in one.

On 27 September 1883 he married Sophia Dornfeld. Her brother, Ernst G. Dornfeld, performed the ceremony in her parents' home. They made a wedding trip to Milwaukee. Then they went to housekeeping near Hustisford. Albert taught the school there. The school clerk was George Wilson, an Englishman; the other members were Byron Randall and Seneca Jones, both Yankees. The salary was $52.00 a month for eight months.

In 1884, after the close of the school term, they moved to Watertown, taking a cottage on east Main near College Avenue. Here their son, Ralph Albert Dornfeld Owen, was born on 2 July 1884. Albert and his wife always remembered with gratitude the kindness and neighborliness of their German Catholic neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hahn.

He served in the National Guard. In 1887 there was a big strike in Milwaukee at the Allis Steel Works (later the Allis Chalmers Co.). Governor Jeremiah Rusk, who served the state from 1883 to 1887, called out the National Guard. In commenting on this action, he declared, "I seen my duty and I done it." Albert served with the militia for a week.

In the spring of 1886, Albert went into the farm implement business, retiring in 1912.

AS MY YEARS PASS IN REVIEW

EDGAR ELLSWORTH OWEN

When I left home in the fall of 1882 I could not dismiss from my mind the feeling that I might succeed as a writer in some capacity for a newspaper. But I knew no way by which I could gain the opportunity to prove my ability. I was so lacking in the effrontery often held typical of newspaper workers that I could not enter an editorial sanctum to plead for a trial as a reporter. My dear Aunt Ella, whose life was devoted to doing for others, came to my rescue. As a teacher in the public schools, she had the acquaintance of a member of the school board who was also city editor of the Chicago Journal. To him she pleaded my case so successfully that I was told to report to the Journal office. Thus it happened that my first actual newspaper work was done under the guidance of W. K. Sullivan and for what was then the oldest and most conservative of Chicago's newspapers. Mr. Sullivan recommended me to the City Press Association. I remained with the Association until March, 1884, and began work as a reporter for the Inter Ocean, continuing with it until September 1885.

In my chosen work I found many difficulties to overcome. In no other occupation would there have been such frequent changes of men in authority and a small army of favorites to be given precedence. Three months, from September to December 1885, I walked from office to office vainly offering my services—and there were then more newspapers than in later years. At the moment when it seemed I must turn to other employment, I found an opening on the Chicago Times.

There were many events in 1886 that loomed large to me. On the evening of May 4 I was assigned to a meeting of radical workingmen which ended in riot and bloodshed and is recorded in histories of Chicago as the "Haymarket Riot." In the mad skirmish I lost my hat and a spent bullet grazed the fleshy part of my leg. When the anarchists were rushed to trial, I was kept at court to fill columns with details.

Disclosures of dishonest dealings by the commissioners of Cook County were among the big features in the papers that year. After having some exciting experiences in obtaining stories that called for big headlines, and following prosecution in the courts, I was sent, as if further to humiliate the "boodlers" after they were in prison, to write a series of articles from inside of Joliet prison. I was now more of a feature writer than a reporter and was called upon to rewrite copy that lacked the right quality. From that line of work to writing heads was a short step. Since that time most of my work has been in an editorial character.

After the breakdown of the famous Wilbur F. Storey, his paper passed into other hands. Through the duplicity of the notorious individual who married Storey's widow, my connection with the Times came to a sudden end in February 1889.

I accepted an invitation to become assistant telegraph editor of the Chicago Tribune. I was warned that no one could hold a place more than six weeks under R. W. Patterson, son of Joseph Medill, and a reputed despot. All heads older than mine fell before I had been there many weeks. Soon my superior, Frank Brazelton, was demoted and I became chief telegraph editor. The following Sunday night, because it was the night editor's night off, the responsibility fell upon me to plan and direct the entire make-up of the Chicago Tribune. How I got the paper out in time for the fast mail with no more serious happenings than to print a syndicate article which should have been held another week seemed a miracle.

In April 1890 the Morning News changed hands and assumed the name News Record. Some of my friends were in it and urged me to join them. I accepted and remained with it until 1901. In these eleven years I filled the offices at different times of city editor, telegraph editor, and night editor. Under me there George Ade, author of fables in slang, did his first work, and I prize one of his little books with the inscription "To Edgar E. Owen, who frequently saved my life." And his chum, John T. McCutcheon, long sat with us in a den in the old ramshackle building making sketches that would adorn the pages of the paper. Merely to catalog the names of those who filed in and out would fill a good-sized book.

After the last issue of the News Record in March 1901, I went to the Chronicle as telegraph editor and later I was made night editor. With all its exactions and worries, it was a position I liked and the pay was liberal. But the paper was owned by a banker who had won the enmity of rival bankers. They set about his downfall, proved technical violation of the law, and with the crushing of John R. Walsh, which occurred while I was on a vacation, I was out of a job.

I returned to the Record Herald in August 1907 and continued there nearly eleven years until the paper was wrecked by the great war. On 1 May 1918 its good will was sold to the Hearst interests and I retired to my fruit farm.

At our modest home near Onekema, Michigan, we look out upon a wealth of pretty landscape with a small lake filling part of the picture between us and Lake Michigan, which on clear days we discover kissing the horizon and seeming all gentleness. But at times it is aroused to majestic fury, and we glimpse frothy breakers madly attacking the shore.

For me to have walked the world stage at any other time might have been of no advantage to me or to the world. But I have indulged in self-congratulation bordering on exultation that I have been here to see such wonders as airplanes, telephones, wireless telegraphs, and submarines. In conclusion I quote these lines, which have struck my fancy and which should be credited to Bailey's Festus:

"We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths;
In feelings, not in figures on a dial.
We should count time by heart throbs. He most lives
Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best."

8-52 CLARENCE HERBERT OWEN[8] (Sylvanus,[7] Lodrick,[6] Sylvanus,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Sylvanus and Melissa (McAfferty) Owen (F7-35), was born 8 February 1867 in Ixonia Township, Jefferson County, Wisconsin. He married 12 August 1891 in the Second M. E. Church, Englewood, Chicago, Ill., MAUDE MARIE BLAKEMORE, who was born 21 May 1871 in Chicago, daughter of Edwin and Marie Louise (Bodren) Blakemore, and died 31 Jan. 1921 at Harvey, Ill. Her father was born 1839 in Liverpool, England; her mother, child of French immigrants, in Cape Vincent, N. Y. Maude had been a Kindergarten teacher in the Bethesda Mission (W.

C. T. U.) Chicago, and was active in Epworth League.

They lived in Englewood for some years. In 1902 they settled in Harvey, Ill. After her death, he sold his home and settled at Crown Point, Ind.

In November 1874, at the age of seven, he signed a pledge to "never drink intoxicating liquor or smoke or chew tobacco," which pledge he has never violated. He has taken no medicine in over forty years. He joined the Independent Order of Good Templars and the Prohibition Party. He joined the M. E. Church at Oconomowoc, Wis., 13 June 1886 and on 7 Sept. 1888 transferred to Wesley M. E. Church in Chicago.

In 1900 he and his wife began to study socialism and in 1904 they joined the Socialist Party, U. S. A. He has voted with that party ever since. In 1920 the Socialist party of Illinois nominated him for Secretary of State. In 1940 the Socialist party of Indiana nominated him for the same office. Since 1936 he has devoted himself wholly to volunteer work for the party.

From 1905 to 1917 he worked for Beck Coal Company of Harvey, Illinois. From 1917 to 1936 he sold groceries to rural customers for the John Sexton Co. of Chicago.

8-59 Zenas Hibbard Owen, Jr.[8] (Zenas Hibbard,[7] Eliphalet,[6] Frederick,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), son of Zenas H. and Climena (Ludden) Owen (F7-43), was born 25 Jan. 1843 in Middlebury, N. Y., and died 13 July 1926 at Harrogate, Tenn. He married 7 May 1872 at Lakeville, Livingston Co., N. Y., Mary Dieffenbacher, daughter of John and Cordelia (Knight) Dieffenbacher.

He attended Middlebury Academy and Madison University (now Colgate University) and entered the Medical course at Ann Arbor, Mich. In the midst of his medical studies he was drafted into the Union Army. He entered the service 21 Jan. 1864 in the Eighth New York Heavy Artillery. He was sent to Baltimore, where he was assigned to the hospital to dress wounds of soldiers from the front.

On 11 July 1864 he joined the provisional brigade which was sent to defend Washington. It was stationed at Fort Stevens. It was the only time when fighting actually occurred within the District of Columbia. President Lincoln came out to the breastworks to take a view of the battle. He was actually under fire. The commanding officer ordered him to step down from exposure, and the President obeyed.

The regiment went through Grant's campaign from the Battle of the Wilderness, May 3 to June 12, the capture of Petersburg, June 18, until the surrender of Lee at Appomattox Court House April 9, 1865.

After the close of the war, Zenas taught school for several terms and farmed. For fifteen years (1872-1889) they lived on their farm near Lakeville. After that they moved to Geneseo, N. Y., in order to give their children better educational opportunities.

He joined the Baptist Church at Wyoming, N. Y., in his youth. He belonged to the A. A. Curtiss Post, G. A. R., at Geneseo, N. Y. He made it a practice to attend his regimental reunions, and he also attended several of the National G. A. R. Encampments.

He was a Democrat in politics until the campaign of 1896 in which the Democratic candidate, William Jennings Bryan, advocated the coining of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. At this time Hibbard, like so many other Civil War veterans, supported William McKinley, because they blamed the Panic of 1893 on the Democratic party. From this time on he was a staunch Republican.

He was a diligent reader, and even while engaged in farm life, he found time to take a four-year course of reading in the Chautauqua Scientific and Literary Circle and he received a diploma for his efforts. He was much interested in genealogy. Children:

8-64 MARGARET ADELIA OWEN-CHURCH[8] (Zenas Hibbard,[7] Eliphalet,[6] Frederick,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), daughter of Zenas H. and Climena (Ludden) Owen (F7-43), was born 17 June 1849 at Middlebury, N. Y., and died 8 March 1928 at Los Angeles, Cal. She was married 19 Feb. 1867 in Rochester, N. Y., to HENRY A. CHURCH. They lived at Los Angeles, Cal.

Henry Alanson Church, descendent of Richard Church, one of the founders of Hartford, Conn., was born 27 Nov. 1845 in Covington, N. Y., son of Philip T. and Mary P. (Walton) Church. He died in Los Angeles in May 1924. At the age of sixteen Henry enlisted in the Civil War and served with a New York Regiment; he was wounded at the Battle of Cold Harbor. He and his wife and baby moved to Illinois in 1871 and later to Marshalltown, Iowa, in 1876. Mr. Church's business ventures were uniformly successful. He became a shipper of stock and produce in the Chicago markets, then extended his activities into a chain of banks around Marshalltown. In the year 1902, Mr. Church made his home in Los Angeles, continuing his work in bank organization until 1923.

He often declared that his success in life was due to the cooperation of his wife. She was a member of the Ebell Club and of the D. A. R. She was also a member of the Daughters of the Founders and Patriots of America, through descent from James Ludden, who was the personal advisor of Governor Winthrop.

8-77 GEORGE HODGES OWEN[8] (William H. B.,[7] Ira,[6] Timothy,[5] Eleazer,[4] Moses,[3] Joseph,[2] John[1]), son of William H. and Mary E. (Hodges) Owen (F7-61), was born at Rutland, Vermont, 6 Aug. 1848 and died at Towson, Baltimore Co., Md., 24 May 1917. He married at the United States Consulate, Frankfort, Germany, 3 Jan. 1876 LOUISE BRAUN, daughter of Augustus Braun, Ph.D., who died at New Haven, Conn., 5 Feb. 1932, aged 81 years.

He attended primary schools in Rutland and prepared for College at Greylock Academy, Williamstown, Mass. He taught school in the year 1865-66 and entered Middlebury College in the fall of 1866, from which he graduated in 1870 with a B.A. degree. He was a member of the Chi Psi College Fraternity. In 1873 he received his M.A. and was also admitted to the bar of Vermont. He did not practice his profession, for in 1875 he was appointed by President Grant, U. S. Consul at Messina, Italy. On his way to assume his duties he was married in Frankfort, Germany, to Louise Braun, whom he had met the previous year while she was visiting in the United States.

He served during the administration of Presidents Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Arthur. While in Messina he was the leader in relieving distressing conditions of child labor in the sulphur mines. For this he was recognized by the Italian King Umberto, at a state dinner. The Queen, Margaret, hearing that George Owen had recently become a father, asked that the child be named after her.

He took a great interest in the U. S. Navy. The U. S. kept a squadron in the Mediterranean and the Consulate was the headquarters for the officers. Many names famous in American Naval history were guests at George Owen's table.

A change of administration in Washington in 1885 brought him back to civil life in the U. S.

He was a writer on the Chicago Tribune and the New York Evening Post for some time and then became executive secretary of the U. S. Navy League in which post he could give his knowledge and love of the traditions and history of the American Navy full sway.

He numbered among his friends Theodore Roosevelt,

Admiral George Dewey, General Horace Porter and Admiral Worden, and many others of similar tastes and interests.

He was an Episcopalian and vestry man at St. Mary's Church, New York City.

He died in Towson, Md., while on a visit to his son.

8-114 EDWARD THOMAS OWEN[8] (Elijah H.,[7] Elijah,[6] Elijah,[5] Lt. Elijah,[4] Elijah,[3] Isaac,[2] John[1]), son of Elijah and Susannah (Boardman) Owen (F7-130), was born at Hartford, Conn., 4 March 1850 and died at Madison, Wis., 10 Nov. 1931. He married 11 April 1874 EMILIE BRACE PRATT, daughter of Henry Z. Pratt of Hartford. He graduated from Yale College in 1872. As an undergraduate he was active in music and athletic organizations. He won the Southgate Cup in the single-scull race and broke all previous records. He won numerous athletic and scholastic honors.

He took his B.A. at Yale in 1872 and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He spent one year in graduate study at Yale, two at Goettingen and one at Paris. In 1878 he went to the University of Wisconsin as instructor, later professor of French Language and Literature. He was "a uniquely sympathetic and human teacher." He retired from active service in 1914.

He was a pioneer in the psychological analysis of syntactic usages. He contended that the development of grammar is still in the stage which chemistry occupied when it was merely alchemy. His writings on the subject appeared in the Proceedings of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts, and Letters, for the years 1898, 1901, 1904, 1907, 1911, 1927, 1931.

Being a man of powerful, tall physique, he was fond of outdoor life; he continued his rowing for years; he was very fond of riding. During the later years of his life he devoted much time to gardening on his suburban estate. He donated to the city of Madison the beautiful Owen Park and Drive.

An enthusiastic collector of butterflies, he made a large collection, which he later donated to the University.

All his life he was boldly personal in the expression of his views, decidedly Anglo-Saxon and Victorian.

Judge Owen was born on 24 February 1861 at Brookfield, Tioga County, Pennsylvania. His parents, the late James S. and Abigail Owen, came to Wisconsin and spent a year and a half near Waupaca, but subsequently returned to the East. The son was one of six children. He was educated in the common school of Pennsylvania, attended an academy at Woodhall, New York, and was graduated in 1884 from the State Teachers College in Mansfield, Pennsylvania. In 1884, at the age of 23, he came to Wisconsin and located at Waupaca, moving in 1885 to Amherst, where for two years he was teacher and principal of the public schools. While there he took up the study of law. He was admitted to the bar in 1889 and in July 1890 began practice at Phillips. Six months later he became a member of the firm of Rowland and Owen. He served two terms as district attorney of Price County.

In 1895 he settled at Stevens Point, forming a law partnership with J. O. Raymond. After 1911 he was in practice alone, with offices in the Rothman block.

He served several terms as district attorney of Portage County and as city attorney, besides carrying on his private law practice. He was elected mayor in April 1918, holding that office until early in December 1919, when he resigned to become the County Judge. He began his judicial duties on 5 January 1920. He served on the bench continuously from then until the time of his retirement.

He was made a Master Mason in Phillips Lodge No. 225 on 3 March 1890 and affiliated with Evergreen Lodge No. 93 in Stevens Point on 3 March 1896. He was made a Royal Arch Mason in Forest Chapter No. 34, Stevens Point, in 1897, and a Knight Templar in 1899, in Crusade Commandery No. 17, Stevens Point.

Judge Owen was particularly interested in the Chapter. For many years he was a regular attendant at the Grand Chapter sessions of Royal Arch Masons in Milwaukee and in 1922 served that body as grand high priest.

LETTER FROM ANNETTE OWEN BROWN TO THE EDITOR

Bethel, Vt., Route 1
23 October 1919

My dear Cousin and Family,

I feel ashamed of myself for neglecting to write to you. I do think of you often and I do so much wish that I could see you all in my home.

Much rain has fallen here this fall, so much that with the heat the potatoes have decayed badly. The hay crop has been very good. There are no apples of any amount. All this in addition to the results of warfare seems quite discouraging. I think so often how the conditions throughout the world would have disturbed my dear old father. I am glad that he did not live to see it.

Oh I am so glad that the dear old sun-time is near at hand again. I was bound to keep my old tall grandfather clock running on sun-time, but I set the mantle clock in the kitchen on Wilson-time, if I may call it so. Well, now, don't you think, the thing actually balked up and wouldn't go a peg. We heard a big noise, we ran to see, and there the cord had broken, and the weight had fallen, as if to say: "that's enough, until sun-time comes again, I won't budge another inch."

Now if I could get a little sweet, perhaps my disposition would be a little more amiable. Fremont has been for sugar three times lately, but with no result.

We will soon be like the old monarchial countries, a few great and rich, the rest poorer and poorer. Enough of us will be there, if things aren't adjusted before many years.

Well, how about your Family History, I hope to see it before I die.

Sincerely,

ANNETTE.

10-20 BESSIE STEARNS-BARRETT[10] (Flora Owen,[9] Merrill,[8] Silas,[7] Andrew,[6] Sylvanus,[5] Josiah III,[4] Josiah II,[3] Josiah,[2] John[1]), daughter of Charles and Flora (Owen) Stearns (F9-38), was born 12 March 1875 at Bethel, Vt.; graduated from the University of Vermont in 1897; married 27 April 1898 to OTIS WARREN BARRETT, son of James and Alice (Kelley) Barrett, who was born 18 April 1872 at Clarenden, Vt. (See Who's Who in America.)

i. WILLARD WARREN, b. 30 March 1899 in Mexico City, d. 12 May 1899.

Mrs. Barrett was one of the most widely travelled persons in the Owen tribe. Her husband had specialized in Tropical Agriculture, and his professional work took him several times around the world. They spent four years in Mexico and twelve years in the West Indies. During the years 1908 to 1910 they lived in Mozambique, Portuguese East Africa, where Dr. Barrett was director of Agriculture. This was followed by four years in the Philippine Islands 1910-14, and three years in the Canal Zone, 1914 to 1917; a year and a half in Liberia, 1919.

Both Mrs. Barrett and Dr. Barrett were enthusiastic philatelists. She made a unique collection, one stamp for every country, a total of over 750—which she called "Round the World." Their greatest achievement in philately was to buy many rare stamps from the General Post Office of Liberia in 1919.

From 1923 to 1929 Dr. Barrett was Director of Agriculture in Puerto Rico. While they lived in San Juan, Mrs. Barrett was active in the San Juan branch of the A. A. U. W.

They spent the year 1929-30 at Honolulu, Hawaii, where Dr. Barrett was visiting professor of Tropical Agriculture in the University of Hawaii. She died 30 June 1930 in the Hospital at Panama, Canal Zone.

In accordance with her request her remains were cremated and the ashes were scattered on the ocean which had borne her to homes in nine countries.

On 9 Dec. 1930, the San Juan Branch of the American Association of University Women held a memorial program in her honor and her friend, Elizabeth Van Deusen, well known author, read a eulogy of her, closing with the following poem:

SONNET TO THE MEMORY OF
ELIZABETH STEARNS BARRETT

So frail, it seemed she ever must abide
Near tranquil hearth, yet she explored the world—
Heard Chinese temple gongs at eventide;
So delicate, that for herself alone
It seemed her every care should be, yet she Lent constant aid and hope, and deemed her own

Ills less than those of sad humanity.
A gallant spirit in a fragile mold—
We can but marvel at and emulate
Her selflessness, her dauntless will, and hold
The faith that some benign all-knowing fate
Has sent that spirit—freed from earthly bars—
On vaster voyagings, among the stars.

APPENDIX

Owen Families of Orange County, New York

Between 1750 and 1800 there were five or six Jonathan Owens living in or near Orange County, N. Y. In the absence of complete Vital Records it becomes a difficult task to identify them all. The difficulty has been increased by the fact that conflicting claims have been advanced concerning the identity of three men named Jonathan Owen who served in the American Revolution from Ulster and Orange Counties. Furthermore, the Owens of Connecticut and those of Long Island met in this area.

The six Jonathan Owens are:

1. Jonathan Owen, Jr., born 1743 at Lebanon, Conn. (recorded at Salisbury, Conn.), son of Jonathan and Patience Vallance. He was left an orphan in 1759 and chose a guardian in 1761. He was descended from John Owen of Windsor, Conn. (See F5-21).

William Arthur Owen in his article, "Descendants of John Owen of Windsor, Conn.," published in Vol. 83 of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, January 1929, offers convincing evidence that this Jonathan was one of the three Jonathans who served in the Revolution from Ulster County.

Jonathan, Jr. had six brothers, among whom were Solomon, Eleazer, and Oliver. All four of these names occur together in the Second Regiment of Ulster County Militia in the Revolution. Solomon and Oliver, after the Revolution, lived in Ulster County as late as 1790. Later they both removed to Onondaga County. There can be no question about the identity of these two. Hence it would seem reasonable to infer that their brother Jonathan was one of the three Jonathans who served in the Revolution from Ulster County.

But what became of this Jonathan? Is he the one who settled in Hamptonburgh, Orange County, N. Y.? The editor believes he is, in spite of the fact that to date he has not found conclusive evidence.

2. Jonathan Owen, born 1749 in Orange County, died 1814 in Ulysses, Seneca County, N. Y. He married at Blooming Grove, Orange County, Eleanor Kortright. They moved to Tompkins County in 1800.

According to the Family Records of the Owen Family of Washingtonville, Orange County, N. Y., this Jonathan was the son of Ebenezer and Temperance Helme. Ebenezer probably came from Suffolk County, Long Island, to Orange County, and died there in 1759.

3. Jonathan Owen, born 1756 and died 1800 at Middletown, Orange County, N. Y.; m. 25 April 1780 Mary Dunning.

4. Jonathan Owen, born 1759 in West Chester County or Phillips Precinct, Dutchess County, N. Y. He was living in Peekskill, Westchester County, N. Y., in 1843 and receiving a pension as a Revolutionary veteran. He died in N. Y. C. 12 Feb. 1850, survived by children: Jane Crookstone, Phebe Christian, Ruth Owen, Eliza

Totten, Philemon Smith Owen. (National Archives; Gen. Acctg. Office, Washington, D. C., letter 2-5-1941.)

5. JONATHAN OWEN, born 1761; died 1827. He married in 1791 Joanna Wood. They lived and died at Goshen, Orange County, New York.

6. JONATHAN OWEN, JR., born 1767 and died 1827. He married in 1794 Elizabeth Carpenter. Both were buried in Manning Cemetery at Greenville (or "Minisink"), Orange County. The writer believes that this Jonathan is the son of Jonathan No. 1.
